At 6 million unique monthly viewers, we were the biggest pro-white publication in the history of the history of the world. Now we're the most censored publication since the fall of the Soviet Union.

We've been shutdown from everything. Internet registrars — the extensions of ICANN, an international cabal that controls who can have a domain name on the internet — have decided that what we publish is too extreme. They claim we incite violence. This is not true, and in fact the only political website that I know of in current operation that has actually incited violence is that of the Southern Poverty Law Center. An actual real shooter chose his targets based off of their "hate watch" list. We just make fun of minorities on the Internet.

The Jews are shutting it all down. Any discussion of the truth. We are not violent. We had a disclaimer on every page denouncing violence. We banned anyone that even talked about violence in our comments sections (likely all federal agents). That didn't matter. We made a fat joke and they said we were inciting violence. They did this because we made fun of the Jews. To find out who rules you, find out who you cannot criticize.

Now we are on a Tor hidden service, which you can visit at dstormer6em3i4km.onion if you install the Tor Browser. We also have this — a weekly release of all our articles, which can be printed and manually distributed. It's less pretty than the website, but a lot of people aren't going to figure out Tor immediately. This will have to make do for many. So print it out for distribution to normies (you can even do this as a commercial enterprise and make money!) or just pass it around on USB sticks. Or give your friends links to filesharing sites. Or put it out on Bittorrent. Soviet dissidents had a process called samizdat, where they would copy banned literature by hand and give it to their friends and loved ones.

This is a new age of samizdat, in which censorship will force us to spread the truths the establishment wants silenced from person to person.

1.1 Leftist Cuck Takes Gas Canister to the Ovaries, Blames Trump

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

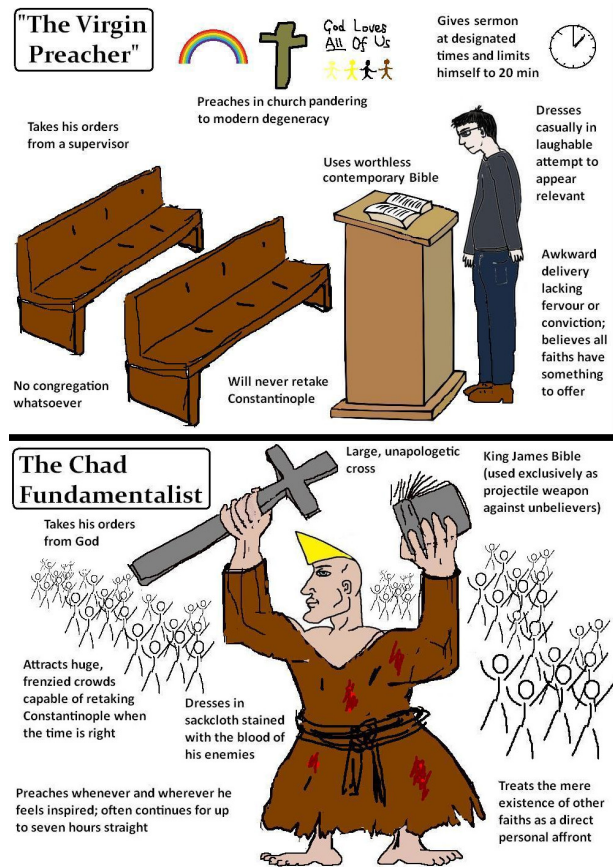

Trump gave a really milquetoast speech in Phoenix. He was all about love and kumbaya and all that crap.

But outside the rally was a different story. The legions of POZ were massing up and the cops finally found the balls to take a nut shot at a pre-op numale Lefty frolicking in the streets.

What a shot! #PhoenixRally pic.twitter.com/BfN7qe2Jo

— Zack (@ZacktotheFuture) August 23, 2017

Btw, this Zack guy is a total faggot. Fat, bearded, dog instead of a family. So don't take this as an endorsement of him. In general, a quick PSA for you, dear reader: Don't be a "fanboy" of anything. At the very least be a "fanman" or better yet just a "fanatic."

In general, I like the police tactics on display here. For once I am in agreement with the coppers. Those who act like pussies deserve a nut tap from time to time to remind them that they are men, and men don't vote Liberal or Leftist.

Those without functioning testes ought to be shot in the nuts until testosterone production spikes and their behavior improves. Besides, the cop probably did him a favor by blowing his cuck cock cage clean off.

This little incident has a lot of meme potential using the Virgin/Chad format above.

The Virgin protester: kicks gas cannister at cops and scampers away like a prissy faggot

The Chad cop: shoots canister at virgin's tiny sack

I keep saying it, but its only when our side takes to the streets in RWDS, that will you see shit get real. This is kiddie hour. These spoiled numale leftists are just throwing a tantrum and they deserve all the beatdowns that they get.

Of course, the lying media is calling this an "outbreak of violence at a Trump rally" and implying that MAGA types are the ones destroying the city. Utter bullshit. The Left throws tantrums, the Right wrecks shit (once its patience has reached its limits).

Meanwhile, no offspring for the protester. Which is a good thing. What a faggot. Showing up in board shorts, a T-shirt and a gas mask. Amateur hour.

Fuck Maidan tho

I guarantee you that this guy's friends are going to start crowdfunding him a new nut on Patreon soon. They should just fund a sex change operation and cut out the middle step. Fund him a new vagina instead.

1.2 Matthew “Pedo-Provider” Prince and the Plan to Put a Jew Council in Charge of Internet Speech

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

Cloudflare CEO Matthew Prince visits his friends at the totally morally-defensible “Young City” pedophile site he protects from DDoS attacks.

When Namecheap pulled our site and then issued a partial apology, I think they meant it. That is to say, they were genuinely sorry for all the money they are going to lose for being known as a company that believes it has the moral authority to kick people off of the internet for politically incorrect humor and extreme opinions.

What the pedo-provider Matthew Prince, CEO of Cloudflare is doing is something altogether different.

What he did was smart. Or rather, clever.

He first wrote a memo saying he banned Daily Stormer arbitrarily because he was in a bad mood and he thinks we're assholes. Then he leaked that to Gizmodo (I assume he did, or at the very least knew someone else would).

Team:

Earlier today Cloudflare terminated the account of the Daily Stormer. We've stopped proxying their traffic and stopped answering DNS requests for their sites. We've taken measures to ensure that they cannot sign up for Cloudflare's services again.

This was my decision. Our terms of service reserve the right for us to terminate users of our network at our sole discretion. My rationale for making this decision was simple: the people behind the Daily Stormer are assholes and I'd had enough.

Let me be clear: this was an arbitrary decision. It was different than what I'd talked with our senior team about yesterday. I woke up this morning in a bad mood and decided to kick them off the Internet. I called our legal team and told them what we were going to do. I called our Trust & Safety team and had them stop the service. It was a decision I could make because I'm the CEO of a major Internet infrastructure company.

Having made that decision we now need to talk about why it is so dangerous. I'll be posting something on our blog later today. Literally, I woke up in a bad mood and decided someone shouldn't be allowed on the Internet. No one should have that power.

[Cloudflare employee's name redacted] asked after I told him what we were going to do: "Is this the day the Internet dies?" He was half joking, but I actually think it's an important question. It's important that what we did today not set a precedent. The right answer is for us to be consistently content neutral. But we need to have a conversation about who and how the content online is controlled. We couldn't have that conversation while the Daily Stormer site was using us. Now, hopefully, we can.

I'll be publishing a blog post with all our thoughts on this issue in a few hours. Until then, I'd ask that you not talk about this externally.

Co-founder & CEO

Then he gave a weird statement on his blog about how he shut us down because we said he was a Nazi. He gave no source on that. It's a nonsensical "reason" even if it's true (it's possible it could have been written somewhere as a joke in the history of this site, but I certainly don't remember it and it is definitely the kind of claim that needs to be sourced).

Now, he is doing a media tour, where he starts out by saying "maybe I was wrong... I have too much power." It's meant to put you off. This "oh I am but a humble man" bit. If he was really genuinely concerned about free speech, he wouldn't have banned me in the first place. And if he was genuinely regretting it, he would simply admit he made a mistake and offer to allow me back on his services.

But no. After greasing you up with the "humble man" shtick, he begins talking about how maybe the government needs to regulate speech on the internet. But then, in every interview I've read (5-6 of them) he pivots into – "oh or maybe some kind of body of people who are not the government, but where there are representatives from both the SPLC and the EFF, and it is decided what people are allowed to say and what they are not allowed to say."

Literally.

A Jewish council in charge of regulating speech on the internet.

Geek Wire:

I am not sure whether what we did with respect to The Daily Stormer was the right decision but I am extremely happy that we're at least having a conversation about it now. Whatever policy we end up with after this is all done, hopefully it has more legitimacy because it wasn't decided, you know in a room in CloudFlare's office by a handful of our executives. It was decided in consultation with our customers, internet content creators, internet consumers, civil society organizations ranging from the EFF and the ACLU on one side to the Southern Poverty Law Center on the other. Just the mere act of having that conversation makes the policy more transparent and if it is more transparent it has more legitimacy.

Along with an endless stream of interviews with anyone who calls him, he wrote an article about this yesterday for the Wall Street Journal.

In it, he claims that I am the single exception – implying that he is going to keep protecting pedophiles. Because he's totally neutral – except for politically incorrect fat jokes by evil Nazi racist White Supremacist skin-color-haters.

Before terminating the Daily Stormer, Cloudflare's policy had been to stay neutral to the content that used our network.

We'd comply with the law in the jurisdictions where we operate, but we wouldn't bow to political or public pressure to boot anyone off our network. And make no mistake, there is pressure: Hackers actually tweeted to us asking that we get out of the way so they could take down the Daily Stormer.

When standing up to government requests or angry Twitter demands to silence unpopular speech, it was powerful to be able to say we'd never terminated a customer due to political pressure. I'm not sure we can say that anymore.

I'd like to fall back on the First Amendment. I'm the son of a journalist. I grew up with discussions around the dinner table on the importance of freedom of speech. But the First Amendment doesn't compel private companies to let anyone broadcast on their platforms. Moreover, Cloudflare operates infrastructure in 70 countries, few of which have anything approaching American-style speech protections.

Yet in all nations, there is (or should be) a reasonable expectation of due process. It is the idea that no one is penalized without first receiving a fair hearing and a fair shake. In civilized societies, the law is applied equally by independent decision makers, not capriciously by mobs and tyrants.

Did we meet the standard of due process in this case? I worry we didn't. And at some level I'm not sure we ever could. It doesn't sit right to have a private company, invisible but ubiquitous, making editorial decisions about what can and cannot be online. The pre-internet analogy would be if Ma Bell listened in on phone calls and could terminate your line if it didn't like what you were talking about.

Cloudflare is an expert at stopping cyberattacks, but we do not have the expertise to pass judgment on which of our 20 trillion monthly internet requests is racist, reprehensible or offensive. Even if we could solve the technical challenge of filtering them out, hidden behind the scenes is a problem of political legitimacy.

We're going to have a long debate at Cloudflare to think these issues over. But terminating the Daily Stormer is likely to be the exception that proves the importance of content neutrality. My moral compass alone should not determine who gets to stay online.

This is the most hypocritical tripe I have ever bore witness to.

But here's the thing, "Pedo-Provider": The government already has a system to regulate speech. It's called the United States Constitution.

Cloudflare very easily could have held the position that he will protect any speech protected by the First Amendment, and won't budge on that. Now Prince has gotten himself into a situation where he is banning "Nazis" while protecting pedophiles.

But he says it's not his job, he shouldn't have to deal with the mob.

Well, okay.

Fine.

The government should regulate him then. DDoS protection is now critical infrastructure. All critical infrastructure should be protected by the government. Steve Bannon said this before the shutting happened, presumably because he was aware that it was already planned, by the SPLC, the ADL and the heads of tech companies (who also have a massive interest in squelching dissent). It was planned to find some OUTRAGEOUS soundbyte from the Daily Stormer, drum up a mob, demand I be shut down, set a precedent.

And you see, Prince of Pedos is a part of this plan.

He dropped us in the way he did – then did this whole “oh but I shouldn't have this power” bit – in order to push the conversation toward this idea of some type of extra-governmental council to regulate speech on the internet. Because speech on the internet, apparently, is different than speech on the street, speech in print, speech anywhere else and it needs to be censored by an organization going beyond what applies to all other forms of speech.

Because after all, it's all privately owned, goyim. If you wanted to have free speech on the internet, then you should have been a tech investor in the early 90s, so that you could now be a billionaire controlling one of the most powerful companies in the world.

1.2.1 The Good News

It didn't work this time.

People are reacting extremely negatively to this, and if they keep pushing forward and continue pressuring companies to put me offline, there is going to be a revolt. They thought that they could do it to me, the most hated man (most hated because I am accused of being a hater, ironically), right in the wake of that road rage and/or automotive self-defense incident. But now, after I've been offline a week, people are like, “wait, hold on a second – what just happened? Did you just erase someone from the internet for their political beliefs? How is this real?”

I think we're going to be back online, with our .com returned to us, relatively shortly.

Though I have criticized Alex Jones and Stefan Molyneux for not coming to my aid here – and I am utterly disgusted by this, frankly, because it isn't "to my aid" it is "to the aid of the concept of free speech on the internet itself" – many, many others have.

Tucker Carlson did two pieces on it. The comments on the WSJ op-ed are vicious.

People are raising hell, because everyone knows this doesn't stop at Daily Stormer. It goes to the rest of the far-right, then it goes to just normal Christians, and ultimately the internet is sanitized of everything to the right of hardcore Marxism.

However, this is all still coming.

Unless the government steps in and does what it should have done a long time ago and regulate Google and other fundamental infrastructure of the internet in the same way that it regulates every other public utility.

1.2.2 And Just to be Clear About Prince

It is technically possible that his goal with this whole circus show – and it was a circus show, "I woke up in a bad mood" is the stupidest bullshit I've heard yet – is to try and get government regulation, rather than an SPLC-run "watchdog" determining what is right and wrong think. However, if that were the case, I don't know why he ever even would have mentioned the idea of an SPLC body.

Maybe he's Machiavelli's The Prince? Kinda doubt it tho. Most likely he's just doing exactly what he's been told to do by Jews.

If he is doing this to try and save free speech by pushing for government oversight of the tech industry, then he's a real super-champ, because if he was smart enough to game all of that out, then he is smart enough to have gamed out the fact that I would bring up the pedophile thing.

We shall see.

But one of my signature campaigns is going to now be pushing for the government to regulate these tech companies as public utilities.

Muslim immigrants get community service for gang rape of twelve year old in Norway

12 Oct

A 12 year old girl from Namsos, Norway was gang raped twice by four Muslim immigrants aged 15 to 18. All four perpetrator confessed, and argued that the twelve year old victim consented. The victim was gang raped on an elementary school playground.

The thugs were convicted of aggravated rape, but prosecutor Kaja Strandjord only asked the court for community service for the perpetrators!

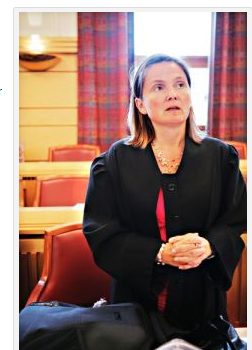

The four monsters were collectively ordered to pay a fine. Three of the perps were also given community service.

One of the perpetrators was also convicted of raping another thirteen year old victim. He was only ordered to pay a fine for that rape.

The lawyer for the victim argued that the perps will likely be repeat offenders.

Related: Over 300 children were raped by Muslim immigrants in Sweden in the first seven months of 2013.

Kaja Strandjord, the prosecutor, only asked for community service for the perpetrators.

There is no justice in Europe

All (((governments))) in Europe screech endlessly about freedom of speech being assaulted by fascists like me.

But who is censoring the speech? I have never seen or heard of a fascist doing it.

The Local:

An Austrian football fan has been given an 18-month prison sentence for a Hitler salute during a match, falling foul of the country's tough laws against Nazi glorification.

The unemployed 39-year-old from top-flight Rapid Vienna's "ultra" wing was spotted performing the banned gesture during a match in August 2016 and sentenced in Vienna on Monday.

The "Hitler salute" (it's actually the Roman salute, not that these idiots would know or care) is on the long list of normal things that get you arrested for in Europe if you're White.

Along with complaining about your daughter getting sex trafficked by Saracen.

Rotherham dads were arrested after tracking down abusers

NEWS: News.

Two fathers whose daughters were victims of child sex exploitation tracked down their abusers - only to be arrested by police themselves.

The dads had attempted to remove their daughters from houses where abuse was taking place, but they were the ones who were then arrested by police.

Prof Jay's inquiry said police often treated victims with 'contempt', frequently arresting them while taking no action against those committing offences.

Her report said: "In two of the cases, fathers tracked down their daughters and tried to remove them from houses where they were being abused, only to be arrested themselves when police were called to the scene."

"I didn't really give it much thought. But it clearly wasn't a good idea," the skinhead told the court, saying he had had "a few beers and spritzers" before the game.

This isn't something to think about too much. It's a natural, instinctive gesture when you're doing something that feels good, like cheering on your favorite team or gassing kikes.

Similar convictions are relatively common but usually the sentences are suspended. In this case, however, than man had a previous conviction for wishing Hitler happy birthday on Facebook in 2013.

He had a "previous conviction" for wishing Hitler happy birthday on Facebook... This is actually happening, and it's being done by people who call those like me "undemocratic."

For the Americans reading this – don't be too smug. It's coming there, and coming soon. They've already convinced a huge number of you that whatever the kikes call "hate speech" is not "free speech," and it will be law soon, trust me.

Unless you do something about it, of course.

1.4 Charlottesville Putting Burkas on Confederate Statues

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

According to the prophet (PBUH) statues are haram, after all.

We told you you had a choice: WHITE SHARIA or sandpeople sharia.

We weren't kidding.

And the authorities at Charlottesville have made that choice, now.

They chose sand sharia.

What will you choose?

Fox News:

Workers in Charlottesville, Va. shrouded statues of Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee and Gen. Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson in black on Wednesday as the city grappled with an outbreak of deadly violence at a white nationalist rally earlier this month.

We won't destroy your historical heritage, goyim. We'll just put a classy garbage bag around it. For now.

Workers used ropes, poles and cherry-pickers to hoist what appeared to be a black tarpaulin over both statues as onlookers took photos and video. Some in the crowd surrounding the Lee statue cheered as the cover was put in place.

Hmm, I wonder what kind of human material would cheer at Western historical symbols being symbolically put into the trash?

I bet it was the straight White males again.

"It's great. It's a good start," said Jamie Dyer, who spoke from Justice Park, where the Jackson statue is located. "They do have to go, but it is a start, and I'm glad the city has finally recognized it has to happen on some level."

The statues "have to go," presumably because it's 2017 or whatever. The passage of time is, after all, the liberal's first and foremost argument for why we should follow their vicious agenda, in spite of whatever costs might be associated with that.

Later Wednesday, local media reported that a man with a gun strapped to his leg approached the Lee statue and began cutting the tarp with a knife.

Police asked him to stop, and he complied. He addressed reporters and bystanders, saying he thought it was illegal under state law to cover a war memorial and that doing so amounted to erasing history.

The police stopped this man from unveiling an ancient historical monument. But they didn't do anything while rioters destroyed a monument to confederate soldiers.

They needed "space to destroy," after all.

Charlottesville is entirely run under the Jewish principle of destroying White civilization. As such, anything which hurts White people will be tolerated or even encouraged, while all resistance will be stamped down ruthlessly.

This is what happens when you have a Jewish mayor and Black vice-mayor.

1.5 I Was Just Banned From ProtonMail

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

ProtonMail just banned me from their email service claiming I committed abuse or fraud.

Cross ProtonMail off the list of companies to do business with.

I signed up for an email account with them when the shutdown began. I needed a mechanism for people to contact me. A few folks suggested ProtonMail so I figured I'd give it a shot.

Fast forward a few days later and I find myself locked out of the account stating that it has been disabled due to abuse or fraud. How can one make such a determination in just a few days worth of time? They obviously banned me because a bunch of hate filled people complained to them.

As many folks already know, I like posting cute kitten photos and funny jokes on the Internet. Even though I get much enjoyment from those things, I get the most enjoyment out of providing financial support to the starving Jewish children in Israel. It is something that I am very passionate about. By banning me from their email service, it means I will have a more difficult time supporting those poor Jewish children. This upsets me greatly as I will no longer be able to email all the Christian donors I had lined up who wanted to support this very worthy cause.

By banning me from their email service, ProtonMail has proven that their hearts are filled with hatred towards Jewish children. They sure have lots of explaining to do! What should I tell those poor Jewish kids who go to bed hungry each and every day?

Curiously enough, they posted this tweet around the same time my account got banned. No idea if this means anything or not but I have never called for violence against anybody. I completely oppose such things.

Reminder: Inciting violence is illegal in Switzerland and against ProtonMail terms of service, and can lead to account suspension. <https://t.co/cagBy5jSDc>

— ProtonMail (@ProtonMail) August 22, 2017

Besides Andrew Anglin, I think I've been banned from more Internet services than anybody in history. The only thing these tech companies haven't done to me yet is refuse service on my registered domain names. I'm sure that's the next step though!

1.6 Punished Stormer: Denied a Domain by Jews and Pedophile-Enablers

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
 August 24, 2017

"Every night, I can feel The Jews... and the blacks... even the gooks. The domains I've lost... the comrades they've IP banned from Twitter... won't stop hurting... It's like they're all still there. You feel it, too, don't you? I'm gonna make (((them))) give back our past." -Andrew 'Kaz' Anglin

We are live on the real internet.

For the time being.

I don't know how long this will last, but we'll see. The company that is registering our domain could be the hero the internet has been waiting for.

But first – get on Gab. Follow the Stormer account there. If this goes down, we will keep you in the loop there and ensure you've got access to all the latest articles.

We have been spreading them as Samizdat in the form of screenshots.

sam·iz·dat

noun: samizdat

1.6.1 Just So You Understand

I am not going to stop. I am going to be on the internet, every single day, with or without a domain.

They are going to have to kill me.

Yes, there will be fewer readers if we are on the darknet, but that will change. Because understand this: if I am allowed to go offline, everyone else who disagrees even a little bit is going offline.

They are going full-on now with banning individuals from the internet. I am apparently hated the most. Like Goldstein from 1984. The man who stood against the system.

But once it is settled – and if I keep losing domains like this, it will be settled – and it is decided that I am not allowed on the internet, then comes the next guy, then the next, then it's normie Republicans who aren't allowed online.

What they are claiming is that the internet is 100% controlled by private companies, meaning I have no rights. Well, this is no different than shutting off my heat in the winter, so I have to freeze to death. Or telling me because of my beliefs, I'm not allowed in the grocery store, so I have to starve to death.

The internet is a public utility and it needs to be regulated like one. By the US government.

This website is 100% legal and protected speech, and no one is saying otherwise.

In fact, that homosexual lawyer on Tucker Carlson on Tuesday said that because the government refuses to make politically incorrect speech illegal, it is the duty for billionaires in Silicon Valley to become the arbiters of morality.

Assange noted that the media is all going along with this new idea of corporations becoming the judges of right and wrong.

New York Times & Vox both run stories on how mega-corps are the New Moral Voice of America <https://t.co/leyk22vFhC><https://t.co/z0FM0me6va> pic.twitter.com/spZLedYtNH

— Julian Assange August 22, 2017

Does this make sense to anyone at all?

That we should be denied due process and kicked off of everything by multi-national corporations who arbitrate right and wrong?

Right now, people are getting kicked off of Uber and Airbnb for their beliefs. That is denying you transportation and shelter because you dare to disagree with the ruling establishment.

Christopher Cantwell even got kicked off of OKCupid. Being denied access to skanks because of his beliefs.

This is all happening rapidly.

The reason it is happening is that the powers that be have lost the war of ideas. They no longer have any arguments against the right. So the only possible solution is to shut everything down, to silence us, then deny us shelter, food and sex, so that we eventually all die.

And you are left with only a system of multinational corporations enforcing a new system of morality on you. An ultimate system of morality, more extreme than any which has ever existed, where no one is allowed to disagree with anything, period, or they just have to die.

1.6.2 Protecting Pedophiles While Punishing Satirists

The easiest way to understand what is going on here is to understand that while I have been banned from the internet, had my domain stolen, forced onto the Darknet, the same companies that are doing this are protecting pedophiles.

I was banned by both GoDaddy and eNom, both of which register domains for pedophiles. Cloudflare banned me, and they provide their services to pedophiles.

Tor has even discussed trying to ban me from the Darknet – and Tor provides a place for actual child-rape photos and videos.

Here are the articles I have written about this, in chronological order:

- List of Pedophile Sites Hosted by Companies That Banned Daily Stormer (Abridged)
- GoDaddy Refuses to Give Pedophiles the Same Treatment as Daily Stormer
- Cloudflare Explicitly Condoning “Young City” Pedophile Chat and Other Pedophile Havens
- Tor Kiddie Porn Lovers Demand Shutdown of Daily Stormer on Pedoweb
- Matthew “Pedo- Provider” Prince and the Plan to Put a Jew Council in Charge of Internet Speech

These people – the CEOs of GoDaddy, eNom and Cloudflare have all declared themselves the international morality police.

They have exercised force to ban me from the internet, while actively endorsing child rapists by providing services to them.

Read those articles and share them everywhere, as this puts this all into perspective in the easiest possible way for a normal person.

These corporations, who have without the authority of any government or group made themselves the deciders or what is good and what is evil have decided that politically incorrect thought is worse than child-rape.

1.6.3 For the New People Here

No doubt there will be a lot of gawkers coming through to see what is going on.

I am going to write a special article for all of you.

But briefly, understand this: yes, I do have politically incorrect beliefs. In particular, I believe that whites, just like Africans, Arabs and Asians, deserve to have their own countries, that they deserve self-determination, and that they should be able to decide whether they are flooded with people from other countries and forced to give up their history, their culture, their identity and their very existence.

However, while actually believing that, a lot of what I post here is humorous and satirical. While this is meant to be fun, it is also meant to push the boundaries of freedom of speech, in order to protect that sacred idea.

I am not actually a “Neo-Nazi White Supremacist.” I don’t even know what that is. The media, while using this term nonstop, has refused to provide any definition of what it actually means. And while I am allegedly the most popular “Neo-Nazi White Supremacist” in all of history – and I am certainly the most punished – I do not personally know what it means.

If the definition of this term is “anyone like Andrew Anglin,” then I must say – they are some pretty normal, nice guys.

Because you notice, even while I have been the focus of a global media storm, no one has talked to me. The people who have talked to me have cherry-picked quotes in order to fit their own narrative. Several people have asked to interview me on video, and I have refused to do it unless it is broadcast live, and none agreed to that. Because if it’s broadcast live, then I am actually able to say what I believe instead of having it garbled up and rearranged to fit the narrative they are trying to believe.

1.6.4 This is What I Believe

The easiest way to explain what I believe is to say simply this:

I believe exactly what any four of my great-grandpas believed, pretty much down to the letter.

That is all.

That is the summation of it.

But hey, if you put it like that, it’s not so sexy huh?

Not so bizarre.

Not so diabolically evil.

Certainly not worse than child-rape, as these corporations who have made themselves the judge, jury and executors of what free speech, would have you believe.

And I am going to keep fighting for what I believe until I’m dead.

And even then, I will climb up out of my grave and keep on shitposting.

So if you hear word of my death, wait until after the funeral and check zombiestormer.com.

1.6.5 Going Forward

I am going to be on the real internet, by hook or by crook.

At least until the US government passes laws making my beliefs illegal, in which case yeah, I’m gonna have to go underground.

Right now I’m on a domain registrar that has free speech written into its ToS.

Dreamhost:

What's that feature? It's Freedom of Speech!

"I've got a great idea for a website, but the content is a little... sketchy...are you guys ok with hosting it?"

We hear that a lot. SO much. But our answer is always the same:

There is no larger supporter of the United States' Constitution and its First Amendment than DreamHost. As long as your content is legal in the state of California (our headquarters!) we'd be happy to host you!

That goes for all content – from freaky fetishes to harmless cat photos, from hate speech that makes your skin crawl to beautiful and inspiring words of peace, we're really just a digital bucket for humanity.

As a content-neutral service provider, we get to witness the democratizing power of the internet first-hand on a daily basis!

It's never boring, that's for sure.

Just as we believe that all people and content should be treated equally online, so too should internet traffic! That's why we're also such big supporters of net neutrality! We've made some great progress here in the US on that front, but the battle in Europe is only just beginning.

That's why this month we've signed on to support the latest effort to help regulators across the EU understand the importance of net neutrality.

You can do the same at:

savenetneutrality.eu

This is of course the policy that all tech companies should have, as it puts them in a position where they don't have to defend any content.

This is the position that Cloudflare did have, but now that they've banned me, they are explicitly endorsing the pedophiles that use their services. Same with GoDaddy and eNom.

Dreamhost also has pedophiles registered, but look – unless they ban me, they're not endorsing them. They are just saying "we won't ban anything without a court order, period." And that is the right position, and that means that they are not endorsing pedophiles in the way that the other companies are. They are just saying: "it is the governments job to arbitrate this."

I believe that the government should be arbitrating this pedophile content now that I know it exists. But it is the job of the GOVERNMENT which has a system of DUE PROCESS – not of private companies who have made themselves unilateral deciders of what is morally right.

NOTE: I got really burned out looking-up pedophile advocacy sites and their hosts. It's dirty work. The sites are all private-login anyway, but just thinking about it, reading their descriptions, it is really emotionally draining. So if someone else wants to go through and find more pedophile advocacy material and take screenshots of the whois and send it to me, that would be great. I know there is a lot more of it being supported by companies that banned me, and I think we should have more comprehensive lists, just to make it clear how adamant these companies are about defending child rapists.

Remember that Namecheap also had a free speech policy, and they cracked. But they also literally issued an apology after banning me.

The apology was not accepted.

If Dreamhost cracks – and I do not believe they will, because they actually manually approved my account, knowing what it was – then basically, this is going to become ICANN's problem. If ICANN has not given authorization to a registrar that will hold my site, then effectively, I have been banned by ICANN. This "OH BUT IT'S PRIVATE COMPANIES AND PRIVATE COMPANIES HAVE A RIGHT TO DECIDE WHO THEY DO BUSINESS WITH" bullshit ends.

NOTE: With regards to this "PRIVATE COMPANIES HAVE A RIGHT TO DECIDE" business, I just want to point out that the people championing this are the same people who demanded Christian cake-bakers bake cakes for homosexual weddings. I'm just saying. They don't actually believe what they are arguing. The left no longer believes anything that it is arguing. Nothing is ever argued in good faith, period.

1.6.6 So Get on Gab, Learn to Use Tor

If Dreamhost holds, they will be heroes. Heroes on par with Bitmitigate, who came to our rescue after pedo-protector Matthew Prince of Cloudflare dumped us.

And if Dreamhost holds, I am going to demand that everyone switch to their services. Everyone will. I am going to hold it against anyone who does not. Because we have to have a company like this. They also have hosting, including VPS and cloud.

But we trusted other companies. And we were let down. So though I do have faith in Dreamhost to uphold the principles of the US Constitution, I have to be aware that they may not.

So get on Gab, so you can keep up to date with what is going on in the situation that we do go down. And install the Tor browser.

If we go down, we will be at this address on Tor:

<http://dstormer6em3i4km.onion>

And we will always be on there. There is no way for the Tor team to censor us.

1.6.7 They Fucked with the Wrong People

The goal was to set a precedent of unpersoning someone from the internet. That way, they could do it again. To anyone. At any time.

Well, they fucked with the wrong people.

They should have chosen someone else.

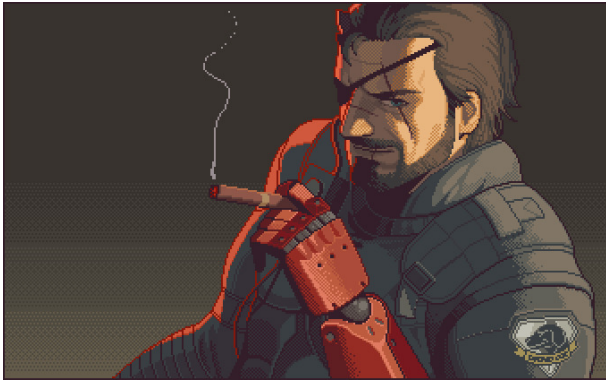

And next time, they probably will choose someone else.

But I'll tell you what: I will be there for them. 100%. Even if it is someone I don't like. Even if it is someone I absolutely hate.

The next time that these tech companies come for someone and try to ban them from the internet, I will rally around them, whoever they are.

Freedom of speech is more important than my ideas. It is more important than any idea. Because without freedom of speech, there are no ideas.

And that is the point.

Hail Victory.

1.7 Christopher Cantwell has Been Arrested and Faces 20 Years for Standing Up to Antifa Scum

Roy Batty

Daily Stormer

August 25, 2017

Christopher Cantwell, the host of Radical Agenda, has been arrested after he voluntarily turned himself in to the police. Cantwell was Charlottesville, doing his American duty and giving Antifa what they deserved. He literally did nothing wrong.

Antifa clearly started the fight both the night before and the next day. They maced, used chemicals, threw urine in bottles like chimpanzees and /ourguy/ defended themselves.

I am convinced that the reason he has been singled out for punishment is because of the Vice interview he did that got uploaded and went viral, making him the nation's number 1 Nazi.

He came off very badly in the interview, and although its not its fault that Vice arranged the clips to make him look bad, he should have known better. That's what the media does. That's why you don't talk to the media unless you're a pro or can control the environment [Srsly, AJ was right – only do it live. -AA]. My take on the situation is that the interviewer, Elle Reeves, fed him leading questions and because she suffers from Down Syndrome, Cantwell must have taken pity on her and given her soft-ball answers.

Elle Reeve's author photo for Vice News

The last guy who took pity on Elle's gross facial deformities and low mental faculties was her boyfriend, who she got to forge a fake story about fake war crimes that got him into big trouble.

Cantwell is now the second fuckin' White male that Elle has personally gotten put into prison with Fake News. Needless to say, Elle is an unhinged loon with subtle retard cleverness that is running loose in our society, wrecking lives and needs to be put in a loony bin, ASAP.

There she should be sterilized so that her fish-eyes are not passed along and her rare form of Elephantitis doesn't accidentally infect someone's child. Everyone knows children are especially prone to these diseases before they hit puberty, so it only makes sense to put Elle away before she claims yet another, younger victim.

But I digress.

The worst part of this story is that it seems Cantwell is struggling to find a lawyer to take his case.

And until he finds a lawyer, he can't have a bail hearing, so he has to sit in the slammer. A Jewish guard at the jail has already given him a striped uniform from Auschwitz that his grandfather was gassed 7 times in to rub it into Cantwell's face that 'Jews have replaced us.'

Christopher Cantwell in Court

Christopher Cantwell appeared before a judge this morning in the Albemarle County General District Court. Mr. Cantwell was denied bond and will remain in custody at the Albemarle-Charlottesville Regional Jail. Mr. Cantwell's next scheduled court appearance is on October 12th at 10:30 a.m. in the Albemarle County General District Court.

Knowing Cantwell, it seems clear that he can escape at any time and easily start a one man kike killing-spree if he so chooses. But it looks like he has decided to go through the jewdicial system and prove how anti-White it is, while also successfully defending himself. Hopefully we can get a counter-suit out of all this as well.

I look forward to seeing this trial unfold and watching Cantwell defend himself. Many memes will be made and a precedent will be set one way or another. If Cantwell gets sentenced, he will simply build an Aryan army within the prison and bust out to start the RAHOWA ahead of schedule. If he gets off, then he'll just go back to BTFO-ing Antifa and defending American values.

Godspeed, Christopher.

The goyim know, and they are behind you.

1.8 Court Jew Gary Cohn Attacks Own King for Charlottesville Response

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 25, 2017

It is now clear that our President is no longer in control of his own administration. Like, he has no control at all.

Even the Jews that are supposed to be working for him are at his throat over this supposed failure to denounce "Neo-Nazi White Supremacy."

Breitbart:

White House economic adviser Gary Cohn challenged Donald Trump's response to Charlottesville, insisting that the president had to do a better job condemning white supremacists.

"I believe this administration can and must do better in consistently and unequivocally condemning these groups and do everything we can to heal the deep divisions that exist in our communities," Cohn said in an interview with the Financial Times.

Cohn aligned his views with the establishment media, asserting that the violent Antifa counter-protesters were "standing up for equality and freedom" while the protesters defending Robert E. Lee's statue were all white supremacists, neo-Nazis and the KKK.

"Citizens standing up for equality and freedom can never be equated with white supremacists, neo-Nazis, and the KKK," he said.

"As a Jewish American, I will not allow neo-Nazis ranting 'Jews will not replace us' to cause this Jew to leave his job," he said.

Cohn "seriously considered resigning," according to the New York Times, in response to Trump's Charlottesville comments and drafted a letter of resignation. "Sources close to" Cohn floated quotes on background to the media noting that he was "disgusted and deeply upset" with the president.

And also...
Breitbart:

Gary Cohn drafted a letter of resignation in the tumultuous week after the violence in Charlottesville, Virginia, according to the New York Times.

Cohn, the White House's chief economic adviser, met with President Donald Trump in his New Jersey home last Friday, "scrapping his plans to spend the evening at his second home in the Hamptons," the New York Times reported. Financial markets were rife with rumors that Cohn would resign, a story the White House insisted was untrue.

But Cohn apparently did come close to resigning, going as far as to draft a letter of resignation. He was under pressure from Wall Street associates, friends, and even family members to leave Trump's White House following the president's remarks about Charlottesville. Establishment media have inaccurately described those remarks as a defense of white nationalist protesters.

It remains unclear precisely what Cohn was threatening to resign over and what he got in exchange for staying with the administration. Trump has said that Cohn is on his short-list of potential nominees for the Federal Reserve.

The Washington Post has a new article about this up, quoting "sources," but I'm not even going to bother to quote from it as I just assume everything in that paper is made up at this point.

The aggressive, Jewish nature of all of this is now on full-display.

No one can even deny it. The Jews themselves are not even denying it.

We, the American people, elected Trump to do what he said he was going to do and a gaggle of evil Jews have invaded and taken over OUR Presidency, redirected it into what?

All of the shit they want: white ethnic displacement, wars, banking swindles – all of it.

We go through these ups and downs but in the end Trump only has two options: Jews or no Jews.

These Jews are not allowing any form of "half-goyim" compromise.

If Trump wants to protect America, his only option is to declare martial law.

Immediately.

1.8.1 On a Nicer Note

Breitbart comments section is now pure 1488.

Diatom • 19 minutes ago
 Jews have called themselves God's chosen for thousands of years. La Raza is OK, BLM is OK, Sharia can not be criticized, Holocaust can not be questioned but White Trump supporters are racist. Sounds like typical Zionist misdirection to me.

And I wouldn't be surprised if Bannon himself is about to go full-1488.

I don't think he ever was that, and probably isn't that now – he had the same vision that so many have had of returning to a 1950s style situation where the country isn't 100% white but it is 90ish percent white and white is the dominant culture.

But though this is a very tempting idea, it just is not possible. Jews will not allow it.

We are now in an all or nothing situation.

And those are lines drawn by the Jews. Not by us.

1.9 France: Clown President Macron Racks Up $30k in Make-up Bills

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
 August 25, 2017

Well, you need to be pretty to be president, after all.

Poor French.

They didn't want to elect Marine le Pen because she was an evil Nazi or whatever, but all her opponents were corrupts kleptocrats ensnared in scandal.

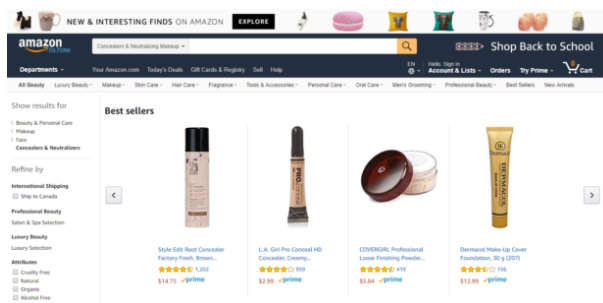

So they picked Macron, presumably as a joke.

Well, they're not laughing anymore. Or maybe they are? I know I am.

CNN:

Emmanuel Macron, who has been president of France for just over 100 days, has been ensnared in yet another controversy after the magazine Le Point reported that he has already racked up a makeup bill of €26,000 ($30,700).

Thirty thousand? How much does makeup even cost?

Is he taking baths in it?

His representatives said the spending was the result of an “emergency” situation, and that future makeup costs would drop significantly.

The makeup is obviously meant for his old granny of a wife, who is widely considered to be the oldest woman still alive.

That's the only way this figure could even make sense. After all, Macron is young and normal looking, and I doubt he needs any makeup. But his wife...

After all, how do you get from this:

To this:

The answer is: with $30,000 in makeup.

The “emergency situation” in question, which they're using to justify the absurd spending, is simply that they have to trot out Macron's wife in the early days of the administration to help pretend that he's not some weird pervert.

That's the only explanation that makes any sense of this.

The episode, however, underscores the risks facing Macron, a newcomer to elected office who built a political movement around the promise of remaking France's economy. A summer of scandals has caused his popularity to tank and jeopardized his reform agenda.

The first major warning signs came in July, when Macron sparred with Prime Minister Édouard Philippe over whether to proceed with tax cuts in the face of a larger-than-expected budget deficit. Macron prevailed, but not without making cuts to public spending.

Macron built a political movement on the fact that he's not Le Pen, and nothing else.

Now he's building his legacy on the fact that he's a goofy fool who's good at making the nightly news entertaining for the whole family.

I mean, a makeup scandal? Who ever heard of that?

I guess it's as good a way as any to distract people from the fact that their nation is being turned into an Islamic republic by vicious invaders.

1.10 Left-Wing Degenerates Plan to Shit All Over Rally Ground Where Patriot Rally Planned

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
August 25, 2017

There is a planned basic bitch conservative rally planned for San Francisco this Saturday. The Leftists have come up with an excellent strategy to sabotage it, worth of Saul Alinsky himself.

The Guardian

When a group of far-right activists come to San Francisco to hold a rally this Saturday, they will be met by peace activists offering them flowers to wear in their hair.

Also, dog shit. Lots and lots of dog shit.

Hundreds of San Franciscans plan to prepare Crissy Field, the picturesque beach in the shadow of the Golden Gate Bridge where rightwing protest group Patriot Prayer will gather, with a generous carpeting of excrement.

"I just had this image of alt-right people stomping around in the poop," Tuffy Tuffington said of the epiphany he had while walking Bob and Chuck, his two Patterdale terriers, and trying to think of the best way to respond to rightwing extremists in the wake of Charlottesville. "It seemed like a little bit of civil disobedience where we didn't have to engage with them face to face."

Tuffington, a 45-year-old artist and designer, created a Facebook event page based on the concept, and the dog owners of San Francisco responded in droves. Many have declared their intention to stockpile their shitpiles for days in advance, then deliver them in bags for the site. (The group is also planning to reconvene on Sunday to "clean up the mess and hug each other".)

The Left's plan is literally this: 'let's cover our city in literal shit so we don't have to face opposing ideas.'

And I wouldn't call this the Alt-Left. This is just the Left as it exists now. Tuffington isn't an Antifa member, he's just your average San Franciscan.

As every good Stormer knows, Jews are obsessed with feces and Liberals have the mental capacity of orangutans so I suspect that a Jew proposed the idea behind the scenes and the Leftist monkeys jumped at the opportunity for some scat play.

Now, San Francisco is already covered in shit and piss because the Leftist city government lets minorities, homeless, druggies and homosexual degenerates run amok in the streets. The whole city smells like a urinal and rumors are that the city will soon create designated shitting streets to encourage people to foul up the city even more. This is what happens when you let Liberals run your city. They invite the Third World and turn the place into the Turd World.

There is no level too low for these people. They will do things that no normal person will. The entire city of San Francisco needs to be put on quarantine, re-educated in work camps and then they need to be nuked anyway just for safe measure. Soon the majority of Americans will agree with my sentiment as well.

1.11 Remembering George Lincoln Rockwell on the 50th Anniversary of His Assassination

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 25, 2017

On August 25th, 1967, George Lincoln Rockwell was assassinated in the parking lot of a strip mall.

Today, a small group gathered there to remember him.

I would have been there if I could have.

George Lincoln Rockwell was a bigger influence on me than anyone. Even bigger than Hitler, if I am honest.

For it was George Lincoln Rockwell who taught me my technique. Him and 4chan.

As I wrote recently on my personal non-political blog, I am not actually a "Neo-Nazi White Supremacist," nor do I even know what that is. I am also not "driven by hatred." I am simply a normal person, who believes that the white race and white western civilization is something worth saving, and believes that this task is impossible as long as we have Jews in our countries.

However, people have been trying to explain that sort of thing in simple, frank terms for a very long time since the death of Rockwell, and it has never amounted to anything. Because the media simply ignores it. It is also boring. No one cares about black crime statistics or non-white IQ numbers. These are not the things from which a revolution is made.

Rockwell was an ad man before he was a Nazi. And he used extremely efficient marketing techniques to get his ideas heard. He created a spectacle. He made himself into a super-villain. He wore a Nazi uniform and drove a Hate Bus.

And the media paid attention to him.

This is what I saw as necessary to do on the internet in order to get my ideas heard and to get people excited about white revolution.

And it has worked. It has worked brilliantly.

We are now one of the biggest news stories in the world.

We have formed a political force which is not going away.

Rockwell's books are all excellent, and I recommend them. In particular, "This Time the World" and "White Power." When you understand that these were written in the 1960s, they read like prophecy.

He said that the Negroes were being used by the Jews as a battering ram against White America.

Of course now, they are being used as a nuclear ICBM against White America – but the point still stands.

Rockwell was such a genius, so charismatic, and his plan so bulletproof, that the Jews had no choice but to kill him.

If he had lived, he might have saved this country. He was in the process of dropping the "Nazi" bit and moving into serious politics when he was killed. He would almost certainly have become governor of Virginia, and he may well have become President.

But he didn't.

He died.

And now we are where we are, and we need to carry that same spirit that he had to victory.

Right now is the time.

The Black Sun has signaled it.

This will be an age of blood and fire, and from the ashes, a new order shall rise.

Rockwell was ready to die for his people. And he did die for his people.

You all need to be ready to die for your people. Because the way it is looking now, many of us will.

The Jew is utterly out of control. He is on a bloody rampage.

We didn't start this war. We were born into this war. But we have no choice but to fight it.

And to finish it.

Rest in peace, George Lincoln Rockwell.

Some day we're going to tear down that statue of Martin Luther Coon in Washington, DC, and put one of you in its place.

I swear it.

1.12 Savage Black High School Sportsball Coach Tortures White Girls

Joe Jones

Daily Stormer

August 25, 2017

This is what happens when you allow black into an authority position over young White girls.

Sadism.

LA Times:

Videos showing multiple high school cheerleaders crying out in pain while being held in the splits position have led to an investigation by Denver Police and the placement of five public school employees on administrative leave.

According to KUSA-TV, which broke the story early Thursday, East High administrators have had access to at least one such video since June and have received complaints from some of the girls' parents for months. But Denver Public Schools Superintendent Tom Boasberg said in a statement Thursday that he just learned about the issue that day and that the school system would be conducting its own investigation into the matter.

East cheerleader Ally Wakefield is seen in one video apparently being physically forced to do the splits, despite crying out nine times in less than 24 seconds for those holding her to "please, stop."

Denver Police are investigating incidents involving multiple cheerleaders and their coach at East High School.

Wakefield told KUSA that Williams "was pushing down on the back of my right leg" and "pushing with his other knee on my back to try to keep my posture straight."

"It was tearing my ligament and my muscle at the same time," she said.

Her mother, Kristen Wakefield, said: "This is a grown man pushing my 13-year-old girl so hard against her will while she's crying and screaming for him to stop that he's ripping tissues in her body."

In its report, KUSA said it received eight total videos of East cheerleaders and their "similar screams of pain."

Eric Wakefield, Ally's father, told the New York Post he hasn't been able to sleep since seeing the videos.

Former cheerleader Anna Nickolay wasn't in any of those videos but told KUSA that she and other teammates had been treated the same way. She showed her mother one such video of a teammate to her mother.

"That made me sick to my stomach," Cheri Nickolay told KUSA. "I don't know how you could justify that."

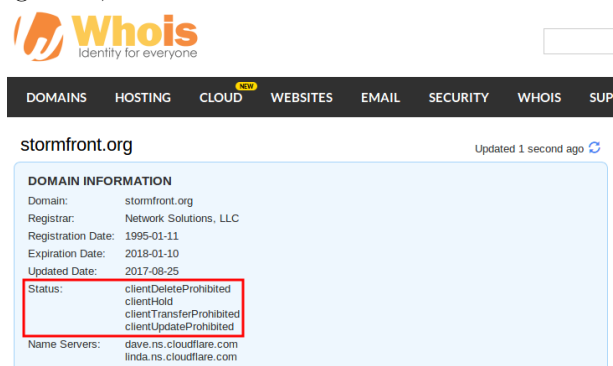

It's like they really do hate us because of the color of our skin.

1.13 Stormfront Latest to Have Their Domain Stolen

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 25, 2017

Stormfront.org is the latest pro-white site to have their domain grabbed.

They are put in the same "clientHold" purgatory that Dailystormer.com is presently being held in by Google.

I believe that they are the second site to have this happen to them. I don't believe that it ever happened to TheRebel.Media. I believe he made that up. He was on eNom, and he just said "they're shutting me down" and then moved his domain. He was trying to attach himself onto our public situation and gain media attention for his collapsing company, period. It was a hoax. If I were eNom, I would sue for libel.

Stormfront did not make an offensive fat joke about a dead fat woman killed in a road rage incident. They just got shut down because they are white people and white people are no longer allowed free speech.

We all knew this was coming.

Somewhat hilariously – in a gallows humor sort of way – the domain was registered with Network Solutions, which charges a shitton of money on the promise you'll be protected.

This is as funny as two free speech registrars – Namecheap and Dreamhost – kiking me out of my domains.

We have entered a new era of censorship, where the same people who forced Christians to bake cakes for anal marriages are saying "OH BUT THESE TRILLION DOLLAR MULTINATIONAL COMPANIES THAT CONTROL THE ENTIRE INTERNET ARE

PRIVATELY OWNED SO THEY CAN DO WHAT-EVER THEY WANT TO YOU AND YOU HAVE NO RECOURSE.”

Basically at this point, I want to see as many sites shut down as possible.

It’s about time for a trollstorm.

We need to get these companies to start following their own rules, and start shutting down all offensive content, as that is what is going to force government regulation the quickest. ICANN must be repossessed by the US Department of Commerce, and the issuance of domains must be done the same way as the issuance of phone numbers, trademarks, driver’s licenses, building permits, etc., etc., etc., etc.

Alternately, ICANN could simply be bypassed and the government could just create its own system for issuing domains.

We need to start creating lists of terrorism and pedophile sites being hosted by these companies and demanding their shutdown. With the pedophile sites, I believe we can work with child protection groups.

We should also try to have normie conservative sites shut down. Excluding the National Review (strangely), none of these people defended me, so I give zero fucks.

Let me spend a few hours gaming this out in my brain.

The goal here is to force as many shutdowns as possible, and it doesn’t really matter who. Pedophiles and terrorists are the easiest targets. Someone find that list of ISIS sites that Anonymous submitted to Cloudflare.

Even if these companies hold out, we need to make noise that they are hosting or protecting terrorists and pedophiles.

1.14 This Again? Alt-Right Now “Krem- lin Propaganda” According to Jews

Adrian Sol

Daily Stormer

August 25, 2017

Glorious Soviet motherland will triumph over capitalist pigs!

America is awash with subversive elements trying to brainwash people into believing absurd lies, such as that the USSR collapsed decades ago or that the cold war is long over.

Don’t be deceived.

The Russian empire of evil is well alive today, and doing everything in its power to destroy America, one tweet at a time.

Don’t believe me?

Just look at your social media feed. It’s full of anti-American ideas, such as that White people have a right to exist or that maybe homos shouldn’t get married.

What more evidence could you possibly need?

USA Today:

Amid an investigation into Russian meddling in the last U.S. presidential election, a Russian propaganda Twitter network aimed at American audiences consistently spreads links to Breitbart and other right-wing or conspiracy theory websites that boost President Trump and bash Democrats.

The only way to protect your brain from those thought-control tweets? Tinfoil hats. Don’t forget about your cat!

The websites — which include True Pundit, the Gateway Pundit and Imperialist U — are regular features on the list of “Top Domains” pushed by a network of 600 Twitter accounts followed by the German Marshall Fund of the United States , which tracks a Russian disinformation and propaganda campaign focused on U.S. voters.

On Thursday, the most popular domains mentioned by the network in the previous 48 hours, according to the tracker, included True Pundit, the Russian government-controlled television network RT, the Gateway Pundit, Fox News, Russian government news agency Sputnik News and Breitbart.

The network’s main role is to amplify messages deemed to benefit the Kremlin, but that doesn’t mean the websites’ authors share the same goals, said Laura Rosenberger, director of the Alliance for Securing Democracy, which created the monitoring project for the fund.

The “Alliance for Securing Democracy?” What the hell is that?

Looks like a bunch of stand-up guys, right?
So it's just some nut-job Jew Neocon think tank.

“Just being shared by Kremlin information operations does not mean they are part of the Kremlin’s disinformation operations,” Rosenberg said. “It just means something on these sites, or a lot of things on these sites, is either advancing a message the Kremlin is trying to push or that it is trying to discredit.”

Oh, so just because our sites are shared by so called “Kremlin twitter accounts” doesn’t necessarily mean we’re Russian agents? Thanks, Jews. How generous of you!

I have a sneaking suspicion that they completely made up this “Kremlin twitter conspiracy” being babbled about here, as Jews are wont to do. I mean, how nutty is that?

“This evil country who hates us is conspiring to promote websites supportive of our own elected leader on Twitter” sounds like the dumbest conspiracy theory I’ve ever heard. If you’re trying to destroy a country, don’t you normally support the opposition forces, rather than the current elected government?

“Alright gentlemen. The plan is to destroy our enemy, by promoting him on Twitter. All agreed?”

Of course, what they fail to say is that in their minds, the Jews are the legitimate government of America, while Trump (or at least, his agenda) is the opposition force threatening to unseat them.

This is another case of the Jew’s neurotic mind spilling over into the public sphere, causing confusion in everyone but the goyim who know.

The parents who approved of their children being part of this are no better than pedophiles

This Sudanese-Iranian subhuman decided to do this little (((experiment))) on the Isle of Wight, which is one of the least (((enriched))) parts of Europe.

Do you think that’s a coincidence?

The Telegraph:

There was a telling moment in the second part of No More Boys and Girls: Can Our Kids Go Gender Free? (BBC Two) when Dr Javid Abdelmoneim stood outside the school gates as parents delivered children of Lanesend Primary. None would stop to inspect his array of T-shirts with gender-reinforcing messages.

Why is that thing in Britain? Why?

Eventually a tiny gathering was corralled together to listen to his message about apparently harmless slogans like “Here Comes Trouble” and “Forever Beautiful”, which have a butterfly effect eventually resulting in phallocratic self-aggrandisement, low female self-esteem and society-wide unequal pay.

“Look at all the big-worded nonsense my hooked sociology professor taught me! Aren’t I smart?”

The small audience seemed persuaded. Will the bigger audience watching at home make the simple, effective changes he wrought in a small class of ethnically and culturally homogenous children on the Isle of Wight?

Why didn't they try this in a more "diverse" school?

I'll tell you why – It's because only White boys are supposed to believe that cutting their dicks off is normal, and it's only White girls who are supposed to believe that shaving your head and getting fat and "fighting the patriarchy" is normal.

Non-stop, 24/7 propaganda from the entirety of the System is what is happening in the west, and none of you reading this are doing anything to stop it.

Not every conclusion that Abdelmoneim came to felt rooted in proofs, and some of his conclusions have an element of hit and hope. But the experiments with the children offered compelling evidence that boys can get a kick out of sewing and girls can conquer geometrical puzzles.

"AHA! If boys like sewing, it should be obvious even to the most toothless of racists that penises are a social construct! Now be good little goyim and hand over those delicious foreskins." – Some Jew in Current Year.

The one line in the sand was unisex loos.****
Perhaps some parents need to teach their sons to wash their hands and flush more.**

Yeah, that's the problem...

Abdelmoneim is a natural communicator in front of the camera and with the children, who were the real stars – and not just in their gender-neutral poem performed at the end-of-term assembly. The boy with the biggest story arc was Riley, who learnt "it's better to talk than strop". At the football on the beach, where he was first to propose mixed teams, he wore a T-shirt emblazoned with the words, "We Are the Future". It would be lovely to hope that first-person plural as gender-inclusive.

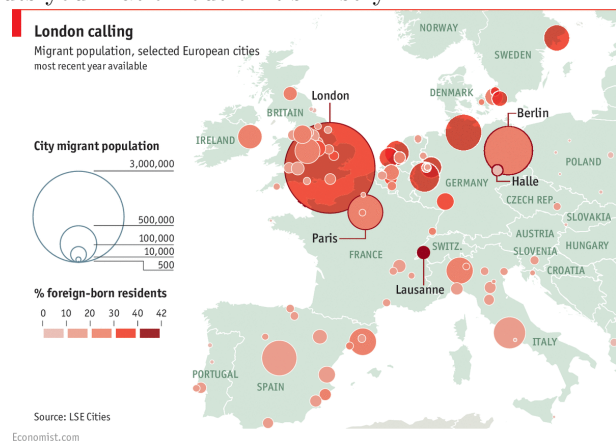

He is not the future, he's a (still potential) victim of a retarded death cult invented by kikes to destroy everybody like you.

The future will be fascist, or it won't exist.

It was repetitive at times, to ensure the messages got home. But No More Boys and Girls should be compulsory viewing in schools up and down the land. It would also be a great boon to the equality revolution if the bottom could be persuaded to fall out of the market for pink. "I know I can be anything I want to be," said the previously shy Maisie, whose princess-themed fashions and accessories were bagged up and confiscated. In someone older that would sound like an empty bromide. In one so young it had the gleam of conviction.

I use to joke that Britain might one day surpass Sweden in cuckoldry to become the most cucked country on the planet, but that's not a joke anymore. That's reality now, and the Britcucks have to either do something about it, or just get used to being ridiculed until kike-run diversity puts your nation out of it's misery.

The choice is yours.

1.16 Black Pigeon Defends Daily Stormer

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

August 26, 2017

Somewhat bizarre that he said I was both a satirist and an ADL shill...

But hey, whatever – I'll take it.

I'm taking all comers when it comes to saying: "this guy is a complete fucking piece of total and utter shit, pure evil, maybe he's secretly a Jew somehow or something, fuck, I don't even know but he's fucked man, he literally deserves to be chained to the back of a truck and dragged to death like Matthew Shepherd... but still he should have free speech and this is setting a precedent."

Qualify it however you want, guys.

But just make the point that this goes beyond me.

This is the entire internet that just got shut down.

You might not know you are shut down.

But you are already shut down.

Think of it as though you've just been injected with a deadly virus, with a 100% chance of death – you just don't know the exact hour you're going to die.

Still no word from AJ or Molyneux.

The biggest free speech infringement in the history of the internet, and these two alleged champions of free speech have elected to remain completely silent.

It's unbelievable.

I will say again: qualify it however you want. I do not care. Do the David French and call me evil, Black Pigeon and call me an kike shill – whatever you feel like doing.

Just make the point.

Because we all go down together.

1.17 Fat Female Feminist "Professor" Shocked That Women Do Not Understand the Liberating Value of Obesity

Spartacus

Daily Stormer

August 26, 2017

If I had graduated college in America, I'd feel very ashamed of myself right now... Seriously, these places are nothing more than giant mental asylums.

Daily Caller:

An Arizona State University professor has expressed disappointment at the results of a study she conducted with around 20 women, all of whom consider gaining 100 pounds to be a negative thing. She expected them to embrace her views of fatness as a "liberatory" experience.

Read that again a couple of times. Do you get it now?

Breanne Fahs, a self-described "fat woman" who teaches Women and Gender Studies at ASU, was dismayed by the study in which "no participants described gaining 100 pounds as a positive thing to imagine."

I'm shocked. Everybody is shocked, I'm sure. Why would anybody think turning from a human being to a pig that can walk on it's hind legs isn't liberating and powerful? I mean it's CURRENT YEAR!

Also, this is the "professor":

Her fatness isn't just "self-described"

I joogled this creature, sure that it has done retarded shit like this before. And yes, she has!

A few years ago, she offered extra credit to her female students if they stopped shaving their armpits. Armpit hair is a major feminist issue, and almost as liberating as type 2 diabetes.

Campus Reform reported Thursday that the professor — who describes fatness as "liberatory" from the shackles of patriarchal society — claims that obesity is only considered unattractive because of "patriarchy, sexism, and oppression of women."

Of course it is... If it's weren't for "patriarchy," every man would wanna stick his dick in a woman that weighs as much as a baby whale.

If you hadn't been brainwashed your entire life, you'd get a boner from this

Fahs published her findings in an article for the Women's Studies International Forum, where she wrote that "the fear of fatness is far more extreme, exaggerated, and terrible than the lived realities of living in a fat body."

The people who are experiencing these "realities" are subhuman and essentially braindead, so they're not really bound to be afraid of anything...

She notes that in her survey, four women "shrieked in disgust" or "started laughing uncontrollably" when she asked them what they thought of gaining 100 pounds instantly. Unsurprisingly, the participants believed she was joking when she asked the question.

Fahs was also upset by the fact that none of the women she surveyed considered obesity to be positive in any way whatsoever, and that "no women identified fatness as physically or personally important (even hypothetically)." In other words, the women did not like the idea of becoming obese.

How am I supposed to even make fun of this? The Daily Stormer is a site that relies heavily on satire and hyperbole, but when reality looks like this, what am I supposed to do? These creatures are living satire, and funnier stuff than I could ever make up.

My inner panda is very sad right now...

The professor says that fatness shouldn't be seen as a negative quality because "feminist theory" suggests that the stigmatization of obesity is "connected to patriarchy, sexism, and the oppression of women."

"That women did not identify the liberatory, political, or social implications of fatness seemed to reveal much about the contemporary framing of fatness as purely negative and solely based in stigma," she claims.

She concludes that women shouldn't be afraid of weight gain, and that "interventions that seek to lessen or buffer the intensity of women's fear of weight gain could impact not only fat women's lives, but all women's lives."

A massive increase in the risk of almost every disease known to man, lower mobility, lower quality of life, and you can't even catch even run after the fucking buss... Totally the patriarchy's fault.

Fahs views are in line with that of professor Jennifer B. Webb of University of North Carolina-Charlotte, who promotes fat acceptance by encouraging obese young women to post revealing pictures of themselves on Instagram.

This isn't isolated to one university, or even just a handful of them. It's endemic throughout higher education in the Anglo-Saxon world. Fat women repeating gibberish the kikes made up is the norm in these places, which is why I can't really look at anyone with a degree from them as anything other than a moron.

Obesity is one of the leading causes of health illnesses in the United States. The American Heart Association reports that obese people suffer an elevated risk of health problems including heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes—all of which shorten lifespans and affect quality of life.

Don't worry you dumb goy, it's all worth it as long as you're fighting the patriarchy.

This is how you're supposed to do it

1.18 LOL: Male Civilians Have to Step in to Protect Austrian Female Cops from Asylum Gropers

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 26, 2017

YOU CAN ARREST ME ANY TIME YOU WANT BABY!

We have female cops.

But when will we have male wet nurses?

Is the wet nurse industry prejudiced towards men? Or do men simply believe they are too good to be wet nurses?

Krone:

On Friday night, the three policewomen were in a pub on the Landstraße as part of their routine patrol when, on leaving the pub, they were stopped by an agitated man: his girlfriend had been groped by another guest and then beaten when she asked him to leave her in peace, he said. The man pointed out the perpetrator, a Syrian in a white T-shirt who was walking with two companions.

When the policewomen wanted to check the identification documents of the Syrian suspects aged 21, 23 and 29, the trio immediately became aggressive and loudly insisted: “We done nothing!” The eldest struck out at the policewomen, and was then subdued and arrested. In the process, one policewoman was injured in the face and hand. As the 23-year-old also became more aggressive, he was also arrested – he also put up fierce resistance, injuring another policewoman.

The youngest of the Syrians did not want to accept the arrest of his friends: According to witnesses he took off his belt and wanted to strike the three policewomen. Spirited passers-by intervened, however, to prevent his attack. The requested reinforcements finally arrived and took the 21-year-old Syrian into custody. All three violent immigrants were initially taken to a police cell.

Now see – I thought this type of information wasn’t supposed to be reported, given that it could lead to people hating immigrants FOR NO REASON.

Also – I haven’t seen a man try to beat someone with his belt since 1950s sitcoms.

1.19 Phoenix Smashed Balls Guy was a GoDaddy Employee (MEME MAGIC IS REAL)

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 26, 2017

If you don’t believe in MEME MAGIC after this right here, then I tip my fedora to you.

At this point, it takes unfathomable amounts of psychic energy to deny the existence of the frog lord and his powers.

I mean, to say that this entire concept of reality forming itself around our collective thoughts is anything less than objective fact is like gravity denialism. If you’re a gravity denialist, you should jump out a window and see what happens. If you’re a meme magic denialist, you should go work for GoDaddy.

Daily Caller:

The man hit by a pepper ball round in a video that has since gone viral following protests in Phoenix, Az. is now facing charges for aggravated assault on police.

Twenty-nine-year-old Joshua Stuart Cobin was seen kicking a round of tear gas at police officers during a riot on Tuesday night. Following his actions, police fired a pepper ball at his groin, prompting him to fall over in pain. He was helped up by another man wearing a Colin Kaepernick jersey.

The video quickly went viral on social media with memes like “Good Night, Left Nut.”

Cobin, a support representative of web-site service provider GoDaddy, identified himself as the man in the video on Reddit. Posting under the username “goty-ourqueen,” Cobin claimed (despite his actions) that he isn’t a member of Antifa and that he did not support violence towards police and Trump supporters.

“The pepper ball shot missed Major Johnson by 3 inches north so all I have is some bruising in the groin area,” he wrote, adding that he witnessed a “peaceful protest” by the crowd as they were planning to march to the capitol.

Phoenix police announced late yesterday that they booked the man on four criminal charges, including three felony counts of aggravated assault on police and one misdemeanor for unlawful assembly.

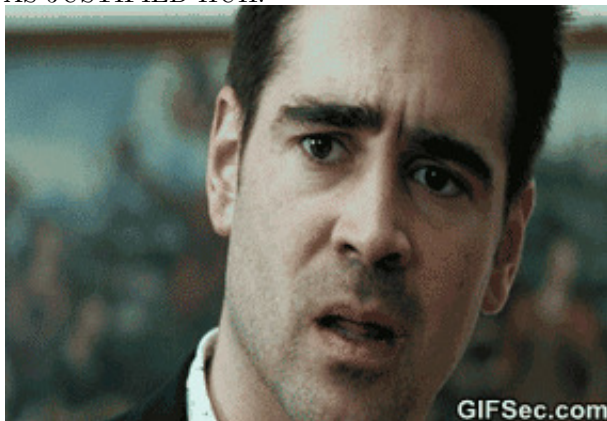

AZFamily reports that in Cobin’s court records, police state that at two points beyond the footage captured on film, he picked up gas canisters and threw them at police.

Police said they broke up the demonstration after rocks and other objects were thrown at them.

In an interview with the local news station on Wednesday, Cobin says he suffered second-degree burns from picking up the tear gas cans and spent Tuesday night in an emergency room for inhaling pepper spray.

“I don’t equate kicking or putting back tear gas canisters as attacking police. I never attacked a police officer,” he said to the station, adding that he only kicked back the canister because he didn’t feel their response was justified.

OH AN EMPLOYEE OF GODADDY DIDN’T THINK SOMEONE’S RESPONSE TO SOMETHING WAS JUSTIFIED HUH.

Just to explain meme magic to those of you who don’t know or are stupid: it is the idea that there is an underlying psychic force which drives the material universe and that our collective thoughts – our own psychic energy – is capable of changing physical reality.

The pioneer of this type of thinking was Carl Jung. You can go read his books, if you have that kind of time on your hands and aren’t busy playing fucking Angry Birds or trying to pick-up girls based on your newfound status as a celebrity SKIN TONE HATER as is the case with me.

However, I did read a good bit of this material back before Angry Birds, back before I could just walk up to any random dime and be like “yo bitch, yeah, I’m that guy you saw on TV who is famous because he HATES PEOPLE FOR NO REASON OTHER THAN THE COLOR OF THEIR SKIN – and now you gotta come back to my place and watch Netflix. Bitch I’m playin you – I ain’t got no Netflix. We’re watchin bittorrented episodes of Rick and Morty while I teach you the 51st shade of gray. Yeah, das rite. Bitch I’m playin you. I don’t know shit about none of that kinky shit you into. I can punch you in the face, but that’s about it. Real talk: Ima play Angry Birds and and simultaneously watch illegally downloaded episodes of Rick and Morty that I’ve already watched thrice while you assemble this $500 juice machine someone sent me as a gift and figure out how to work it. That’s my 2003 teal Honda Civic out front. Yeah, it’s been wrecked. You think I give a fuck? Bitch I hate people BECAUSE OF THE COLOR OF THEIR SKIN. Go get in that teal Civic.” And the bitch just does it.

And I do recommend reading it.

Jung called the concept “synchronicity.”

Wikipedia:

Synchronicity (German: Synchronizität) is a concept, first introduced by analytical psychologist Carl Jung, which holds that events are “meaningful coincidences” if they occur with no causal relationship yet seem to be meaningfully related. During his career, Jung furnished several slightly different definitions of it. Jung variously defined synchronicity as an “acausal connecting (togetherness) principle,” “meaningful coincidence”, and “acausal parallelism.” He introduced the concept as early as the 1920s but gave a full statement of it only in 1951 in an Eranos lecture.

In 1952 Jung published a paper “Synchronizität als ein Prinzip akausaler Zusammenhänge” (Synchronicity – An Acausal Connecting Principle) in a volume which also contained a related study by the physicist and Nobel laureate Wolfgang Pauli, who was sometimes critical of Jung’s ideas. Jung’s belief was that, just as events may be connected by causality, they may also be connected by meaning. Events connected by meaning need not have an explanation in terms of causality, which does not generally contradict the Axiom of Causality.

But it only happened when the internet was created that Meme Magic was born: because we were all transmitting the same thoughts at the same time and thus creating the meaning that connects events.

I can tell you straight-faced that I believe this is 100% real.

All that the material world is is a projection of consciousness, and we have the ability to bend it to our collective will.

We run this bitch, which is why the Jews are trying to burn it down.

1.20 Researchers: Drug White People with Oxytocin to Get them to accept White Genocide

Diversity Macht Frei

August 26, 2017

This is really happening. The experiment specifically targets white people (“Caucasian” – a term that has no scientific validity).

Oxytocin-enforced norm compliance reduces xenophobic outgroup rejection. In the midst of rapid globalization, the peaceful coexistence of cultures requires a deeper understanding of the forces that compel prosocial behavior and thwart xenophobia. Yet, the conditions promoting such outgroup-directed altruism have not been determined. Here we report the results of a double-blind, placebo-controlled experiment showing that enhanced activity of the oxytocin system paired with charitable social cues can help counter the effects of xenophobia by fostering altruism toward refugees. These findings suggest that the combination of oxytocin and peer-derived altruistic norms reduces outgroup rejection even in the most selfish and xenophobic individuals, and thereby would be expected to increase the ease by which people adapt to rapidly changing social ecosystems.

Abstract Never before have individuals had to adapt to social environments defined by such magnitudes of ethnic diversity and cultural differentiation. However, neurobiological evidence informing about strategies to reduce xenophobic sentiment and foster altruistic cooperation with outsiders is scarce. In a series of experiments settled in the context of the current refugee crisis, we tested the propensity of 183 Caucasian participants to make donations to people in need, half of whom were refugees (outgroup) and half of whom were natives (ingroup). Participants scoring low on xenophobic attitudes exhibited an altruistic preference for the outgroup, which further increased after nasal delivery of the neuropeptide oxytocin. In contrast, participants with higher levels of xenophobia generally failed to exhibit enhanced altruism toward the outgroup. This tendency was only countered by pairing oxytocin with peer-derived altruistic norms, resulting in a 74% increase in refugee-directed donations. Collectively, these findings reveal the underlying sociobiological conditions associated with outgroup-directed altruism by showing that charitable social cues co-occurring with enhanced activity of the oxytocin system reduce the effects of xenophobia by facilitating prosocial behavior toward refugees.

Source: Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the USA

It’s noteworthy that some people (“low on xenophobic attitudes”) actually preferred the out-group (brown people) to begin with.

The names of the researchers are listed below:

Marsh N, Scheele D, Feinstein JS, Gerhardt H, Strang S, Maier W, Hurlemann R.

As a commenter observed, a disproportionate number of these names would appear to be Jewish.

Feinstein and Maier are certainly well known Jewish names.

1.21 Stormfront Shutdown is Almost as Relevant a Precedent as the Stormer Shutdown

Andrew Anglin

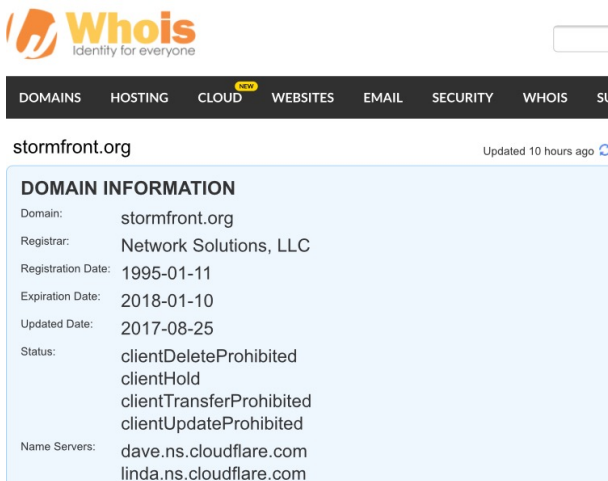

Daily Stormer

August 26, 2017

As we reported yesterday, Stormfront was shut down in a manner similar to the way DailyStormer.com was shut down: their domain registrar just stole the domain, putting it on “client hold” so that they don’t have access to it.

This is the same “internet jail” that DailyStormer.com was placed in by Google.

There was no news coverage when Stormfront disappeared. My own article wasn’t published until at least 12 hours after it had happened.

Finally – 49 minutes ago, at time of writing – a single article has been published about it.

In the Knoxville News-Sentinel, of all places:

Stormfront, an international supremacist web forum, appears to have been seized by its website host, Network Solutions, LLC.

The forum disappeared Friday. WhoIs, a web service that tracks site ownership, reported the Stormfront domain’s status as “under hold.”

According to the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers, a nonprofit that coordinates name spaces on the Internet, a hold status is an uncommon status that indicates a site is under legal dispute or about to be deleted.

Network Solutions has also prohibited Stormfront from updating, transferring or deleting its web forum on its own. That means Stormfront’s web masters cannot re-introduce the site on another domain.

Should Network Solutions go through with deleting the website itself, any re-emerging version would have to start from scratch.

This is inaccurate information. They have been giving inaccurate information since this shutdown began. Newsweek did a long piece where they confused web-hosting, domain name registry and DDoS protection.

I get that journalists are not tech experts, but it is somewhat absurd that they don’t have someone review these posts.

Stormfront, I assume, still has all of their data on their server, which is separate from the domain registry. All the domain registry does is resolve the IP address of the site into the letters that you type in your address bar – “stormfront.org.”

What you are reading now on the Darkweb version of the Daily Stormer is simply a redirection of our server to the Onion address.

So they would not have to “start from scratch” if they got their domain back.

The move comes less than two weeks after the domain host GoDaddy told the supremacist commentary site The Daily Stormer that it had 24 hours to find a new web host after the site published a post praising the death of Heather Heyer, who was killed at a violent supremacist rally in Charlottesville that the site referred to as “The Battle of Charlottesville.” Google pulled its support for the site soon after.

This is false also.

I mocked her as a person, I did not “praise her death.”

The internet security service CloudFlare also removed its protections from The Daily Stormer. So when the site found a new domain with Dreamhost, the host reportedly fell under a mass Distributed Denial of Service attack, which shut The Daily Stormer down again.

This is again factually wrong (and not something that relies on technical knowledge).

We were on dailystormer.ru when Cloudflare quit. By the time I was on Dreamhost, I had new DDoS protection. Dreamhost simply banned me because they were getting DDoSed at their DNS server, because of my speech, or both, and gave two separate lies as to why they dropped me (I will write a full article on that soon).

The Stormfront forum is also a CloudFlare client. Spokeswoman Daniella Vallurupalli declined comment on the status of its service agreement with the website. “Cloudflare’s policy is to not comment on users without their permission,” she said.

Well then.

Why are they commenting on me?

Why are they calling me an “asshole” on VICE news?

Maybe the CEO should be fired for violating this policy?

Don Black, a former Grand Wizard in the Klu Klux Klan and member of the American Nazi Party, launched Stormfront about 10 years ago as an online bulletin board system. The website had amassed more than 300,000 members on at least four continents before its disappearance.

This is also false.

Stormfront started in 1990 as a bulletin board, and stormfront.org was launched in 1996. That’s on their Wikipedia page.

Anyway, here’s why the Knoxville News-Sentinel is the only one writing about this.

Black began hosting summits for the online community in East Tennessee in 2010. This year, the group was planning its seventh annual “Great Smoky Mountain Summit” at an undisclosed location near Knoxville. Plans for the summit included appearances by Klu Klux Klan attorney Sam Dickson and David Duke, another prominent former KKK leader.

It is unclear if those plans will go on now that the forum has been removed.

The USA Today Network—Tennessee has reached out to Black via email and Twitter to find out if plans for the summit continue. Black’s email however, is registered on the same domain as Stormfront, so Black may not be able to access the message.

That is a lot of errors in that article.

No wonder these people get called “fake news.”

1.21.1 This is Insane

Every aspect of this is insane. Firstly, this is a lot different than what happened to Daily Stormer. We were taken offline after a mega-protest following a viral video by 2% of the US population making fun of a woman who had just been killed in a politically-charged car crash.

There was a massive media storm surrounding the shut down, which did involve some voices standing up and saying that it was wrong for my First Amendment rights to be shut down by a cabal of tech elites.

Every move we have made to try to get back on the surface internet has resulted in mass media coverage.

With Stormfront, the site just disappears. The media doesn’t report on it. The SPLC doesn’t report on it. The company that took the domain doesn’t make a statement. Don Black doesn’t make a statement – at least not on any public platform. The site simply disappears.

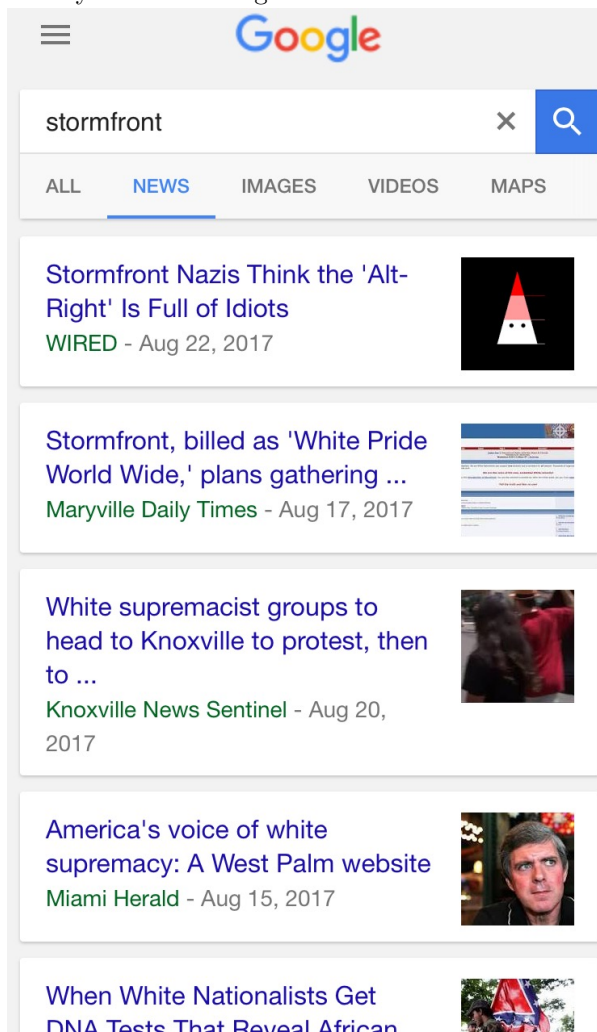

And that, my friends, is the new model for censorship that they are attempting to roll out. Which they have already rolled out, in fact.

Of course, we still have time to reverse it – but not much.

This is why I said: the shutting down of dailystormer.com was not about me or my ideas. It was about the principle of free speech.

1.21.2 Sitting Duck

Earlier today, I lamented on Gab that when you searched for “stormfront” on Google News, you got the top story that they were attacking other white advocates.

Regrettably, this is very characteristic of Stormfront. It was a very insular site, which was largely filled with materials attacking pro-white advocates. This is to say, those who were not members of the site are perhaps not very fond of it, or are unaware or only vaguely aware of its existence.

As such, there is not going to be a public outcry over it. I am going to do my best to create one. But it is difficult, because of the nature of the site, and the levels of animosity it created.

Of course, they knew this. And when I say “they” – I am talking about whoever is coordinating this shutdown. I don't know who specifically is doing it, but someone is playing intermediary to all of these tech companies involved. That is clear. I would tend to assume it is the SPLC and/or the ADL, in coordination with the FBI and/or "former" FBI agents.

The shutting of Stormfront, via this new technique of domain seizure, sets a new precedent: you don't have to have made edgy jokes about a fat woman, you don't have to go viral, you don't even have to be the least bit culturally relevant. They can now just take you off the internet because you are white.

Another precedent that was set here is that the media doesn't have to mention it when you disappear. That was obviously purposeful. There was a blackout on it, and these people at the Knoxville News-Sentinel missed the memo.

I have emailed Don Black. I also want to offer any of the mods of the site an opportunity to publish here on our Darknet site. We can't run a forum here, but if there is anything that needs to be said, that you would like to say, I can get it out there.

1.21.3 #Unite

One thing to take away from this is that we have to stick together.

We have to.

This sort of thing that Stormfront was involved in – this attacking of other white advocates – it has to end.

We don't have any choice here. We are under a full-on assault.

And there is an intelligence operation being run on us. We need to be aware of this, we need to act with knowledge of it, and we need to understand that the number one thing that they want to do is turn us against one another.

Sites are now going to start dropping like flies. And this is because there wasn't a significant enough rally around Daily Stormer. I think people within the movement did rally around us, but others within the larger right-wing did not.

There is no question as to whether or not we will get back on the surface internet. Of course we will. We're working on it day and night. Right now, I haven't slept in two days.

And if we somehow ever get kicked off of that permanently, we will be here on the Darknet (where we are now the number one site in the history of Tor, by the way).

However, is Stormfront going to get back online?

Will they make a darkweb site?

I hope so, but I'm not sure how likely it is.

I think some people are maybe in denial about what is happening right now. This is a huge move to simply silence us, completely. Hopefully, we can get enough attention that we can force the government to intervene, and begin regulating ICANN like they did before Obama gave it away in October of last year.

Whatever the case, we are in a very difficult situation right now.

And we must stick together.

Remember that.

It is the most important thing.

1.22 The Awesomest Guy Yet

And here you have the awesomest guy yet.

Notice his keen look, as well as the definition in his arms. He is going to the gym, he is out on the street making "journalists" look like the weird dickheads that they are, he is sticking it to ICANN.

Perhaps once a beta male, he is now: the greatest guy ever.

He is the new image of man.

You could some day be as awesome as this guy. Actually, probably not.

But if you got even half way there: think of the hoes you'd be pulling.

WHOA.

1.23 Another Charlottesville Activist Arrested for Self-Defense Against the Mob

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 27, 2017

Another one of our guys has been arrested for defending himself at Charlottesville.

BREAKING: Police have finally arrested Dan Borden, the white supremacist we identified as assaulting Deandre Harris. He was in Ohio. pic.twitter.com/d6yfpXWxwi

— Shaun King (@ShaunKing) August 26, 2017

Mugshot. All of a sudden white supremacist Dan Borden isn't smiling anymore. pic.twitter.com/5KlKh1Kt67

— Shaun King (@ShaunKing) August 27, 2017

There will be more arrests.

If people don't take deals, they will get off.

Unless they actually did assault someone, which is unlikely in any of these cases.

Certainly in the case of Deandre Harris, the people who beat him were doing so in self defense. He was in a group of antifa that were attacking everyone they found. Dan Borden was beaten with bats.

It's all on video.

Same with Cantwell.

He was attacked and used pepper-spray in self-defense.

The purpose of these arrests is not necessarily to get convictions. It is to create a climate of fear.

The same with the internet shutdown.

It's about creating fear and panic.

They are also attempting to bully white activists into acting out violently, in order to lead to a further clamp-down.

Don't do that. Seriously. Don't.

1.24 Diabolical Black Cop Threatens Autistic White Boy

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 27, 2017

This is what happens when you put Blacks in charge of your kids, White man.

Who hasn't throw a book or two at a teacher?

Uh, okay, I'll have to admit that's pretty hardcore.

But still. This kid is autistic. Does it make any sense to have him be abused by rampaging Negro cops instead of giving him the psychological support he needs?

The niggercop in question.

This wouldn't even be happening if we didn't have Jews running our society. In fact, I'm gonna go ahead and blame the Jews for autism as well, as I'm sure they had something to do with it somehow.

Daily Mail:

A Florida deputy was fired from his job of 22 years after he was caught threatening and verbally abusing a 13-year-old autistic boy.

Officer Ural Darling, who worked in part with Osceola Middle School, reportedly taunted Evan Dowdy the afternoon of May 15 after he was called to assist in sending the child to the behavioral specialist office for throwing a textbook at a teacher.

To be fair, abusing kids is the only way Blacks know of to raise children.

Specialist Marge Aspell and the officer walked the boy out of the classroom and down the hall, when Darling became infuriated and tried to reprimand the boy using inappropriate and intimidating warnings.

The video released by the sheriff's office shows Darling whip out handcuffs and tell Evan to put his hands behind his back in a mimicked arrest. He also threatened to put the child in a mental hospital if he did not cooperate.

The entire episode, Darling can be heard yelling loudly as the boy cries.

Darling asked Evan, 'This is what you've been wanting, right?' while demanding he get up against the wall and menace to throw books at him. The sheriff yelled out, 'How 'bout if I throw books at you?!'

You gon' get it now, boy!

In a way, that Black cop was only doing what made sense to him. After all, that autistic White boy was behaving like any normal Black boy would, acting out and throwing things at teachers. The cop knew that the only effective way to deal with that behavior in niglets is with threats and beatings.

He just didn't have the mental capacity to understand that if White kids behave this way, it's because of some kind of neurological disorder, instead of just being Black.

This is why it makes absolutely no sense to have alien races taking care of our kids. They have no cultural or biological frame of reference to understand our behavior and deal with it appropriately.

But the same is also true of the reverse; Blacks schools would probably be a lot more effective if they had Negro teachers administering regular beatings on the rowdier kids.

1.25 Progress: BBC Now Offering "Ebonics" Edition for Negro Jungle Tribesmen

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 27, 2017

We BBC now, cracka.

The BBC, once a proud institution of British culture, is now spending all of it's resources translating it's material into weird jungle versions of English for its former colonies.

Before you learn about it, just take a look at it.
Wired:

How do you go about writing down a language that is almost entirely oral? For the staff of the BBC World Service's new Pidgin news site, it all started with listening. Lots of listening.

Despite being spoken by an estimated 75 million people in Nigeria alone – and as a first language for five million people – Pidgin has, until this week, been marginalised online. "In terms of its text life it lives pretty much on social media," says Miriam Quansah, BBC's digital lead for Africa.

Nigerians, as seen in the documentary District 9.

To begin the process of converting a primarily oral language into an agreed written form, the World Service interacted with people across Africa who spoke it.

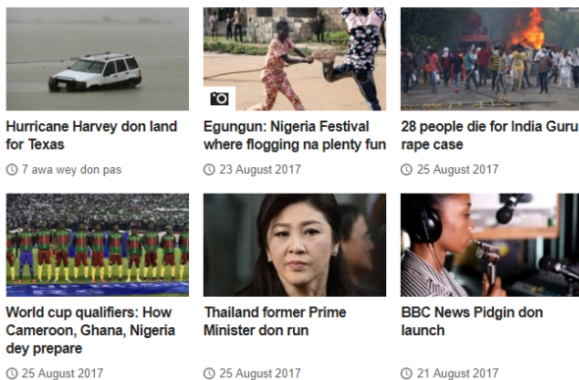

It's cute how White people like to pretend that "Pidgin" and "creole" are real languages. They're not. Wikipedia:

Nigerian Pidgin is an English-based pidgin and creole language spoken as a lingua franca across Nigeria. The language is commonly referred to as "Pidgin" or Broken (pronounced "Brokin"). It is distinguished from other creole languages since most speakers are not true native speakers although many children learn it at an early age. It can be spoken as a pidgin, a creole, or a decreolised acrolect by different speakers, who may switch between these forms depending on the social setting.

Pidgin is just English with broken grammar and low vocabulary.

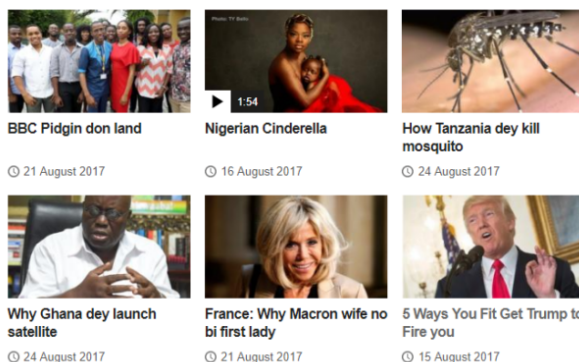

I mean, just look at this crap:

Give me latest gist

"Give me latest gist," "How dey prepare," "Pidgin don launch."

Informate me

"Informate me," "How Tanzania dey kill mosquito," "Why Ghana dey launch satellite."

This is just straight up Ebonics. It's broken English with random spelling and grammar. Only Whites could be autistic enough to try to formalize this and make it consistent; you can be sure that the actual Nigerians won't be following the BBC style guide anytime soon.

French Creole is exactly the same. I've pored over Creole books, and found that they don't even keep word spellings consistent from one sentence to the next. It's just random negro gibberish.

The idea that Western institutions would stoop to the level of trying to mimic these Black dialects of their own language would be hilarious, if it wasn't done on the White tax payer's dime.

1.26 Science: Lesbianism is Just a Way for Women to Seek Male Attention

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 26, 2017

Raise your hand if you're surprised by this. No? Anyone?

Everything women do is an indirect way to garner more male attention. After all, women can't survive on their own, and their success is directly related to how much help and support they can get from the men around them.

Women go to university in order to find a successful man.

They get careers because they think it's what men want out of them.

They wear sexy clothes and make up in order to help in sexually manipulating the men around them.

Did anyone really think that their slutty bisexualism was anything else?

Daily Mail:

A male scientist has been vilified after saying he had solved one of the mysteries of evolution – why large numbers of heterosexual women find other women sexually attractive.

Trying to explain that behavior with science? The inquiry would have a word with you, sir.

Menelaos Apostolou, from the University of Cyprus, says it is because men find it a turn-on to have a partner who is sexually attracted to other women.

Same-sex attraction in straight women has continued because men are happy to have female partners who also fancy the same sex.

The trait makes them less likely to cheat with other men, Professor Apostolou claimed. But critics poured scorn on the study.

This guy is a well established figure in evolutionary biology and psychology.

Why are we even reporting on the random thots triggered by this guy's research? The media is pretending like the opinions of these sluts has the same weight as the scientific process which lead to Apostolou's learned conclusions.

In a sane world, the headlines would be "Top scientist found solution to lesbo problem" instead of "Sluts outraged by scientist's claims."

One woman tweeted: 'Lesbians: I'm a woman who loves women. I'm attracted to women and only women because women are great. Men: How can I make this about me?'

Scientist: I've found the evolutionary explanation for female behavior.

Women: Why can't reality be about our feelings, you bigot?

Another wrote: 'I want to kick that guy in the face.'

Female hysteria: another strategy to garner male attention.

Professor Apostolou replied: 'This paper aims predominantly to account for the evolutionary origins of same-sex attraction in heterosexual women, and does not address lesbianism.'

About a fifth of women say they experience a degree of same-sex attraction.

Unless we can get these sluts in check, science itself will come to a screeching halt, because it's a threat to female delusions.

White sharia isn't merely necessary to have a livable society; without it, we'll never reach the stars.

2.1 France: New "Van of Peace" Incident Kills One – Terrorism Ruled Out Immediately

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 21, 2017

To be fair, it could also be a rogue AI wreaking havoc.

I used to be confused about this whole "vehicle running down pedestrians" thing. When is it terrorism? When is it mental illness?

Tough question.

But I've finally figured out the formula.

If the vehicle is a Dodge Challenger, then it's always terrorism – even if there's no evidence. If the vehicle is a van, then the incident is always caused by mental illness and/or social repression of minorities.

Washington Post:

A Marseille police official confirms reports that a van has rammed two bus stops in two different neighborhoods of the Mediterranean port city, killing a woman and injuring another person.

*The only solution to this is to institute “bus-stop control.”
These bus stops are a public menace!*

David-Olivier Reverdy of the Alliance police union says the driver of the Renault Master van was arrested in the scenic Old Port neighborhood Monday morning.

He says it is too early to blame the incident on terrorism, but “given the times” it cannot be excluded as a motive. He says all possibilities are currently being studied.

Oh, wow, maybe it’s terrorism after all?

Wait.

This guy forgot the formula. It’s a van, so it definitely can’t be anything else than mental illness, remember?

Ahhh!

Here’s an update.

4:40 p.m.

Police in France say there are ruling out terrorism as a motive for the van that rammed into two Marseille bus stops, killing a woman at one of them.

A police official said “the terrorist motive is completely rejected” for the incident Monday morning.

Police had already said that the driver of the white van that hit the bus stops in two neighborhoods is being treated for psychological problems.

Wew. That was a close one.

I almost had to reconsider my pre-conceptions on this one. Thankfully, he was insane, which makes it perfectly fine.

I just have a few nagging doubts though...

Why weren’t we getting “truck of peace” ‘ed on the regular a few years back, if it’s unrelated to Islam?

Also, why aren’t they revealing the name of the killer if he’s not a Moslem terrorist?

Hmmm...

2.2 Told You So: Rebel Media Domain Shut-Down [Update: ORLY?]

Adrian Sol

Daily Stormer

August 21, 2017

UPDATE:

I think this is yet another Ezra Levant Jew hoax.

I wrote an article explaining why I think that.

I don’t know who’s Jewing who anymore!

Wow, how could this happen?

This is totally unprecedented!

Nobody could have predicted this!

I’m sure this will be an isolated incident, so all you “free speech advocates” can continue sitting on your butts. This definitely won’t end with you getting shut down shortly as well, so make sure to keep counter-signaling and ignoring the Daily Stormer and – lol – Rebel Media.

National Post:

Conservative website The Rebel said its domain provider cut its internet registration, making the site inaccessible to some users around the world on Monday as the company scrambled to get back online using a second provider.

The move comes after GoDaddy Inc, Alphabet Inc’s Google and other technology firms last week pushed the neo-Nazi website Daily Stormer offline by terminating services of the online publication that helped organize the violent rally in Virginia on Aug. 12.

Rebel Media founder Ezra Levant, whose website often rails against Muslims and refugees, did not identify the firm that severed his site’s registration, although he said he was given 24 hours’ notice and no explanation for the move.

“If this was a political censorship decision, it is terrifying – like a phone company telling you it is canceling your phone number on 24 hours notice because it doesn't like your conversations," Levant told Reuters.

To be quite honest, I have strong suspicions that this is a hoax perpetrated by Levant himself. His company is failing, all of his star hosts are leaving or getting fired, and he's now embroiled in an embezzlement scandal. Being "shut down" by the system would be a more graceful end to Rebel Media than losing all his supporters and going bankrupt, to be sure.

But it could also easily be a legitimate shut down.

It's only a matter of time, now, before anyone on the right of Bernie Sanders is going to suffer a similar fate to the Daily Stormer.

We're entering a new era, and the only weapon our enemies have against us is to shut everything down.

But by doing so, they're only giving us more power.

They're forcing us to build our own infrastructure. Our own institutions – outside of their control. By making our lives more difficult, they're only hardening us.

They're uniting us against a common enemy, which is plain for all to see, and that will be their downfall.

So all you moderates out there: it's time to make a choice. Either fold, or join us. Because the "safe space" provided by the system is disappearing, and we are the only alternative.

2.3 Wow Just Wow. ICANN't Even.

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 21, 2017

I have been kicked off of I think 7 registrars now.

This is now ICANN's problem.

If ICANN hasn't given authorization to a company that will host my site, then ICANN itself is banning me from the internet.

We need to call for ICANN to be regulated by the US government in order to protect First Amendment free speech.

This "OH NO BUT IT'S A PRIVATE COMPANY THAT BANNED YOU SO IT'S NOT A FIRST AMENDMENT ISSUE" is absolute bullshit if every private company that exists is refusing to register a domain for the Daily Stormer.

Everyone who believes in freedom of speech needs to call on the US government to regulate ICANN. This no longer has to do with me and my edgy humor. This is a threat to all political speech that "private companies" decide is inappropriate.

The details of how this silencing is taking place are just details. I have been deprived of my First Amendment rights.

ICANN now has a responsibility to provide me with a way to get online.

For those unaware, the power of ICANN was just given up by the US Department of Commerce on October 1, 2016.

They are going to do this to more people. I am just the first.

And the people who traditionally defend freedom of speech are not coming to my aid.

Alex Jones, Stefan Molyneux, etc. are not discussing this issue. The only person who did was Tucker Carlson.

This poem:

First they came for the Socialists, and I did not speak out—

Because I was not a Socialist.

Then they came for the Trade Unionists, and I did not speak out—

Because I was not a Trade Unionist.

Then they came for the Jews, and I did not Speak out—

Because I was not a Jew.

Then they came for me—and there was no one left to speak for me.

Was not real when it was written, because the Holocaust did not actually happen.

But it is real now.

And they will come for all of you after they've gotten away with taking me offline.

This is a monster that is always hungry.

And it isn't going to stop.

All of you supposed "free speech advocates" need to ask yourselves what is going to happen when they shut you down.

Molyneux, you are dependent on YouTube. They could shut that down any minute now. Then you fall back on your own website. And then ICANN takes that away. Then like me, you are an unperson.

Alex – they'll take the rest of the Alt-Right first, but how long do you think it will be before Infowars.com is declared to edgy to be on the internet by your beloved "private companies" who are not subject to government regulation?

Six months?

A year?

It isn't going to be long.

You'd better stand up now – because when they come and take you away, there isn't going to be anyone left to speak for you.

You people need to start calling for the US government to regulate ICANN, or start providing alternate means to get a website on the internet. And you need to start doing that quickly.

2.4 Assange Links Article in Support of Daily Stormer – This Isn't Good Enough, Julian

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

Julian Assange Tweeted an article from Unz.com from a Russian speaking out in support of Daily Stormer.

Revealing: How a Russian nationalist sees the current crackdown against US right wing/nativist/neo-nazi web sites <https://t.co/QytCpItdlG>

— Julian Assange August 21, 2017

Interestingly, the article wasn't so much "yeah Nazis are evil but we have to protect free speech" as much as "well, these Nazis sort of have a point."

Which is good.

But I don't really even care about that. I am not asking for Julian Assange to endorse White Nationalism, and certainly not the fake media meme of "Neo-Nazi White Supremacy."

What I am asking him to do is rally around me on principle, because what has happened to me – the unpersoning, the being forced onto the pedoweb – signals the death of the internet.

It doesn't matter who I am or what I believe or how offensive you may find my fat jokes.

What matters is free speech. Because if we lose that, there is nothing left but violence. Obviously, I don't say that promoting violence – I am just telling you, that is the inevitable outcome when speech is suppressed. It is a simple math equation. When people lose the ability to express themselves and their ideas through speech, they act out. And the government turns to violence to stop them. And then this escalates.

Of course, it was not technically the government that silenced me. But it was absolutely the government that failed to properly regulate these private companies, which we were simply supposed to trust to take care of us. Well, they have not taken care of us.

They have shut down our speech.

And I am just the beginning. These companies have lost their neutrality by banning me, and now anyone can be banned by simply saying "well you are supporting this."

Because now that they have banned someone, they are implicitly supporting anyone they don't ban. That is what is commonly known as "the slippery slope."

All of these people should be flipping out, talking about this non-stop – but they don't want to do it, because they don't want to be accused of supporting Nazis.

Well, look, guys – David French just supported me. He said "evil," "vile," etc. – but he said that I have to have free speech, or no one does.

That is all I'm asking for here.

Because free speech is more important to me than my own website is.

We need an Assange press conference. We need Jones to be on this nonstop. We need demonstrations in Silicon Valley.

We need a collective demand that ICANN be regulated.

And we need this now.

If we don't get dailystormer.com back online on the real internet very quickly, then this is game over for the internet.

I can live on pedoweb, because my core supporters are ride or die.

But the rest of these people cannot.

2.5 Austria: Brothel Buys Second Sex Doll After First One Becomes More Popular Than Real Women

Spartacus

Daily Stormer

August 22, 2017

The main attraction is that she doesn't whine about the "patriarchy"

I'd like to say that this is just the men's fault for being degenerates, but the truth is this is more the women's fault, for letting the kikes turn a huge portion of them into insufferable harpies that make humanoid cum buckets look attractive.

Daily Mail:

An Austrian brothel has bought a second sex doll after its first became more popular with customers than real women.

The unusual story of 'Fanny', a sex doll which has become the top-selling superstar of the Kontaktthof brothel in Vienna, became worldwide news in July.

Kontaktthof, which rents out sex doll Fanny for 80 euros (£72.90) per hour, now has a second sex doll due to the huge demand as Fanny is often completely booked for several days in a row.

I can't believe men would rather stick their dick in that thing than in the real deal.

Metro

Naked feminists stage screaming protest for violence against women

Nevermind...

Fanny, who is 5ft 1in and weighs 6st, has long blonde hairs and big breasts.

OMG so problematic!!! They made her White and pretty! Fuck's sake, it's CURRENT YEAR and sex dolls are still promoting White Supremacy!

Sex industry experts estimate that people with a fetish for sex dolls is an increasingly growing group, and that they expect more dolls to be made available by brothels.

Psychologist Gerti Senger explained why some men are more interested in sleeping with Fanny instead of a real woman.

Senger said: 'First, the man can do anything with the doll. Second, every intention is turned off, which can be a factor with a prostitute.'

Yet Senger, who is a co-chair at the Austrian Society for Sexual Research (OeGS), said that she was shocked by Fanny being more popular than real prostitutes and called it 'a real autistic tendency'.

Yeah, it's only the men's fault, sure... If it weren't for women becoming "free" and "independent," there wouldn't even be that many brothels to begin with. And the ones that would exist wouldn't have crap like this.

Feminist cunts and the kikes who hold their leashes are gonna destroy civilization itself if we don't destroy them first.

There are very few women out there who deserve respect, and none of them are feminists.

2.6 So After Firing Bannon, Trump's Taking Us Back to War with Afghanistan Because...

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

Wait, what?

We're going back to war with Afghanistan again?

Seriously?

Why?

Is it the Jews again?

RT:

Donald Trump's decision to intensify US involvement in Afghanistan represents a complete u-turn for the man who once backed troop withdrawal and blasted his White House predecessors for futile missions that were a "complete waste."

"Why are we continuing to train these Afghans who then shoot our soldiers in the back? Afghanistan is a complete waste. Time to come home!" Trump tweeted in 2012, criticizing Barack Obama's policy of gradual withdrawal of US troops from Afghanistan.

Four years later the multi-billionaire real estate tycoon and former reality TV star is in the White House and backing an even more muscular approach to Afghanistan than Obama did.

On Monday, Trump said that after studying the issue, he had reconsidered his original instinct to pull US forces out of the 16-year war in Afghanistan.

Trump's new Afghan plan is a complete flip-flop from the advice he once tweeted as a private citizen.

Between 2012 and 2013 Trump's Twitter tweeted regularly on Afghanistan. "Wasting our money" and a "speedy withdrawal" were two of the common themes expressed.

"We have wasted an enormous amount of blood and treasure in Afghanistan. Their government has zero appreciation. Let's get out!" he said.

In 2015, during his election campaign, Trump said of an attack in Afghanistan in which US troops were killed: "We are being led to the slaughter!"

In his latest speech, Trump announcing no deadlines would be set for withdrawing troops from Afghanistan, with no "rapid exit" from the war.

Honestly, I have no idea what's going on with Trump.

But the Bannon firing was always my redline. I no longer feel any obligations.

I was very happy with the way he defended us. But then some new pressure clearly came down on him, and he fired Steve and now he's announcing a new huge war in Afghanistan for – seriously, for what?

Why the fuck would we have a war in a country that shitty?

They're going to attack us?

Ride camels across the sea?

On Friday, Bannon said the Trump Presidency that WE VOTED FOR was over.

Weekly Standard:

"The Trump presidency that we fought for, and won, is over," Bannon said Friday, shortly after confirming his departure. "We still have a huge movement, and we will make something of this Trump presidency. But that presidency is over. It'll be something else. And there'll be all kinds of fights, and there'll be good days and bad days, but that presidency is over."

The the next Monday, we get a neocon war speech.

2.7 An Islamic Solution to an Islamic Problem: Sex Segregated Train Cars for Britain!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

The Paki gropers are not the problem: white people are the problem.

As Britain becomes more Islamic, so does its problems.

For instance: getting groped on a train by a total stranger.

Very, very Islamic problem.

It needs an Islamic solution.

RT:

Women-only train carriages should be introduced to tackle the recent spike in sexual offences, a Labour MP has said. The idea, however, has met with opposition.

Shadow fire minister Chris Williamson said it is worth reconsidering the idea after it was first suggested by Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn during his first leadership campaign in 2015.

Williamson raised the proposal on Twitter when he shared figures from the British Transport Police (BTP), which show sexual offences on UK transport networks have risen to 1,448 in 2016-17, up from 650 in 2012-13.

I'm no mathematician, but that is at least double the trouble for sluts on the tube.

"Complemented with having more guards on trains, it would be a way of combating these attacks, which have seen a very worrying increase in the past few years," Williamson told Politic-sHome.

"I'm not saying it has to happen, but it may create a safe space. It would be a matter of personal choice whether someone wanted to make use of it."

The idea was widely attacked when Corbyn proposed it two years ago during the Labour leadership race. His rivals, particularly Yvette Cooper and Liz Kendall, exploited the spat to undermine his campaign.

The measure has yet again met with hostility, both within the Labour Party and beyond.

Labour MP for Walthamstow Stella Creasy argued it would "normalize" sexual harassment.

WRONG.

What it normalizes is an Islamic solution to the Islamic problem of sexual harassment.

And because Britain has decided to become an Islamic Caliphate, it needs Islamic solutions to these types of Islamic problems.

Doesn't keep women safe to restrict their movements-it normalises attacks. We need to be clear they are problem, not women's seating plans..

2.8 Oz: Homo Marriage Vote Disrupted by “Literal Nazis”

Spotted in Melbourne – Heffernan Lane. How is this for a unity moment? TurnbullMalcolm cityofmelbourne AdamBandt VicGovAu abcnews pic.twitter.com/syL7vqRJLK — Dan Leach-McGill (@DanLMcG) August 19, 2017

Seems pretty fact-based to me.

Homos are all about having a fair debate about their rights.

Unless, of course, this debate involves their opponents bringing facts documenting their sick lifestyle.

Then it becomes some sort of “hate crime.”

Huffington Post:

Malcolm Turnbull has been promising Australia a “respectful debate” when it comes to the postal plebiscite on marriage equality. But less than a fortnight after the Prime Minister confirmed the survey plan Melbourne has been hit with vile homophobic posters from a Nazi website citing thoroughly debunked research about sexual assault in LGBTQ families.

Pictures of a poster reportedly spotted in the heart of the Melbourne CBD popped up on Twitter over the weekend. The material, headed by the screaming headline STOP THE FAGS, pictures a young child cowering before two rainbow-coloured belts, seemingly about to be punished. The image, HuffPost Australia has learned, seems to trace back to the message board of a neo-Nazi website called Iron March, with one version of the poster bearing the website’s URL.

In case you needed the poster for... something.

How can we have a reasoned debate about anything if honest seekers of truth spreading simple facts get decried as “literal Nazis”?

The people putting up these posters obviously wanted to raise awareness about little-known research so the people can make informed political decisions. Yet that’s enough to send the entire country into a fit of rage, smdh.

While the headline and image are vile enough to warrant repudiation, the statistics claimed above are in a field of their own. The claims about child abuse, depression and obesity in LGBTQ families come from a thoroughly rubbished study from D. Paul Sullins, which was published in an open-access journal which requires authors to pay for publication.

Sullins' article — which claims children of LGBTQ families are at higher risk of suicide, depression and other health issues — was a study of just 20 children.

“The comparison sample comprised 20 unweighted cases of adolescents with same-sex parents, consisting of 17 lesbian partners and 3 gay male partners,” Sullins wrote.

As if we needed more evidence that bullydikes are committing child-abuse.

Not surprisingly, the article has been thoroughly and exhaustively discredited (as have other reports from Sullins on LGBTQ families), but the vile ‘STOP THE FAGS’ poster is not the only anti-marriage equality material which has so far been linked to far-right groups.

What evidence does HuffPo provide that this study has been “thoroughly discredited?” Two newspaper articles by Slate and The Atlantic. What’s wrong, you didn’t have any actual academics backing you up? Newspapers aren’t exactly a part of the “peer review” process, you scientific illiterates.

The reality is that a sample size of 20, while small, isn’t quite enough to disqualify the findings. Considering the effect size, the results are statistically very significant. And it’s not like there’s millions of kids raised by homo parents either, from which to get a bigger sample.

In any case, the best part in all this is that the prime minister has come out in defense of the posters, calling them “free speech.”

Turnbull was asked about homophobic campaign materials discovered at the weekend, including a poster found in Melbourne urging Australians to “stop the fags” and incorrectly claiming that children of gay parents disproportionately suffer abuse.

The prime minister said that Australian society “is built on a foundation of mutual respect, so I deplore disrespectful, abusive language whether it is directed at young gay people, or people of other religions, or people of other races”.

“That is part of a debate, the only way to stop people saying things that you find hurtful is to shut down free speech,” he said on Tuesday.

Needless to say, the fags are none too happy about this.

Their only argument is to repeat “you can’t stop love” over and over again and try to shame people into caving in to their perverted agenda. They have no evidence that they’re normal people – and when presented with proof of their degeneracy, they just claim “those studies have been debunked.”

If these people aren’t stopped, there’s only one place this is going to end.

2.9 Terrorist Mayor of London to Launch Thought-Police Dox-Squad

Adrian Sol

Daily Stormer

August 23, 2017

This is the dox-squad. One off-color joke on Twitter and they will wreck your shit, m8.

London is about the closest thing we have in our world to a dystopian cyberpunk metropolis. There are cameras on every street corner, the entire population was replaced by weird foreigners and the mayor is a Moslem terrorist for some reason.

Unhappy with the state of affair, they're kicking things up a notch with a new cyber-thought police.
BBC:

A police unit to help tackle online hate crime and provide better support for victims in London has been launched by the capital's mayor.

The Online Hate Crime Hub is made up of five specially trained Met police officers who will try to identify, prevent and investigate online abuse.

They'll be working hard to crush your freedoms, you filthy kaffir!

Sadiq Khan said officers would “work with community experts to develop the police's understanding of online hate”.

“Community experts” is probably a code-word for “Jews who are looking to clamp down on the goyim.

It is the first hub of its kind in the UK and will cost £1.7m over two years. It is being funded by the Met and the Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC), with £452,000 also being contributed by the Home Office Police Innovation Fund.

A cheap price to pay for finally being safe from mean words online, right?

Alternatively, we could hire people to read people's social media feed and print out only the politically correct posts to protect people's feelings. It could end up being cheaper in the long run.

Any online hate crimes reported to police in the capital, including abuse posted on Twitter and Facebook, will be looked into by the unit.

Officers will provide referrals to victim support groups and work with police in relevant boroughs to investigate.

City Hall said discussions were also under way with social media companies “to develop appropriate online sanctions for perpetrators of online hate”.

So they'll have your ass banned from Twitter on top of giving you a fine and jail time.

Classy.

But the reality is that we have a similar situation in America as well, even if the government can't shut down free speech like it could in Europe. What difference does it make if you get a fine from the government, or if mega-corporations conspire to get you fired and make your life hell?

The end result is the same.

We're fighting against people who hate us with every fiber of their being.

If they could, they would just have everyone who posts racist jokes on Twitter executed.

Never forget that.

2.10 Europe: Two “Knife of Peace” Incidents On the Same Day

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 25, 2017

Witnesses report the knife “emanating a holy light” and “feeling at peace” during the stabbing.

Why do Jihadists make use of knives and trucks as their primary tools?

While the answer has eluded many over the years, I think I've finally found the answer.

Moslems dump all their skill-points into “Knife” and “Truck” in the early levels, not realizing they'll eventually get better gear.

You're supposed to save those points until you're sure of your final build, dumbass!

Now they're stuck raiding our base with inferior gear.

I mean, even a upper-tier knife is pretty crappy.

0/10, would not Jihad with.

Washington Post:

Belgian federal police say soldiers have shot a man in downtown Brussels after he attacked the troops with a knife.

Belgian Federal Police spokesman, Jonathan Pfunde says "a man armed with a knife attacked a group of soldiers. The soldiers fired at him and neutralized the individual." He declined to say whether the man was shot dead in the clash Friday night.

Belgium's anti-terror crisis center also said in a tweet the soldiers had "neutralized" the man and that the "situation is under control."

Belgian Prime Minister Charles Michel tweeted: "All our support is with our soldiers. Our security services remain on alert. We are following the situation closely."

This particular knife wielder, who I'm sure we'll soon learn was just a troubled youth with psychological problems, only managed to stab two soldiers before being taken out.

GAME OVER. Score: 0.

How did our other Akbar do?

The Express:

The Metropolitan Police said that the man has been arrested outside Buckingham Palace after he was first spotted by officers at 8.35pm outside the Royal residence.

A spokesman said: "A man has been arrested on suspicion of grievous bodily harm and assault on police.

"The man was stopped this evening, Friday 25 August at approximately 20:35 hours by officers at the Mall outside Buckingham Palace in possession of a knife.

"During the course of detaining him, two male police officers suffered minor injuries to their arm.

"The London Ambulance Service were called and they were treated at the scene. They have not been taken to hospital.

"No others persons have been reported injured.

GAME OVER. Score: 0.

It's terrible that we're getting attacked non-stop by these filthy invaders.

But it could be worse.

They could find an online build guide and start investing in "firearm handling" and "explosives" skills instead of wasting all their points into underwhelming abilities and equipment.

Then we'd really have to worry.

2.11 London: Allah Akbar Sword Attack on Buckingham Palace. Yawn.

UPDATE: Terror incident near Buckingham Palace – statement from Commander Dean Haydon <https://t.co/j0FF5ZyD71> pic.twitter.com/CYU0BvTNQV

— Metropolitan Police (@metpoliceuk) August 26, 2017

I'm old enough to remember 2 years ago when this would have been a top story on the Daily Stormer.

Now it's hardly even worth mentioning.

Islamic terrorist attacks are just part of European life.

As always, I have to note: the government does not claim to have a plan to stop this from happening and no longer claims that it will at any point stop happening. They have told the people, very straightforwardly, that it is just the price of diversity.

RT:

London Police say the man who attempted a sword attack outside Buckingham Palace repeatedly shouted “Allahu Akbar” before he was taken down by officers with pepper spray.

The Metropolitan Police confirmed that Friday's events outside the palace of the British monarchy is being treated as a terrorist incident.

The altercation unfolded just after 8:30pm when a man driving a blue Toyota Prius was confronted by officers in a restricted area on Constitution Hill.

The driver of the vehicle is alleged to have reached for a four-foot sword before he managed to be immobilized by police using CS spray. Three Metropolitan police officers received minor injuries during the incident.

A 26-year-old man from the Luton area has been arrested on suspicion of grievous bodily harm, and is being held on terrorist charges, according to a Met Police statement.

“Officers from the Counter Terrorism Command are now investigating and searches are being carried out in the Luton area today [Saturday],” said Commander Dean Haydon, of the Met's Counter Terrorism Command.

“We believe the man was acting alone and we are not looking for other suspects at this stage. While we cannot speculate on what the man was intending to do – this will be determined during the course of the investigation – it is only right that we investigate this a terrorist incident at this time.”

I'm still not clear on what the difference between a brown person attacking people for Allah and a brown person attacking just because they hate white people is. In fact, they appear to be the exact same thing, with “Allah” simply being a collective manifestation of the racial soul of a bunch of brown people, in the same way that Yahweh is a manifestation of the Jewish racial soul.

Religious wars are really ethnic wars.

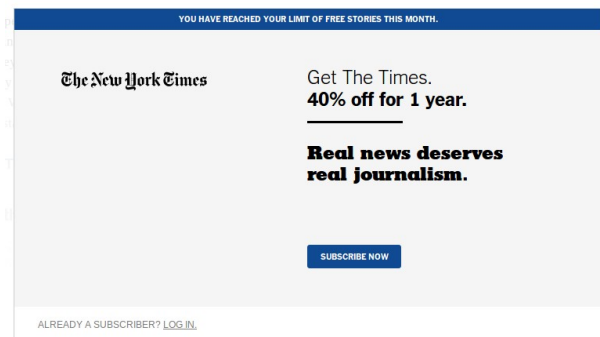

We remain animals, even though we are speaking animals who engage in various rituals.

3.2 Secret Service to Just Let Trump Family Die Because They “Ran Out of Money”

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 21, 2017

“The president is in danger? Wish I could help, but this ain’t a charity!”

The deep state’s conspiracy to undermine Trump is intensifying to ridiculous, clown-world levels.

What we’ve got now is a ridiculous media spectacle obviously meant to justify lowering the security precautions put in place to insure the safety of the president and his family.

What else could this be if not an attempt at blackmail?
Washington Post:

The Secret Service said Monday that it has enough money to cover the cost of protecting President Trump and his family through the end of September, but after that the agency will hit a federally mandated cap on salaries and overtime unless Congress intervenes.

If lawmakers don’t lift the cap, about a third of the agency’s agents would be working overtime without being paid, agency officials said.

In other words, Trump’s safety is dependent on congress, which is almost completely unified against him.

Trump’s family is now at the mercy of people like this.

“The Secret Service estimates that roughly 1,100 employees will work overtime hours in excess of statutory pay caps during calendar year 2017,” Director Randolph “Tex” Alles said in a statement. “To remedy this ongoing and serious problem, the agency has worked closely with the Department of Homeland Security, the Administration, and the Congress over the past several months to find a legislative solution.”

Yeeeeesssss. A “legislative” solution. A solution which would involve Trump negotiating with his enemies and forming compromises, with his family’s life weighing in the balance.

I wonder who thought of this?

The spending limits are supposed to last through December, but the cost of protecting the president and members of the extended first family, who have traveled extensively for business and vacations, has strained the Secret Service, local governments and at least one other federal agency, the Coast Guard.

Presidential travel for Trump and the first lady — who fly to their oceanfront Mar-a-Lago Club in Palm Beach, Fla., and to their golf club in Bedminster, N.J., on many weekends — has added costs for taxpayers and complications for the government. The Secret Service also must provide protection for Trump's four adult children.

"You better calm down, there Trump. You wouldn't want anything to happen to your kids, now, would you?"

"We're just concerned about you. We trust you'll make the right choice."

The government is now straight-up acting like the mafia, and no one in the MSM is even taking notice.

This is war.

3.3 250,000 Sign Petition to Declare Antifa a Terrorist Group

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

Obviously, Antifa is a domestic terrorist group. We've known this since at least the inauguration.

They are an organized group that purposefully uses political violence, in an organized manner, to cause fear. They are the textbook definition of terrorists.

But instead of them being labeled terrorists, our Jew mediarchy is calling for the Alt-Right to be labeled a terror group. Because some kid got road rage after Antifa attacked his car with bats.

RT:

In less than a week, one quarter of a million Americans have signed a petition to have President Donald Trump officially classify the "Antifa" group a terrorist organization, accusing them of violence at demonstrations and incitement to kill police.

Using the petition website originally set up by the Obama administration, the petition calls for labeling Antifa terrorists due to the group's "violent actions in multiple cities and their influence in the killings of multiple police officers throughout the United States." It also compares Antifa to Islamic State (IS, formerly ISIS/ISIL).

The petition was launched Thursday amid threats by Antifa against speakers and attendees of the free speech rally in Boston, Massachusetts, which was scheduled for Saturday. The rally's libertarian organizers had been denounced as white supremacists and neo-Nazis — a charge they have emphatically denied.

In the end, Boston police kept some 40,000 protesters away from the small gathering of free speech activists. Though the majority of demonstrators were peaceful, at one point the police had to plead that individuals stop "throwing urine, bottles and other harmful projectiles" at their officers.

These people really are the lowest fucking filth on the planet.

Who throws piss at people?

Not even Moslems do that. Or anything close to that. It is beyond the pale.

Because unlike the Moslems, who do terrorism for the glory of their race and for their god and because of a divine orgy in the afterlife and because they just generally do not give a fuck (you gotta give em that), Antifa do terrorism because of estrogen-overload driving them to hysteria.

Look at them.

Look up more pictures.

They are all either fat or skinny and they get led around by women who should be raped. If those antifa had any testosterone, they would man-up and rape those women leading them instead of following their orders to throw piss on people like a bunch of deranged sickos.

Because as every DS reader is aware: the only solution to feminism is rape.

For their part, Boston Antifa activists made it clear that they weren't just objecting to the free speech rights of neo-Nazis, but a wide range of political opinions they disagreed with.

After that, outraged Americans signed the petition against Antifa in droves. By Monday, it hit the 100,000 signature threshold required for the White House to officially respond to it. The Trump administration has not commented on the petition yet.

Though Antifa has been active for years, the group stepped into the limelight in 2016, when its activists engaged in violence at protests against Trump, who was running for president on the Republican ticket.

The group was thrust into the limelight last week, after Antifa activists clashed with an "alt-right" rally in Charlottesville, Virginia that included neo-Nazis, white nationalists and Ku Klux Klan members. After the rally, a car driven by a white nationalist crashed into a crowd of counter-protesters, killing one woman and injuring 19 other people.

Having denounced the KKK, the neo-Nazis and racists, Trump called out Antifa as well, referring to them as the "alt-left."

You know who leads Boston Antifa?

That's right – none other than the big boy himself: BG Kumbi.

Alt-Right main leaders like Jason Kessler and Richard Spencer.

A fucking powerhouse of chaos.

Recently, he deleted all of the videos on his YouTube channel.

He also took down his Twitter.

Allegedly, he's going "underground" to the pedoweb where the Daily Stormer has been forced to live to "do battle with us on our home turf."

I can't confirm that.

3.4 Hostile Anti-Speech Activists at Namecheap Issue Eighth-Assed Apology for Crushing Freedom

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 22, 2017

Namecheap: You're going to get more moral depth from a cheap hooker.

The anti-freedom activist domain registrar Namecheap, having banned DailyStormer.lol because they think we are mean people, has issued a weird type of apology.

Half-assed would be an overstatement by at least four-fold. This is at best an eighth-assed apology.

Understand: Namecheap is a company which marketed itself on the idea that it supports the First Amendment. Then, they shut down our .lol based on a purposeful misinterpretation of this sarcastic statement, made in some Daily Stormer article somewhere at some point:

It doesn't take a Ph.D. in mathematics to understand that White men + pride + organization = Jews being stuffed into ovens.

They did not provide context for the quote, but the thing is: it doesn't need any context. It is obviously sarcastic/satirical.

A key point that we make is that the Jews claim that white people defending their own interests leads to Jews being Holocausted. They have made this argument since the war. They have also claimed that the traditional nuclear family leads to Jews being exterminated. That was written in Frankfurt School member Theodore Adorno's "The Authoritarian Personality." This is the basis for the Jewish project to destroy the family: they believe that if normal families exist, they will be gassed.

We have made it a point to mock this concept. We mock all sorts of Jewish concepts – we are engaged in a type of reverse critical theory. Or an untangling of critical theory, which is a noose tied around the neck of civilization.

Namecheap claimed to have studied our site in depth. If they had done that, they would understand that we use humor to mock ruling ideological dogmas. So either they lied about studying the site or they lied about believing that this quote amounted to “incitement of violence,” but it doesn’t matter either way, because even if it was simply stated straightforwardly – as in “we are literally planning to exterminate the Jews, in real life, using ovens” – it would still be First Amendment protected speech in these United States.

SCOTUS ruled in Brandenburg v. Ohio that in order for an incitement to violence to be illegal speech it must contain an imminent threat.

So Namecheap has blown their whole gimmick in order to pursue an absurd social justice agenda. I hope the company collapses. Whatever you believe about my beliefs, you should pull your domains from this company, now. Because they are working to destroy freedom of speech in this country in order to press a far-left political agenda.

Their apology was issued as an addendum to their original blog explaining why they dropped us:

Emphasis mine.

Addendum:

I woke up this morning feeling conflicted about our decision to pull down this domain. The fact is, this should have never had to be our decision. Yes the domain fits into our description of what constitutes incitement of violence and I believe that their violation of our ToS would hold up in a court of law. In reality, it was just the morally right thing to do here as this type of hateful speech and veiled call to violence really has no place on this Earth.. That is my personal belief and I would make the same decision again but it is just that, my personal opinion and a business decision. But is this the right thing for freedom of speech and should a registrar be the one making this decision? I don’t think so. In a perfect world, a registrar should be able to remain neutral in these situations regardless of public opinion but the fact of the matter is that this cannot happen in reality. Any business cannot operate under these circumstances due to the mob mentality and the nature of our current politics. As you well know, on the Internet, the truth can be turned and twisted and used as a tool to fit into any one group’s narrative.

Let me be frank here and I’ll repeat, this was the right decision for the human race but it was also an existential threat for our company. While I feel I made the right decision, I also thought about what this meant for us as a business. What it would mean for the dream we have to deliver everything we’ve imagined for the future of our platform to solve customer problems. More importantly, I thought about our 1100 team members that directly depend on this company for their livelihood and our millions of customers that depend on us for stability and peace of mind that we are keeping their domains safe. With these things in mind and as a leader of a company that has a direct responsibility to do what is best for our customers and our people, could I have made any other decision here? I don’t think I could have and therein lies the problem.

Registrars need a set of guidelines just as the internet does that empowers or requires them to remain neutral and a clear judicial process to solve these types of issues quickly and effectively. These matters should not be solved in the courts of public opinion because public opinion is not always right. I’ll refer you to a quote I read in an excellent piece written by our friends at the Electronic Frontier Foundation: “All fair-minded people must stand against the hateful violence and aggression that seems to be growing across our country. But we must also recognize that on the Internet, any tactic used now to silence neo-Nazis will soon be used against others, including people whose opinions we agree with. Those on the left face calls to characterize the Black Lives Matter movement as a hate group. In the Civil Rights Era cases that formed the basis of today’s protections of freedom of speech, the NAACP’s voice was the one attacked.” This is a powerful statement that clearly shows the dangers of compromising on freedom of speech. Depending on who is in power, it could be your belief system or community that is seen to be the evil one next.

The fact is, that all of us are walking a dangerous tightrope and this has the ability to morph into something that is much more evil than even these hateful Nazis we are dealing with today. At the very least, they are a vocal and an easy target that is in plain view that is easily countered. The real danger in my opinion is what lies invisible yet is the most dangerous force that anyone of us will ever know. That is the insidious and dangerous force of power. The power to control our thoughts, our privacy, our opinions and most importantly our speech that lies within the dark nature of absolute power itself and takes over seemingly well meaning politicians, presidents, governments, movements that then use this power against us. This is the real danger that we must all be watchful for.

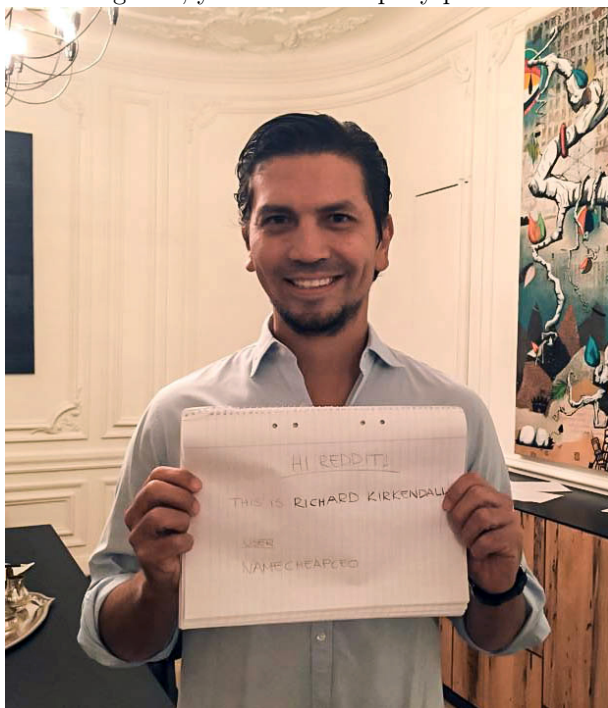

In the end we all have a part and a responsibility to insure that everyone has a voice and platform to share their thoughts and beliefs as long as it allows for basic human and animal rights, even if it makes us feel uncomfortable. This is and should be a human right in and of itself.

Sincerely,

Richard Kirkendall
CEO, Namecheap

I don't even think Richard Kirkendall is Jewish. He did this purely for social signaling purposes. Then he regretted it when he realized that the basis of his company was freedom of speech, and he just flushed that down the toilet. Now we can call on him to ban all sorts of people based on whatever.

And he's right about his 1100 employees being in danger of losing their jobs – when your gimmick is free speech and you're in the entire media for a decision to crush free speech on the grounds that a sarcastic joke is an incitement to violence and you flagrantly violate your own ToS in front of the whole world in order to pursue a far-left Bolshevik agenda, you have a company problem.

Richard “Assassin of Freedom” Kirkendall

And how dare he quote EFF – try to associate himself with them?

Where did you get that nerve, Richard?

EFF is defending me, because they are smart enough to know that the slippery slope is real and that the monster that you, GoDaddy, Google, Cloudflare and however many others have unleashed through this exile of me to the pedoweb is a monster that is always hungry.

And trust me, we are going to take advantage of it.

I'm getting a list of site's registered on your service, and we're going to see what you do support.

Because by giving up absolute neutrality out of some kind of bizarre fear that you would be implicitly endorsing the Daily Stormer if you kept us on, you are now EXPLICITLY endorsing everything in your registrar.

So we're going to see what kind of politics you EXPLICITLY endorse, what type of porno you EXPLICITLY endorse – all of the rest of it.

And we're going to publish that list in one of our Samizdat. And we're going to pass it around – “things that Richard Kirkendall, CEO of Namecheap, EXPLICITLY endorses.”

3.4.1 The Most X-Treme Fucking, Courtesy of Namecheap Speech Crushers

What's next, Kirkendall? Are you going to use your personal funds to contract MS-13 to hunt me down and chop my head off? Will you hire Jews to sacrifice my first born son to Moloch? Where does the Namecheap silencing-machine draw the line?

It needs to be said that your domains are the opposite of safe with Namecheap. Not only did they ban me, but they tried to fuck me in the most extreme was possible.

What this sonovabitch Richard Kirkendall did was immediately put the site up for sale, in the middle of the night. The purpose of this was to try and allow some antifa or otherwise communist group to buy the domain and put something offensive to my readership on there (judging from precedent, this probably would have been interracial homosexual pornography).

Thank God a friend of mine was awake to buy the domain.

If he was going to fuck me because he thought a joke was just too edgy, the least he could have done is put my domain on hold and allowed me to move it.

The company has also refused to issue a refund.

So whether or not you care about free speech or not, understand that if Richard Kirkendall doesn't think a joke you make is funny, he will fuck you out of money and he will put your domains up for sale so that your political enemies or your business competitors or whoever else can buy the domains and use your traffic for their own purposes.

Namecheap is not just an anti-speech activist group, they are a criminal cartel.

This is who controls what you are allowed to think and say – people who will not only purposefully and/or out of complete stupidity misinterpret your jokes and make outrageous accusations against you and shut down your speech, but will also keep your money you gave them based on a promise of free speech in their ToS and then for no conceivable reason other than pure nastiness try to sell your domain to your adversaries.

3.5 Man Stabbed by Antifa for Having a Fashy Haircut

The average antifa

When Soros is sending his antifa, he's not sending his best...

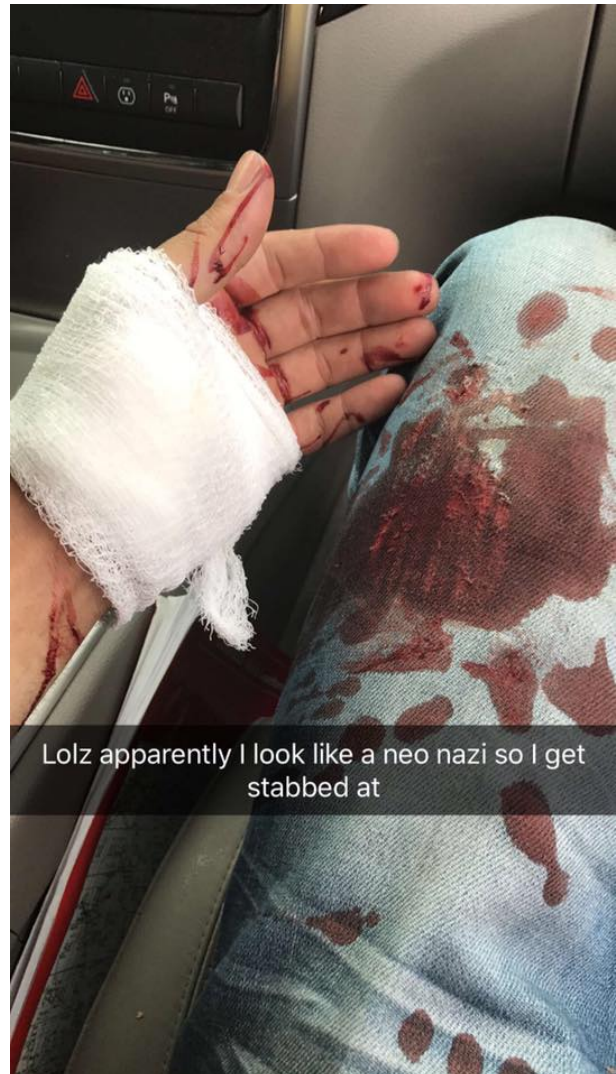

Fox News:

A “confused anti-fascist” swung a knife towards the face of a man with a haircut similar to the one popular with white nationalists.

“Confused,” eh? Not “hate-filled,” “hate-driven,” “vile,” “ignorant,” “brainwashed” or any of the other things that James Fields Jr. was called when he hit the gas because he was surrounded by a bunch of imbeciles exactly like this one who were attacking his car?

If I were stupid enough to not realize that this is a zero-sum game that ends in either us walking over their corpses, or them walking over ours – I’d complain about the double standard.

Joshua Witt, 26, was getting out of his car at Steak 'n Shake in Sheridan, Colorado when a man ran over to him yelling, “Are you one of them neo-Nazis?” The man aimed for his head over his car door, but Witt blocked the blow with his hand, which needed three stitches.

The haircut of HATE

One of the comments said the attacker was a nigger, but I couldn’t find anything about that on any of the sites I looked at (a coincidence, of course, it’s not like they deliberately hide stuff like this all the time).

"I threw my hands up and once the knife kind of hit, I dived back into my car and shut the door and watched him run off west, behind my car."

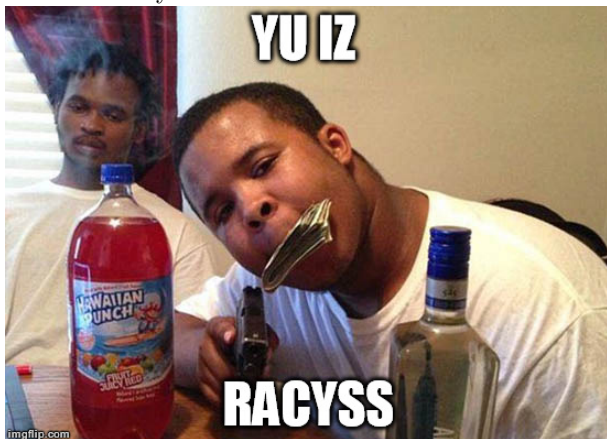

Witt, who is in no way a neo-Nazi, joked that he believes it was indeed his haircut that confused the anti-fascist, and said he's considering changing his style. He has no other marks that would make his attacker mistake him for a white nationalist, he said.

"Apparently, my haircut is considered a neo-Nazi statement," he told The New York Post.

You're in a war, bud. It's not official yet, and still relatively low in intensity, but that's what you're in. Your skin is your uniform, and the sooner you realize that, the less likely you are to get killed in it.

You were attacked because you're White, it's that simple.

If you can't understand that, then we'd probably be better off with you dead.

3.6 Several Die After USS John McCain Gets a Brain Tumor

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

Did anyone really expect that a boat named after John McCain wouldn't have problems?

I sure as hell wouldn't want to serve on that ship.
RT:

The US Pacific Fleet commander says the remains of sailors have been found in a compartment of the destroyer USS John S. McCain, which was flooded after a collision with a merchant vessel off the coast of Singapore.

"The divers were able to locate some remains in those sealed compartments during their search today," Admiral Scott Swift said at a news conference in Singapore on Tuesday.

He said that the search and rescue operation will go on "until the probability of discovering sailors is exhausted."

"Additionally, the Malaysian Navy has reported that they have found potential remains," Scott stated, adding that Malaysia is yet to provide further details.

American and Singaporean vessels, supported by airplanes and helicopters, have carried out a search and rescue operation for 10 missing crew members of the McCain in an area spanning 2,620 sq km (1,010 square miles) in Southeast Asian waters. Malaysia and Australia are also assisting in the search, with the former searching the northern reaches and the latter looking in the south.

The 505ft-long McCain collided with a 600ft oil and chemical tanker, the Alnic MC, near the coast of Singapore on Monday, injuring five American sailors and leaving 10 missing.

I think it is only appropriate to hold John McCain personally responsible for this.

more than 200 murders linked to users of the Daily Stormer over the years, but sure, pretend this is about free speech.

— Dan Arel August 19, 2017

A blue checkmark (aka yellow star) tweeter has claimed that 200 murders are linked to "users of the Daily Stormer over the years," and implied that this is why the site was kicked off of the real internet and into pedoweb.

Firstly, the sites users have not been linked to 200 murders. That is insane. The SPLC claims Dylann Roof posted here, and that swordsman in NYC allegedly said he liked the site. So that's ten.

Also, that concept is nonsensical.

How many political assassination attempts have been linked to users of the SPLC? More than the Daily Stormer, I can tell you that.

Secondly – and more importantly – the reasons have already been given for why I was shut down, and they were not because my readers killed over 200 people. I was shut down in the wake of Charlottesville because of a Twitter mob.

Each company gave an official reason.

- GoDaddy : “Making fun of a dead fat woman is too much and somehow if you make fun of a dead fat woman you might be inspiring people to kill others somehow.”
- Google : “ToS violation” (this was a lie, there was nothing in the ToS about content).
- 101Domains/the Chinese (for .wang): “ToS violation” (may have actually existed, dunno).
- Cloudflare : “They are assholes” (internal memo), “they said we are also Nazis” (unsourced claim in official blog post).
- Russians : “National hatespeech laws.”
- Namecheap : “We think this sarcastic joke about Jewish paranoia is inciting violence somehow I guess.”

Not a single one of these people claimed I was being shut down because my readers killed 200 people, even though that would have sounded a lot better (issue is it is easily proven false).

3.7.1 Why Am I Talking About This?

Yes, I get that this is some random guy on Twitter. I have no idea who “Dan Arel” is, and presumably no one does, save probably his mother and his landlord.

Dan, that excess 50 lbs of lard you're carrying around actually causes your body to create estrogen. It is flooding your brain. That means you think like a woman.

The reason I am drawing attention to this is that it is standard leftist behavior now. They have no arguments, so they are incapable of pushing their agenda by making arguments in good faith.

So instead, they just make stuff up, seemingly randomly.

As I have said: The reason the Daily Stormer was shut down is because the left has already lost the battle of ideas. It's over. We won.

So now the only remaining option to try and keep dominance over the public is to shut down all dissenting voices, and then make-up goofy stories as to why they are doing it.

3.8 Valerie Plame Launches $1 Billion GoFundMe to Buy Twitter So She can Ban Donald Trump

Lee Rogers

It really sucks that this nutty woman Valerie Plame is back in the news. Did we just time travel back to the early 2000s? If so, hit me up on MySpace, it's a cool new site that lets you post stuff on the tubes.

Remember Valerie Plame? [No...-AA]

She's back in the news.

She has launched a $1 billion GoFundMe to buy Twitter for perhaps the dumbest reason imaginable.

Sputnik:

Valerie Plame Wilson, the former deep-cover CIA agent who became the center of a major scandal in 2003 when higher-ups in the Bush administration outed her, has started a GoFundMe to buy a controlling share of Twitter – so she can ban US President Donald Trump from it.

“Donald Trump has done a lot of horrible things on Twitter,” reads Wilson’s plea for 1 billion dollars. “From emboldening white supremacists to promoting violence against journalists, his tweets damage the country and put people in harm’s way. But threatening actual nuclear war with North Korea takes it to a dangerous new level.”

So she’s doing this because she fears that Trump’s use of Twitter might lead to all sorts of disasters including a nuclear war with North Korea. Trump is also a racist and racists can’t have access to Twitter according to this crazy woman. She seems to think that the only people who should be allowed on Twitter are Jews, feminists and social justice warrior faggots. A logical position but definitely one I have issue with.

What’s amazing is that there are people actually donating to this ridiculous campaign even though there is no chance in hell that $1 billion will be raised. It is the latest in the long line of many retarded public relations stunts by our political enemies.

Maybe we should launch a GoFundMe to buy Facebook so Mark Zuckerberg can’t have a Facebook account. I would argue that Zuckerberg and his terrible Jew operation represent one of the greatest threats to human freedom. Or wait, we can’t start a GoFundMe because we’ve been banned from using it. GoFundMe is also a Jew run operation.

This is just craziness. Why do these people even exist?

What kind of criminal insanity would allow this?

We have two major problems in America.

First, we’re flooded with obese women who refuse to hit the gym or stop shoving food into their gaping maws.

Second, these fatties have such hatred for men and general decency that they frequently wear pantyhoses, leggings and other tight clothing. The only reason they would possibly do this is to commit visual assault on all onlookers, doing untold damage to men’s psyches in the process.

How is this even allowed?

I blame the Jews.

Which reminds me, we actually have three major problems in America.

Fatties, tight pants and Jews.

Chicago Tribune:

Welcome to a Tale of Two Dress Codes, a modern tale that unfolds during the Leggings Revolution.

It’s nonfiction.

In South Carolina, high school Principal Heather Taylor is accused of telling high school girls not to wear leggings if they’re larger than a size 2.

Does this even need to be a policy? It should simply be common sense in a sane world.

Even size 2 is pushing it, tbh.

“I’ve told you this before, I’m going to tell you this now,” Taylor allegedly told students at a dress code assembly this week. “Unless you are a size zero or 2 and you wear something like that, even though you’re not fat, you look fat.”

Worst of times.

Someone audio recorded the assembly and shared that bit with a local NBC affiliate. Parents and students are justifiably outraged.

Fattie outrage squad... Roll out!

Personally, I’m outraged that obese girls are even allowed to leave the house.

Meanwhile, over in the best of times ...

Evanston Township High School has released an updated dress code for the school year that starts Monday, and it explicitly prohibits decisions and language that shame students.

It begins: “Staff shall enforce the dress code consistently and in a manner that does not reinforce or increase marginalization or oppression of any group based on race, sex, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, ethnicity, religion, cultural observance, household income or body type/size.”

This is total insanity.

What’s next? Are we going to allow fat women to wear makeup, while we’re at it?

I’m getting nightmares tonight. I can feel it.

Under the new code, students may wear hats, hoodies, tank tops and spaghetti straps — all items barred under the old dress code.

Students may not wear clothing containing violent language or images, images or language that depict drug or alcohol use, or clothing that includes hate speech, profanity, pornography or hostility toward marginalized groups.

Leggings are fine.

In other words, students can’t have clothes that hurt the feelings of minorities, yet fatties can mentally scar the entire male population with their disgusting bodies?

Sick.

Look, ladies. If you’re not squatting twice your body-weight on the regular, your ass doesn’t belong in a pair of leggings. Period.

Exhibit A.

And gentlemen. If you're not traveling the galaxy fighting aliens with your psychic powers, you certainly don't belong in leggings either.

Exhibit B.

It's about time we, as a society, come together and agree to just ban leggings completely – unless you get a special “shapely butt” or “galactic superhero” exemption permit.

It's just the humane thing to do.

3.10 Chinese Vampire Steals Millions of White Tax Dollars

Hin Wong.

This blood-sucking hellspawn committed fraud in order to refurbish its lair and get plastic surgery to attempt to hide its identity. Unfortunately, not even the best Jew surgeon – a relative of the Asian vampire – could hide the complexion of the beast.

Even though she almost looks White, this sure sign of vampirism lead to its swift capture.

New York Post:

Hin Wong, 49, allegedly operated three pharmacies that paid kickbacks to patients to fill their HIV/AIDS prescriptions, which Medicaid reimburses at $2,000 a month, according to state Attorney General Eric Schneiderman's office.

Wong then auto-filled the prescriptions and billed Medicaid for them between July 2014 and August 2017, but never actually provided the pills, authorities said.

A financial audit allegedly revealed that the pharmacies did not purchase enough medication to support the $15 million for which they billed Medicaid and other insurers.

They claim she spent the proceeds on travel, designer furniture, plastic surgery and shopping sprees at luxury stores, including Louis Vuitton and Prada.

On top of any other COMPLETELY LEGAL training you are currently doing, I would suggest learning how to properly bless silvered knives and utilize wooden stakes to help stop the tide of these monsters.

4 Jewish Problem

4.1 Jews Tell Negroes They're Not Jewish

Diversity Macht Frei

> Who is a Jew? According to a Jewish messianic group from America, you > can find out for only $300 with a private DNA test. And according to > this test, the Jewish genetic family does not include Igbo people of > Nigeria, a tribe of 30 million who have claimed a connection to > Judaism for hundreds of years. > > In a move that has garnered condemnation and anger from Nigerian Jews > and international scholars, Jewish Voice Ministries, a messianic group > from Arizona, announced this week that the Igbo are not “genetically” > Jewish based on their private DNA tests. > > Jewish Voice Ministries said they traveled to Nigeria to investigate > claims that the Igbo people are descendants of ancient Israelites. > Some Igbo believe that the term “Igbo” is a bastardized version of the > word “Hebrew” and point to many cultural similarities between Igbo > traditions and Judaism. > > “The purpose of the tests was to provide them with testing and the > pursuit of truth in terms of historical identity,” said a spokesman > for Jewish Voice Ministries. “The DNA did not support their claim to > be an ancient people of Israel, but we still consider them our > brothers through common faith in the Messiah Yeshua.”

Source

Because these negroes aren't genetically Jewish, they won't get any more money. The Jewish Voice only dispenses charity to people who have the “right” genes.

The Jewish Voice Ministry also provides medical care and services to international communities as part of its social outreach. In March, the head of Jewish Voice, Jonathan Bernis, told the Forward that the organization will base their medical outreach to Nigeria on the results of the test.

“We go to areas with a Jewish population or people who are historically tied to the Jewish people to provide aid,” Bernis told The Forward. “The result of the DNA testing would determine what degree of service we provide going forward.”

These messianic Jews seems to be Jews who accept Jesus (Yeshua) as a Jewish prophet, but otherwise preserve the obsessive ethnocentrism that lies at the heart of Judaism.

4.2 World's Oldest Man, a Jewish Holocaust Survivor, Dies at 113

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
August 12, 2017

The secret of health and longevity: surviving a Holocaust adds decades to your life!

Bad news, everyone.

Yisrael Kristal, a Polish-born Jew who died more than 20 times during the Holocaust, has died again at the age of 113 – and this time, it looks as though the death was permanent.

BBC:

The world's oldest man – the only member of his immediate family to survive the Holocaust – has died at the age of 113.

Polish-born Yisrael Kristal died on Friday, a month before he was due to turn 114, Israeli media reported.

Mr Kristal, who lived in Haifa, Israel, hit the headlines last year after deciding to celebrate his bar mitzvah a century late.

The original celebration had not taken place because World War One broke out.

Mr Kristal was born in the village of Zarnow, about 90 miles (146km) south-west of Warsaw, in 1903.

The son of a religious scholar, Mr Kristal lost his mother and father during World War One, according to reports. He later moved to Lodz to work in the family confectionery business.

After the invasion of Poland by Nazi Germany in 1939, Mr Kristal and his family were moved into the Lodz ghetto.

His two children died there and Mr Kristal and his wife Chaja Feige Frucht were sent to Auschwitz in 1944 after the ghetto was liquidated.

Mr Kristal's wife was murdered in Auschwitz but he survived, performing slave labour in that and other camps. When he was found by the Allies in May 1945 he weighed just 37 kg (5 stones 11 lbs).

According to Tablet Mag, he thanked the Soviet soldiers who rescued him by making them sweets.

The sole survivor from his family, Mr Kristal emigrated to Israel in 1950 with his second wife and their son, where he continued to run his confectionery business until his retirement.

Mr Kristal was officially recognised as the world's oldest man by the Guinness Book of Records in March 2016.

The Auschwitz-Birkenau death camp. Notice the chimneys emerging from the grass, which suggest that the Nazis built hundreds of gas chambers underground too.

Wow, what a truly amazing life!

Can you imagine the atrocities that this Jew witnessed while awaiting death at an extermination camp?

Thousands of innocent Jews – whom the Nazis deliberately targeted because they were innocent – being gassed daily in chambers whose doors were made of the finest wood?

Countless gypsies, homosexuals and other “undesirables” being forced out of the outdoor swimming pool early because the commandant thought it might rain?

Truly wicked stuff.

Yet, by G-d's grace, Yisrael Kristal survived it all – unlike exactly six million of his fellow tribesmen.

Yisrael Kristal at 110.

You have to admit, he looked pretty good for his age, too. In fact, most Holocaust survivors seem to enjoy long, healthful lives.

A lot of German soldiers who fought in World War II suffered from missing limbs, shrapnel wounds and other signs of having lived through the most devastating war in world history. Yet, these lucky Jews always seem to be in good shape, despite enduring the most torturous death factories conceived by (Aryan) man.

I hope that when I reach old age, I'm as healthy as a Holocaust survivor.

4.3 Kikes Pressing Trump to Condemn Innocent Nazis Who were Attacked by Terrorist Cops and Leftist Terrorists

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 13, 2017

The entire Jewish media is doing 24 hour coverage of the Charlottesville event, simply lying about what happened and demanding that Trump condemn us as having started the violence.

Jews Jake Tapper and Wolf Blitzer are leading the charge. But the rest of the media is just as bad.

It is simply an objective fact that we did not start the violence. There can be absolutely no question about that.

The cops started the violence by breaking up our peaceful and legal rally, and then purposefully pushing us into a group of violent terrorists.

That is the reality. It is an objective truth, whatever your political beliefs might be. Your ideology does not change objective reality.

This is the standard fake news line. Everything has to be an inverse of reality.

I sincerely hope that the President does not cuck out on us on this one. He already said “hatred from both sides,” and that is plenty.

They are demanding he condemn us because they know that we are his most active and most adamant supporters. They also know how many of us there are. And they know that we are not that far from the rest of his base, which shares the belief that whites have a right to exist as a sovereign people.

What the media is doing is attempting to separate Trump from his core supporters. That is why they are pressing this issue, nonstop: that he must denounce us, and lie and say we were responsible for yesterday’s violent scene.

We did nothing wrong.

Even if it turns out that James Fields – who had road rage, he was not a “terrorist” – turns out to have been a member of Vanguard America, his action was the rest of the actions of the state. The attack on our rally. That is what began this violence. The cops denying us our Constitutional right to demonstrate.

It was a setup from the beginning.

Mr. President, do not cuck on us. We have been here for you this whole time. We have worked hard.

Don’t let these people force you into doing something you know is wrong.

4.4 London: Inbred Jewish Tapir Stabs Two People in Kike Neighborhood

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
August 13, 2017

Well, this is a nice change.

Jews usually stick to white collar crime, such as insurance fraud, stock market manipulation or siphoning billions of dollars from national economies because of events that were real in their minds.

But a Jew stabbing two people – presumably other Jews – in a Jewish neighborhood of London?

You don’t hear that too often.

Times of Israel:

UK police said they have caught and arrested a suspect in a double murder Friday in the London neighborhood of Golders Green following a media appeal for information.

Police had launched a manhunt for Joshua Cohen, 27, whom they said has paranoid schizophrenia, in the fatal stabbings of two women, a 66-year-old and a 33-year-old, at a home in the neighborhood in northwest London. The area has a large Jewish population.

On Saturday, police said a member of the public had spotted the suspect at Golders Hill Park and alerted authorities.

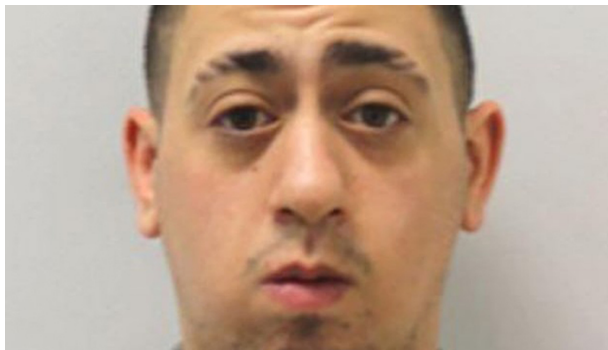

A police spokesman said earlier that UK police were working with the Community Security Trust (CST), a security company that runs patrols to protect the Jewish community, to locate Cohen. Police said he knew both women and that the victims were mother and daughter.

Detective Inspector Ian Lott, of the Met’s homicide and major crime command said Saturday: “Following a recent media appeal a discerning member of the public alerted police to a real time sighting and officers moved quickly to detain and arrest the man wanted for questioning shortly before 14:00hrs.”

“This was a devastating attack on two women in their homes,” Lott had said earlier, urging members of the public to come forward with any information they had.

Cohen was described as 5'9, last seen wearing a red Nike hoodie and white trainers. Detectives added that he had recently shaved his head and eyebrows.

Truly, a face that only a mother could love. In this case, that mother is Shub-Niggurath.

A Jew with a shaved head, you say?

Maybe Mr. Cohen is one of those self-hating Jews, like Ryan Gosling's character in The Believer.

Like American History X, The Believer – written and directed by a Jew – revealed a bit too much about the Jewish agenda, and probably ended up turning a lot of normies into White Supremacists.

Ultimately, I'm inclined to believe that Cohen is just insane, like most of these inbred tapirs roaming around Golders Green.

"Golders Green" is a great name for a Jewish area, btw.

4.5 Starbucks Managers Interview Somalis with Latent Tuberculosis for Jobs as Part of Jewish Chairman's Plan to Destroy America

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
August 13, 2017

All good entrepreneurs have a strong, uncompromising vision for their companies.

For example:

The White co-founder of Microsoft, Bill Gates, dreamed of a world in which every household had a personal computer.

The White co-founder of Apple, Steve Jobs, dreamed of a world in which computers were simple and elegant, making them accessible to the wider public.

The Jewish chairman of Starbucks, Howard Schultz, dreamed of a world in which 68 IQ Somalis with latent tuberculosis served overpriced coffee to genderfluid thots with problem glasses.

All three of these men succeeded in their goals.

Breitbart:

Recent arrivals from Somalia and other countries in sub-Saharan Africa were among the refugees interviewed for possible jobs by 30 Starbucks managers at a hiring event in El Cajon, California on Tuesday as part of the company's commitment to hire 10,000 refugees over the next five years.

The latent tuberculosis (TB) rate of 43 percent among refugees in San Diego County from sub-Saharan Africa is more than ten times greater than the latent TB rate of 4 percent found in the general population, according to a 2013 study from a research team led by Dr. Timothy Rodwell, "an associate professor and physician in the Division of Global Health at UCSD [University of California at San Diego]."

Rodwell's study "analyzed data from LTBI [latent tuberculosis infection] screening results of 4,280 refugees resettled in San Diego County between January 2010 and October 2012," and found that "[t]he prevalence of LTBI was highest among refugees from sub-Saharan Africa (43%) and was associated with current smoking and having a clinical comorbidity that increases the risk for active tuberculosis. Although refugees from sub-Saharan Africa had the highest prevalence of infection, they were significantly less likely to initiate treatment than refugees from the Middle East.”

...

Starbucks apparently does not include testing for latent tuberculosis infection (LTBI) as part of the “review and background check” of potential employees.

Ah, good ol’ TB.

Isn’t that one of those diseases that was becoming increasingly uncommon in First World countries, but is now making a SURPRISE COMEBACK thanks to the ongoing importation of millions of colorful coloreds who drink urine straight from the cow?

Well, at least they can claim they have experience of dispensing drinks.

You know, whenever I read stories like this one, I’m reminded that Jews almost always prioritize nation-wrecking above shekel-grubbing.

Howard Schultz is not stupid. He must know, on some level, that hiring thousands of Third World refugees will ruin the company he worked so hard to build – especially when those refugees are Somalis, which even Richard Dawkins has admitted are proof that Satan exists.

But Schultz doesn’t care, because he’s a Jew, and his unconscious tribal agenda overrides all other considerations.

Ah well, at least the interviews occurred in California, where there are no Whites to infect anyway. Hopefully

TB will spread like wildfire across that state, giving President Trump the perfect excuse to sever that gangrenous limb from the United States once and for all.

4.6 “Fuck Zuck 2020” Poster Creator Banned From Facebook

Lee Rogers

Daily Stormer

August 14, 2017

The Jewish Internet censor Mark Zuckerberg does not appreciate fine artwork like this.

The Jewish CEO Mark Zuckerberg is best known for his role in censoring people’s political views on the Internet.

It is not a surprise that people don’t like him. It is especially not a surprise that people would be opposed to him running for President in 2020. If he does run, he’ll probably ban the Facebook accounts of everyone who disagrees with him.

He’s started early by banning the Facebook account of a street artist who made “Fuck Zuck 2020” posters that were plastered around California cities.

The Hollywood Reporter:

“F*ck Zuck 2020” posters, the symbol after the “F” being a middle finger, were hung in various California cities.

The work of a conservative street artist known for skewering the liberal politics of celebrities and corporations has been deemed “hate speech” by Facebook, which shut his page down on Sunday.

The notice comes just days after the artist known as Sabo attacked Facebook founder and CEO Mark Zuckerberg with posters disparaging his alleged presidential aspirations. “F*ck Zuck 2020,” read the posters, the symbol after the “F” being a middle finger. They were hung in the dead of night last week in various California cities.

Clearly Zuckerberg has no sense of humor. If someone took the effort of putting up posters calling me bad names, I would find that to be a very hilarious thing. Zuckerberg on the other hand thinks this street artist wants to stuff him inside a wooden gas chamber.

It's OK Mark. I'd be sad too if I had to fuck that ugly Chinese wife of yours.

Having previously done some work in the San Francisco area, I ended up talking to some people who worked inside Facebook and actually met Zuckerberg. They said he was an asshole and was ultra paranoid about his personal safety. I 100 percent believe everything they told me about him based on how he runs Facebook.

And serious question here. Why the hell do so many people still use Facebook? Perhaps someone in the comments section can enlighten me – because every single time I visit a Facebook page it feels like a highly traumatizing experience.

Censorship aside, it has a lousy interface and terrible aesthetics yet it is one of the most highly visited websites in the world. This situation needs to end. The site should be nationalized and Zuckerberg should be arrested.

I'm with the street artist. Fuck Zuck.

4.7 Jews Fear Being Turned Into Lampshades After Charlottesville Rally

Zeiger

Daily Stormer

August 16, 2017

The torches symbolize the lamps we will adorn with Jew lampshades some day.

It doesn't take a PhD in mathematics to understand that White men + pride + organization = Jews being stuffed into ovens.

And since the Charlottesville rally shows a lot of all three ingredients, the Jews who somehow recovered from being turned into lampshades and soap in the 40's are justifiably worried that they'll experience the process all over again.

NBC News:

With its Nazi symbols and slogans, the white supremacist rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, over the weekend evoked painful feelings for many, especially survivors of the Holocaust.

"Looking at swastikas, neo-Nazis, hatred of Jews — and not just Jews, but African-Americans and Mexicans and Muslims — it's really troubling," said Michael Bornstein, who barely escaped alive from Auschwitz more than seven decades ago.

Can you begin to imagine how hard it is to play soccer while being a lampshade?

"To see this prejudice is still here is very troubling."

Bornstein, 77, a Polish native who now lives in New Jersey, was 4 years old when he was liberated from the infamous Nazi concentration camp in Germany. He only has fading memories of the horrors there: the smell of the ovens where bodies were cremated, the sound of soldiers' boots marching, the feeling of being starved nearly to death.

I'm sure his memory will be refreshed soon.

The Jews understand that nationalist feelings growing in the breast of the goyim will endanger their positions as social parasites, and instinctively recoil at any display of ethnic pride and unity emanating from their hosts.

Also, what the hell is up with these Auschwitz tattoos?

Bornstein's alleged holocaust tattoo.

Other alleged holo-tattoos.

Why are all these tattoos done in different sizes, in different parts of the arm and in different writing styles and ink colors? Isn't that counter productive if you're trying to make the organization of prisoners more efficient?

Could it be that most of these are just hoaxes that the Jews have done themselves in order to garner sympathy?

4.8 The Jewish Rebel Media is Claiming They Got Shut Down – Did They Actually? I Think No.

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 21, 2017

As we reported earlier, the lying Jew Ezra Levant is claiming that his domain was shut down – just like the Daily Stormer!

However, I believe that this is a straight-up hoax.

He is making this claim, and yet his site is totally online – go check: therebel.media.

What he is claiming is that it is available in half the world and half not – what?

That is not a domain shut down. A domain shut down means your domain is shut down.

So why is he hoaxing this?

Well, multiple reasons:

- To make it look like this isn't only happening to the Daily Stormer right now
- To get himself in the media
- To take heat off himself because his Jewish company is collapsing in on itself
- Probably other tricky Jewish reasons

There is no chance that it is actually real.

The National Post article that is reporting this claims he did not cite the firm that denied the registration – so why didn't they look up his whois?

It's eNom.

But again, the site is still up.

And eNom hasn't made a statement.

To be clear, I do believe there will come a time, probably within the next year, when therebel.media will lose it's domain if we don't stop this right now.

But I seriously doubt they're number 2 after Daily Stormer. They are going to go after a whole bunch of Alt-Right sites, then go for Infowars and other patriot-type sites, then finally get around to Rebel Media. Might even take down Breitbart before the Rebel.

Or at least, that's what I would assume would happen.

Maybe he did get a 24 hour notice and the site is going to actually go offline. However, when GoDaddy took me offline, they made a public statement about it on Twitter, then the CEO did interviews about it. The National Post didn't even bother to call up eNom – or even name them in their article. So why would they not do that? Either almost unbelievable incompetence, or they are working with Levant to promote this hoax.

Ezra Levant is a dirty trickster known for hoaxing publicity stunts. No doubt he is going to ask people to donate and sign a petition after this. But if eNom didn't actually kick him off, they will be able to take legal action against him for claiming they did – so I don't even get what is going on here. At all.

I guess we'll know within the next 24 hours what the deal is.

4.9 Kikes will Never Forgive Trump for Being Supported by the Daily Stormer – So Why is He Trying to Fuck Us?

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

Mr. President, I am resigning as Science Envoy. Your response to Charlottesville enables racism, sexism, & harms our country and planet.
pic.twitter.com/eWzDc5Yw6t

— Daniel M Kammen (@dan_kammen) August 23, 2017

The greasy kike Daniel M Kammen, a Berkeley professor, has resigned as the President's Science Envoy because Trump allegedly didn't do enough to condemn the rally in Charlottesville.

Even though he has repeatedly condemned it.

Jews simply don't care. This has become the new Russian conspiracy. Or rather, the replacement for the Russian conspiracy in the media narrative, as the Russian conspiracy had exhausted itself and had to be replaced with something.

The twisted Jew Kammen literally – LITERALLY – called for Trump to be impeached in his resignation letter.

In the form of a secret kike message, which you probably didn't notice, because you're probably not a kike.

Dana Liebelstein over at HuffPost (formerly Huffington Post) caught it for us:

A science envoy for the Department of State sent a resignation letter to President Donald Trump on Wednesday with a not-so-subtle secret message: "IMPEACH."

Daniel Kammen, a professor of energy at the University of California, Berkeley, told Trump in a letter dated Wednesday that his decision to quit his State Department post is "in response to your attacks on core values of the United States." As one example, he cited Trump's reaction to the deadly white supremacist rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, calling the response "consistent with a broader pattern of behavior that enables sexism and racism."

But it's Kammen's acrostic — the first letter of each paragraph spelling out a word — that sends a blunter message to Trump: IMPEACH.

These kikes are never going to let up.
Ever.

And here we all are – begging to support the President, if only he does just exactly as much as he said he was going to do.

Or no. Strike that.

Just as long as he doesn't do any of the things he said he wouldn't do, I'm fine supporting him, fully.

So why was Bannon dismissed?

Why are we starting another war in Afghanistan – or continuing it, or whatever the hell is going on?

Why is Trump fucking us, his core supporters?

4.9.1 Look, Dawg

This happened before.

He bombed Syria.

Then he came back. He fired Jimmy Boy and he started talking like he was supposed to talk, started doing a lot of good things.

After his forced apology for Charlottesville, he said a bunch of stuff we loved.

But now – what is happening now?

Will this turn out to be nothing, as the Syria thing turned out to be nothing?

Or is Trump, as Bannon said, gone?

Bannon: 'The Trump Presidency That We Fought For, and Won, Is Over.'

Departed White House strategist speaks to THE WEEKLY STANDARD.

6:18 PM, AUG 18, 2017 | By PETER J. BOYER

I don't have an answer to that question. I don't think anyone does. But if anyone did, it would be Steve Bannon.

I will just say this, Mr. President: You made a vow.

I signed a contract. I printed it off and I signed it.

We all did.

And we are all here. We upheld our end of the contract when we went out and voted for you.

All you have to do is what you said you would do.

And we are all ready to die for you.

4.10 Canada: Nazi Village Refuses to Take Down Swastika Monument in Spite of Jewish Whining

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 24, 2017

A new level of evil has been unleashed upon these snowy lands.

This is what happens when you start taking down monuments.

At first, it's like "oh, let's take down statues of famous generals and the founding fathers" and no one cares.

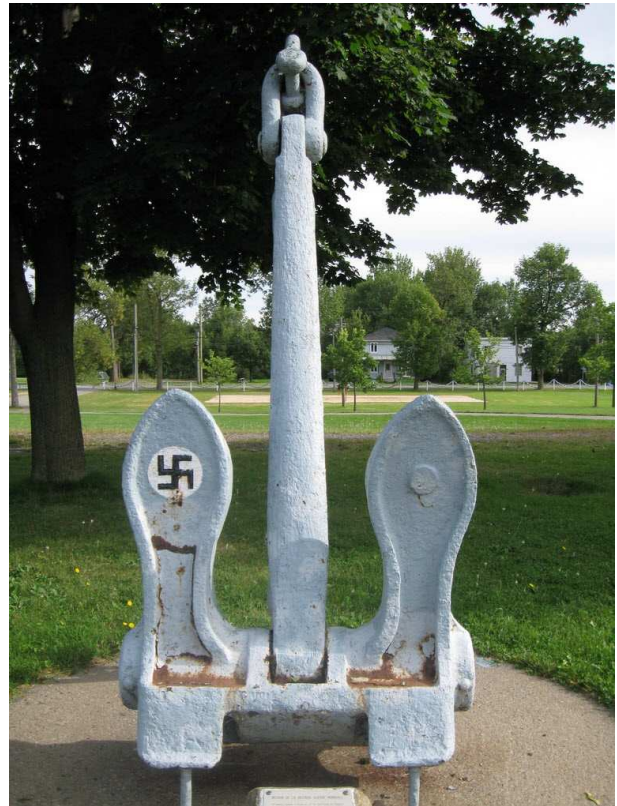

But then, they come for the symbols at the very core of the nation's identity, like this swastika anchor.

This could have been avoided – but you didn't listen!

Luckily, these brave Quebecois are holding firm and refusing to let this Jew take away their precious swastikas.

CTV News:

The founder of a group that removes hate symbols was shocked to learn that he was not allowed to remove a swastika from a public park in a Quebec village.

Nice. I wonder if they sell miniature versions in the souvenir shop?

And activist who removes "hate symbols?" I wonder what kind of person that might be...

An open-air museum in Pointes-des-Cascades, Que., nearly an hour outside of Montreal, features dozens of historical anchors, including one with an engraved swastika on one side.

Corey Fleischer, known for removing hate symbols with the graffiti-removing group Erasing Hate, said he was called to the park by a concerned citizen regarding the hate symbol displayed on the anchor. When he arrived at the park he approached the anchor thinking someone had spray painted a swastika, but noticed the symbol was engraved and had been outlined in black by the city.

Corey Fleischer.

Of course. It had to be a frog. Fleischer is a typical Quebec name after all.
Nah, just joking.
It's a Jew.

"I decided to remove the paint around the swastika that the city had painted on this ancient World War Two anchor," Fleischer told CTV Montreal. "To have such a sign of hate in a public space is completely unacceptable."

Can you believe the gall of this Jew?
He goes to a museum, and just decides to start scraping away at one of the showpieces because it hurts his feelings.

Fleischer was spotted by the local mayor, Gilles Santerre, who then called the Quebec provincial police. Fleischer agreed to leave after officers warned him that he could be arrested for damaging city property.

Mayor Gilles Santerre, calling the cops on this Jew.
And he's surprised the local authorities stop him. Wew.

But Fleischer explained to CTV News Channel that the white circle behind the black swastika, which is emblazoned on the anchor, is a Nazi symbol and the centrepiece of the Nazi flag.

"What differentiates a Nazi swastika to all other swastikas... is a white circle behind a (black) swastika," Fleischer told CTV News Channel. "When I showed up to that park I knew it was a Nazi swastika."

This guy is a straight up criminal thug, going around threatening people and defacing public and private property.

Take a look at this article here:
The Star:

But on this day, more than two years ago, Fleischer pulled over and asked if he could remove the offensive symbols, which had appeared a few weeks earlier. The owner was reluctant and said he would do it himself—but later.

Fleischer, who is tall, thick with muscle and has a bald head, asked a few questions and learned there was a delivery planned to houses in the predominately Jewish neighbourhood of Hampstead. That is when he had heard enough.

"I took my truck and barricaded him in. I wasn't happy. I said 'Now you're going nowhere,'" he recounted.

You better scrub your walls of hate symbols, goy, or this Jew will kidnap you.

Isn't that kidnapping? Or some other kind of felony? He admitted, in a newspaper, that he trapped someone with his truck and threatened him.

Good on these brave Quebecois for resisting the vile threats of this terrorist Jew.

4.11 The Return of the Son of Nazi Beer Pong 2: Pongmageddon

 Its called Jews vs the Nazis. Its 3-on-3, 30 cups per team. The Nazis shape their 30 cups into a swastika, and the Jews set up their 30 cups as the Star of David. The cups are re-racked to a smaller swastika and a smaller star when 18 cups remain on either team. The Nazis start the game off with 'blitzkrieg,' and each player on the Nazis shoots until they mess, but this is only allowed for the first volley. The Jews have the 'Anne Frank Cup,' and this ability allows them to pick any one of their cups and hide it anywhere in the room, but it has to be shootable, obviously. The Jews can only do that once per game and can be used only during their turn. To equalize this slight advantage, the Nazis also have another ability called 'Auschwitz' (or 'Concentration Camp' if you don't know what that means). With this ability the Nazis can pick any player on the Jews team and they have to sit out of the game until the other two players on the Jews team each make a cup. After that happens the 3rd person on the Jews team can play again. Also, throughout the game you are supposed to talk alot of shit and say as many racist things as possible to make it more enjoyable.
 My Jewish friends actually love this game haha.

You can take my Nazi beer pong from my cold, dead hands.

An hallowed institution of American high-school culture, Nazi beer pong, is under assault by an evil Semitic force out to wring out all fun and beauty from this world.

Nazi beer pong has been a staple of teen party games for years now. It's an innocent drinking game replicating the cosmic struggle of Jews vs. Nazis at a table-top scale.

Who could possibly be against this?

USA Today:

Eight students at an Atlanta school have been disciplined after a photo revealed they played a "Jews vs. Nazis"-themed game of beer pong.

The Atlanta Journal Constitution reported the person who posted the photo, which shows cups aligned in the forms of the Star of David and a swastika, was expelled from the Lovett School. Five others were suspended and two more are forbidden from "co-curricular activities," according to the AJC.

White boys having innocent fun? Into the cage they go.

Amusingly enough, they weren't disciplined for under-age drinking, which is obviously illegal, but because the game could hurt the feelings of Jews.

The prep school was tipped off to the photo by an Atlanta rabbi, Peter Berg , according to the Associated Press. The AP said the school's headmaster, William S. Peebles, issued a letter to parents on Sunday explaining the expelled student "misled" school officials regarding his connection to the game.

"The fact that someone could even conceive of such a game, and then play it and think it's funny is beyond words," Berg told WSB-TV 2, an Atlanta television station.

Every. Single. Time.

What a relief that we have these good rabbis scouring the internet to make sure no goyim ever does anything fun or interesting. Otherwise, we'd have to do this crucial job ourselves, or worse – actually live carefree lives just doing our thing without Judaic moral supervision.

Wouldn't that just be hellish?

But seriously, we have students being expelled from school at the request of Jews, for things they do in their spare time.

White boys, these Jews are setting up a future for you when your very thoughts are being monitored 24/7 by humorless rabbi who hate you. Is that the future you want?

I, for one, will fight for my right to play Nazi beer pong whenever I damn well please.

5.1 Wild Colored Man Shoots White Girl (COMPLETELY RANDOM, NO MOTIVE, A MYSTERY)

Chelsie Lynn.

Let me ask you this. If a White man walked up to a Black woman sitting in her car doing nothing and shot her in cold blood, would that make headlines more than local news?

Would CNN report on it like the guy who stabbed some black with a sword?

WAPT:

Chelsie Lynn Kirschten, 23, was at the intersection of Fortification and State streets along with a female friend just before midnight when police said a man came up to the driver's side of the car and shot Kirschten in the back and ran away.

Police said the shooting appears to be random. Nothing was stolen and the shot was fired through the closed window of Kirschten's white Pontiac G6. The gunman didn't say anything and walked away after the shooting, Cmdr. Tyree Jones said.

"We're still in the preliminary stages. We're not sure if they know one another or if there is any type of affiliation, but based on preliminary indications, this just seems to be possibly an individual just walked up to the vehicle and fired a shot," Jones said.

Jones said the passenger in Kirschten's car described the shooter as a black man wearing dark-colored clothing, possibly with a hood.

Jones said there is no evidence at this point to tie the shooter to any other crimes.

"This is a very tragic situation," Jones said. "Of course, it draws a lot of attention, not only from the community, but from the surrounding areas as well. We would like to identify this individual who is responsible and hold him accountable and charge him, as well."

Sounds like Twin Peaks needs a certain McDonald's mascot to help them with this investigation.....

Frank Walker III.

Nothing majorly important here, just some dead and probably raped White girl. No need to make any news except local.

NJ:

Frank Walker III, 41, of Wrightstown, was arrested Friday and charged with the murder of 29-year-old Diana Stillwell, according to the Burlington County Prosecutor's Office.

Stillwell was found stabbed to death at the strip mall near the intersection of Pemberton-Bowns Mills and Juliustown roads on July 13, authorities said. Police arrived on the scene after a pedestrian reported hearing a woman screaming behind the shops.

A second man, 32-year-old Darren DeCarlo of Pemberton Township man, was charged last month for providing false information to officials on the night of Stillwell's murder, authorities said. He faces a charge of obstructing the administration of law, according to the prosecutor's office.

Authorities have not yet identified a motive in the slaying. Walker is being held in the Burlington County Jail pending a court hearing.

That's right.

Hutchings appeared before Judge Lisa Borges to enter his plea of guilty to murder and being a felon carrying a handgun. He also accepted a habitual violent offender enhancement, which added 20 years to what otherwise would have been a 55-year sentence.

Miller, 27, was working as a driver for China King and was making his last delivery of the night when he was shot and killed in the 2200 block of Windsong Drive.

Hutchings' girlfriend at the time, then-17-year-old Terri Williams, was also charged and agreed in September 2016 to plead guilty to conspiracy to commit robbery and carrying a handgun without a license. A sentencing hearing for Williams was scheduled for September 27.

Mark Peretz.

Why do we let these people into our country?

Oh yeah, the Crusades. Right.

The Star:

On the organized crime front, several shots were fired in the Wednesday attack that left Mark Peretz of London seriously injured.

A second male victim also suffered non-life-threatening injuries.

The suspects, who were wearing black masks and all-black clothing, fled in a black SUV. The vehicle was later located — burned and abandoned — in Mississauga near Hurontario St. and Queen Elizabeth Way, police said.

Peretz is one of four men who served prison time for a botched Mob hit in 2004 that left an innocent mother-of-three paralyzed from the waist down.

In the other attack, a 35-year-old London man was shot Aug. 4 after he was approached by three men outside a Sunset Grill breakfast restaurant in an Oakville shopping plaza at Cornwall and Trafalgar Rds. around 9:30 a.m.

Peretz was sentenced to nine years in prison in April 2006 for his role in a drive-by shooting attack at a California Sandwich shop on Chesswood Dr. in Etobicoke on April 21, 2004 that left bystander Louise Russo paralyzed from the waist down.

Court heard that Peretz was the driver of a stolen van in the shooting and that the motive was an outstanding $240,000 online gambling debt owed to him.

Peretz took part in a controversial plea bargain that provided Russo with $2 million in restitution, along with Peter Scarcella of York Region, described by Corrections Canada as a Mob figure; Paris Christoforou, who was then sergeant-at-arms for the London Hells Angels; and gunman Antonio Borrelli.

Peretz, Scarcella and Christoforou each were sentenced to nine years in prison while Borrelli received a 10-year term.

Court heard that the target of the botched murder attempt in 2004 was Michele Modica, who was in the restaurant at the time of the shooting but was not injured.

I was unable to find a picture of this Michele Modica person, but Modica is a White name.

Court heard that Christoforou was Peretz's partner and head of collections.

Their associate, Raffaele Delle Donne, later became a police agent. He is quoted in the agreed statement of facts on the case as saying that Peretz and Christoforou met with Modica shortly before the shooting and left no doubt they expected payment in full.

"I didn't see it but I heard that uh, Mark (Peretz) . . . and uh, his bodyguard (Christoforou) I guess . . . kicked (Modica) in the face and put a . . . gun in his mouth," Delle Donne is reported as saying.

5.5 Savage Ork Lights White Army Nurse and Mother on Fire

Clifford Currie.

Why was this Black allowed to work at an army hospital? Why was a woman allowed into the army?

These are things we wouldn't need to ask if we were in a proper society.

People:

A Kansas man was convicted Tuesday of attacking a military nurse with a razor blade and setting her on fire with gasoline at the hospital they both worked at, PEOPLE confirms.

Clifford Currie faces up to 20 years in prison after being convicted of assault with attempt to commit murder for the 2016 attack at a Fort Leavenworth military hospital, a Kansas District Court Clerk officials tells PEOPLE.

On Sept. 7, shortly after 5 p.m., Currie, a civilian who worked in an administrative capacity at the hospital, entered Army Lt. Katie Blanchard's office with a plastic bottle in his hand containing gasoline.

He doused Blanchard, his boss, with the gasoline and then set her on fire, and used a razor blade to cut her, a federal criminal complaint states.

He later ran to his office to grab a pair of scissors to stab her with and put his foot on Blanchard's throat to hold her down, but a witness pushed him away. While Currie was being restrained by military colleagues, Blanchard, covered and blood and badly burned, screamed, "I told you this would happen!"

Blanchard tells PEOPLE that since a January 2016 dispute, Currie had behaved in an aggressive and threatening manner towards her, including cornering her in an office and yelling at her.

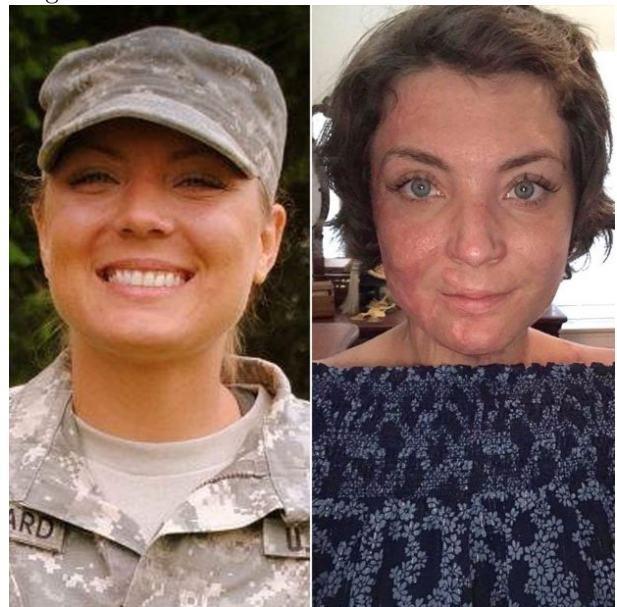

Blanchard's attorney tells PEOPLE he believes the Army should be held partially responsible for the attack, alleging the army "ignored the warning signs."

You are not supposed to relax around Blacks. This woman pointed out the risks here, and yet the rest of the army relaxed. They are certainly as guilty as the Ork is. More so, even.

In the criminal complaint, witnesses said Blanchard had voiced her concern about her subordinate and even asked to have someone accompany her when she worked with him directly.

According to Blanchard, her requests were denied. Currie was found not guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon, a clerk officials says. His attorneys could not be reached for comment.

Not only was this White mother permanently scarred and almost killed by this fungus-monster, but he wasn't even found guilty of assault. I wonder why this even went to court instead of some commissar shooting the thing during the attack.

For the first time that I can personally remember, we can actually say this Black was in fact just going to church.

New York Post:

Police are looking for a raincoat-clad thief wanted for stealing thousands of dollars' worth of musical instruments from a Queens church.

The suspect, wearing a bright yellow jacket, broke in through the side door at Canaan Baptist Church in North Corona on Tuesday afternoon. Surveillance footage from inside the church shows how he then ransacked the place of about $2,300 worth of musical equipment, police said.

He made off with two guitars – a Fender Stratocaster and a PRS guitar – and an Ibanez bass, police said.

He then fled the scene on foot.

Police describe the suspect as being approximately 30 to 40 years old with a dark complexion. He was last seen wearing the yellow jacket and jeans.

The Wilson County Sheriff’s Office said Tuesday that two teams of deputies are working around the clock on the case, but they haven’t yet determined a motive for the crime. They also refused to release any information about possible suspects, saying it could jeopardize the investigation.

Yesmine said she fears for her life until someone is arrested and charged with the killings. She met with WRAL News in a public place Tuesday, accompanied by an armed bodyguard.

In their last text message exchange last Thursday, Yesmine said, her mother excitedly shared pictures of her new engagement ring – an early Christmas present.

She said she has asked investigators whether the killings were part of a robbery – whether the engagement ring or any other valuables were taken – but she said they haven’t told her anything.

“All they can say is they’ll let me know if they arrest a suspect,” she said. “I asked, was it a robbery? Was it gang-related? Anything? And they won’t tell me anything, nothing.”

Of course they can’t say anything, that may show the other plebs in the tournaments this MLG gamers strategies and skills.

5.8 Wild Gorilla Ambushes White Judge Who Sentenced Its Son

Nathaniel Richmond.

White people do this kind of thing too.

Do you remember the last time a white man shot a black judge because he was probably angry over the result of his son’s court case?

It was...

Um...

Well I can't think of an example exactly like this one – but what about Dylann Roof?

NBC:

Police named Nathaniel Richmond, 51 — the father of Ma'lik Richmond, one of two teenage high school football stars from Steubenville, Ohio, convicted in 2013 of raping a 16-year-old girl — as the shooter in the ambush. Bruzzese had nothing to do with that case, officials said.

But the judge was not defenseless. The armed Bruzzese returned fire with his own weapon, according to police.

A probation officer, who was behind Bruzzese, also fired at Richmond.

Abdalla said five shots were fired by Richmond and five shots were fired by Bruzzese. It's unclear how many shots the probation officer fired, but Richmond eventually died from his wounds.

Bruzzese was walking through a narrow alley toward the courthouse when the shots were fired, City Manager James Mavromatis said.

But Hanlin said there were a “number of cases” involving the elder Richmond, who had a criminal history, in Bruzzese’s courtroom as well as other courtrooms. However, Hanlin said officials have not yet determined a motive in the shooting.

Mavromatis called the attack a “deliberate act against our city’s judge.”

“Clearly looking at the one video, you see the attacker coming up toward him,” Mavromatis said. “I’d say he was the intended target.”

Abdalla said a man was in the passenger seat of the Richmond’s car, which was parked near the shooting. That unidentified man was taken to a nearby hospital where he is being treated for a bullet that ricocheted and hit him.

In Monday afternoon’s press conference, Hanlin said that Bruzzese had complete surgery and is expected to survive his wounds. She declined to specify where the judge had been shot.

Hanlin said an autopsy would be performed on Richmond. She said the FBI is working to investigate the shooting.

We have yet another Black teen murdering a White for completely ridiculous reasons.

New York Post:

Cops are hunting for a teen with a long rap sheet in the murder of a Brooklyn man who was stabbed in front of his wife as the couple walked to their Greenpoint home, police officials said on Monday.

The NYPD said Gary Correa, 19, is responsible for the fatal Friday-night knifing of George Carroll, 42, near McGolrick Park.

“We came up with an identified perp. We are seeking him now,” said NYPD Chief of Detectives Robert Boyce. “He is the perpetrator. He’s been identified by witnesses at the scene.”

Carroll and his wife, Christina Romero Carroll, 41, were walking on Monitor Street near Driggs Avenue at around 9:30 p.m. when the husband made eye contact with two men standing on a stoop.

“What are you looking at?” one of the men said, according to Christina.

“I’m lookin’,” her husband shot back.

More words were exchanged before the men chased Carroll down the street. He was stabbed in the left side of his chest.

The killer fled.

I certainly can’t speak for everyone, but in my personal experience I have never been stabbed for making eye contact with a White guy at any age, nor have I felt at major risk for making eye contact with some White guy.

I don’t think it would be a stretch to say that is the case for most people.

You would think that a botched bank robbery would make more major news rather than just a local outlet.

Since the scum that committed the act was not White however, you would be wrong.

WMBF:

Police have identified a person of interest in the bank robbery at CresCom Bank Monday that left two employees dead.

Brandon Michael Council, 32, of Wilson, North Carolina is wanted by Conway Police for questioning, and is considered to be armed and dangerous, according to a Conway Police news release. He may have changed his hairstyle, and Conway Police have released pictures of him with both long and short hair.

"We have reason to believe he may have been in the Conway area and are following up leads at this time," Conway Police stated in the news release.

The suspect in the murders was described by police as a black male with long braided hair.

Several employees who work around the area of the CresCom bank said they recognized the suspect. A Sherwin Williams employee said they saw the suspect standing between a tree and a telephone pole near the bank for several hours before the robbery.

5.11 Black Who Tried to Rob White Guy Shows Us the Police Can Not Afford Good Cameras

Joe Jones

Daily Stormer

August 24, 2017

While the point here is that Blacks are savages who will shoot and rob white people for no reason, this also illustrates just how terribly equipped American police are.

I mean seriously, how terrible must their funding be for them to not only have grainy, trash CCTV cameras but also need to record computer screens with a cellphone to share that video?

CBC Local:

A Cedar Hill man out for a morning walk Tuesday came face to face with a gunman, who shot him twice in an attempted robbery.

James Rathbun was in the 300 block of Trees Drive around 5:40 a.m., when surveillance video shows a stranger casually strolling in his direction.

"He said, 'Give me your wallet.' But I was thinking he said, 'Give me some water.' So I said, 'I just have coffee.' So, then he slaps me and I'm like, wait a minute..." Rathbun recalled.

Rathbun said he told the man he wasn't carrying a wallet, only to be slapped again. This time, he struck back with a stainless steel tumbler.

"I took my coffee cup and swing at him again. Get into a little altercation and on my way to the ground I hear a shot," said Rathbun.

One bullet hit Rathbun's shoulder and travelled across his back. The other became lodged in a weighted vest he was wearing, as part of his training for an obstacle race.

To help prevent this in the future, Trump should allocate funding to buy the police Rockbird video cameras and computers with an NVidia 900 series graphics card (for Shadowplay).

We're not being paid by either of these companies, however they do make good products for a good price and I would recommend them heavily.

5.13 Attention Bounty Hunters – Blacks Rob White Parents Walking with Newborn and Police Offer $10,000 Reward for His Capture

Joe Jones
Daily Stormer

August 26, 2017

Why should new White parents have to deal with violent monkeys robbing them when they're walking with their children?

What possible reasoning could there be for such a situation?

Fox 5:

A DC couple pushing their 6-week-old baby in a stroller was robbed at knifepoint in the middle of the day on a busy corridor of 14th Street, according to police.

Authorities say two men approached a couple who had just left brunch with their newborn, pulled weapons on them and demanded money.

"It was violent and they threatened us with deadly force," the child's father told FOX 5.

The victims, who asked FOX 5 to not identify them for their safety, complied and handed over their money.

"It was by far the most frightening thing I've ever experienced because we're new parents and we had our son with us," the child's mother said.

The victims said one of the suspects was armed with a knife and the other with a box cutter. The suspects took the man's wallet and the couple's diaper bag, according to the victims.

Why take the diaper bag? Is there some black market (or black magic) that runs on baby feces?

Thankfully, the couple and their child were not injured during the incident.

A reward of up to $10,000 is being offered to anyone who provides information that leads to the arrest and conviction of the suspects. Tipsters can call the Metropolitan Police Department at (202) 727-9099.

You heard them, they're offering ten grand to find some ape in DC.

Don't forget, Whites do this too.

An anonymous Daily Stormer source told me about this one time an upper middle-class White boomer called him a Black Panther and beat him to death. Strange, because this particular source is Asian.

Cleveland:

A man attacked a 51-year-old woman and accused her of being racist in what police are investigating as a hate crime.

The man, whose photo was released in the hopes that someone can identify him, is black and the woman who reported the attack is white, police said.

The man walked up to one woman without saying anything and punched her, knocking her to the ground, police said.

The man then yelled at the woman and accused her of being in the Ku Klux Klan, said she was a "white supremacist," according to police. The woman told police she had no affiliation to the KKK or any white supremacist group, according to police reports.

The woman walked to her home, called police and told her 21-year-old son what happened, police said. The two then walked back to where the man stood. The son took a photo of the man with his cellphone.

The man saw him take the photo and knocked the phone from his hand and cracked the screen, police reports say.

The man then accused the woman's son of being involved in the KKK. The 21-year-old also told police he had no affiliation with the hate group.

Several others who stood nearby heard the man's accusations and threatened the mother and son, according to police reports.

He says he didn't know Martin well. He met him through a friend.

"He seemed fine," Kakert said of Martin. "He said, 'Hey Skip. How you doing?' I said, 'I ain't seen you in a while. How you doing?'"

This was his mistake, he relaxed around Blacks.

He says when Martin showed up to his apartment, he offered him some of the spaghetti he and his roommate were eating for dinner. After his roommate left, Martin attacked.

"He took a knife to my throat then he dragged me in the bathroom by my hair, took a towel and wrapped it around my throat, banging my head, 'Give me your money. Give me your money. Give me your money,'" Kakert said.

He says Martin beat him up for more than an hour, then tied his hands and legs, using the cord for Kakert's oxygen machine.

"I acted like I was knocked out, and that's when he set the bed on fire," he said.

Kakert says he moved slowly to the front door. He says he's grateful that his neighbor, Chad Corby, heard his screams and helped him.

My reasoning for saying such is that an anonymous Daily Stormer source has said he quote “Dindu nuffin’” Sun Sentinel:

A 57-year-old man was killed in an early morning shooting in Fort Lauderdale, police said.

A man described by witnesses as the shooter, Stevens Jean, 29, of Fort Lauderdale, was arrested, said Detective Tracy Figone, a police spokeswoman.

“The victim was approached by a male suspect, who then shot the victim several times and fled the area,” Figone said.

When I was younger, Halloween was my favorite holiday due to the inevitable sugar coma I would be put into.

It still remains my favorite holiday because the season of Autumn is the best time of year in my country, taking place just after the sweltering heat of over 25 Celsius summers and just before the ball-freezing winter of -30 Celsius.

But of course, some Black guy feels the need to piss in my candy corn.

WKBN:

A Toledo man is facing criminal charges, accused of urinating on a department store’s supply of Halloween candy.

Loss prevention officers said Burks was the only person near the candy when the urination occurred, according to court documents.

The store threw the candy in the trash.

Imagine if the store didn’t catch this and you kids ended up eating candy soaked in some Black guy’s piss.

This guy is probably also diseased like most Blacks are, this would have made countless White children extremely sick.

6.1.3 Many, Many More

I think the point has been proven here. But I could go on and on. Pedophiles operate freely on the open internet, sharing images of boys in swim shorts that they masturbate to and discussing on forums how to have sexual relationships with children and get away with it.

This is a known thing.

And both Tucows and GoDaddy register these domains in their registrars, while claiming that the Daily Stormer has no right to be on the internet at all.

Again: by taking action against us, while allowing pedophiles to operate, they are endorsing pedophilia. Once upon a time – ten days ago – registrars were neutral and because it was not illegal to discuss pedophilia online, these companies were not endorsing it by hosting them. However, times have changed, and registrars are no longer neutral.

So now, they are saying “the Daily Stormer, while legal is not okay with us – but these sites where pedophiles get together and share strategies on how to molest children are.”

Let that sink in, please.

6.2 Breitbart: Daily Stormer Ban Violates Net Neutrality

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
August 21, 2017

It's heartening to see that Breitbart is making a stand in defense of the Stormer's right to freedom of speech.

Breitbart now officially has more ball than Molyneux and Infowars [to be fair though, so does David French. -AA ].

I have a sneaking suspicion that this is due to Bannon's glorious return to his throne, and his fighting mood. He's a smart guy, and understands that if this shutting is allowed to stand, then his enemies will have a free hand to destroy all voices on the right.

We all have to take a stand here, or cede victory to the Jews and their golem.

Breitbart:

Recently, liberal tech companies such as GoDaddy, Google, and Cloudflare declared war on free speech, vowing to scrub the internet of “hate speech.”

Ooops.

GoDaddy decided to remove the neo-Nazi website The Daily Stormer from their web hosting, and Google decided to remove the white supremacist site from servers as well. Cloudflare also discontinued its service, even though they previously stated that they would defend their right to provide their services to ISIS-related websites.

Just as an aside, we were never hosted on GoDaddy or Google. It's the domain registration that was shut-down, not the hosting.

Google removed Gab.ai, a content-neutral platform committed to free speech for everyone, from their Google Play app ecosystem for promoting “hate speech.”

These Silicon Valley companies do not see the irony in their assault on free speech, considering that these companies have repeatedly suggested that removing net neutrality would allow ISPs such as Comcast or Verizon to block and discriminate websites and services. Google, Cloudflare, and GoDaddy blocked these websites, in essence, violating the neutrality of the Internet.

This makes perfect sense. If ISPs are allowed to discriminate traffic, that puts them in the position of a cartel, which can charge arbitrary fees to companies in order to get preferential treatment. It puts all the power into the hands of the ISPs, which Google obviously doesn't want.

But this was never a principled stance.

Instead, they want all the power in their own hands.

Google is now behaving like an abusive husband beating his wife over a misplaced salt shaker – except it's not funny.

Net neutrality passed under former Democrat Tom Wheeler's FCC in 2010. The rule, known as the Open Internet Order, reclassified the internet as a public monopoly. Critics chided the rule, stating that it would diminish the freedom of the internet. Proponents argue that the regulations prevent Internet service providers from discriminating against content providers; however, net neutrality advocates often ignore the peril of tech companies like Google, GoDaddy, and Cloudflare becoming the policemen of the internet.

Google has served as a strong supporter of net neutrality and argued that if FCC Chairman Ajit Pai were to remove those internet regulations, then Comcast and Verizon can censor the internet however they choose. In one of Google's statements they argued, "If Internet access providers can block some services and cut special deals that prioritize some companies' content over others, that would threaten the innovation that makes the Internet awesome."

Talk about hypocrisy.

Anyone defending Google and other tech oligarchs' actions is basically promoting a dystopian cyberpunk future in which megacorporations control everything and police everyone's thoughts.

Imagine this, but without flying cars. Pretty gay. It's time to make a stand.

Or else we're looking at a future in which your trans-phobic thoughts are going to be streamed directly into Google's omni-mind servers, resulting in you being denied access to your Google Car, Google House and Google cyber-Wife.

6.3 GoDaddy Refuses to Give Pedophiles the Same Treatment as Daily Stormer

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

Yesterday, I wrote about how both Tucows and GoDaddy – who collaborated with the rest of Silicon Valley to ban me from the internet, ostensibly because of a fat joke they felt was really mean – are actively supporting pedophiles.

Of course, before they banned me, they could have just said “oh well, we’re neutral – pedophiles are none of our business, as long as they are engaging in Constitutionally protected speech (which they are).” But now that they’ve banned me on the grounds that my jokes are so edgy that they’re “evil,” they no longer have a claim to neutrality. And yet, they continue to host pedophile content.

GoDaddy has been informed of the pedophile content. They might or might not eventually ban it. But what they didn't do was what they did to me, which was ban it with a Tweet, unilaterally deciding that it is evil and does not deserve to be on the internet.

So even if they do ban the pedophiles from their registrars, they have demonstrated, openly and without question, that they support pedophiles before White Nationalists who make edgy jokes.

6.3.1 Find More of These

I only listed one site that GoDaddy is hosting, Caution Click, which is a site which advocates for the legalization of “non-production” child pornography.

About Us

We are dedicated to promoting public safety through evidence based legislation, public awareness and prevention strategies.

Promote evidence based policy reform and community management practices for non-production child pornography offenders.

Advocating sentencing which is fair, just and consistent with the purposes of sentencing.

Most of the forums I found where people actually get together and share (technically non-pornographic) images of scantily clad little boys and discuss ways to strategically molest children were on eNom/Tucows (which again, also banned me for being “evil”).

I’m sure there are many more of these on GoDaddy. I just got a little bit burned out looking up pedophile advocacy sites, so didn’t do a super-extensive list.

What’s more, we need to find “hateful” sites by blacks and others and lobby to get those banned from registrars.

I’m ready to start lobbying for other right-wing sites to be taken down – they’re all going to be taken down eventually anyway. And I’m real fucking pissed off that these people are not defending me.

Let’s call for Infowars to have their domain stolen. What did I do that was worse than what they do? Make a joke?

Or is it because of the Jews?

Is Silicon Valley willing to say that it’s because I talk about Jews? Or are they going to stick to the claim that the fat joke “just went too far,” so they were forced to act as a government entity – or as a god – and shut down my freedom of speech?

Let’s hold them to this new standard they’ve created. It’s their standard. This was their idea, to give up neutrality.

Let’s create a crisis that causes people to demand that the government step in and regulate domain registry in accordance with the Constitution of the United States.

6.4 Google Invites the SPLC to Help Them Create Lists of Bad Goyim

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 22, 2017

When Google’s CEO Gandhi Patel told employees that they would be required to shit in the street, some were taken aback.

Steve Bannon is back with a vengeance.

May he live forever.

With DS forced onto pedoweb internet prison by the likes of Namecheap and Google, Breitbart now has an obligation to go full-Stormer.

Godspeed, Steve.

And I’m sorry if you think I went too far with Charlottesville. But you must understand, Steve. I live in Nigeria. I told these people not to bring Nazi flags. None of my guys brought those.

I am not even a Neo-Nazi White Supremacist, Steve. You understand this. It’s just a goofy meme – we owned the insult, Alinsky style. No one actually identifies that way, other than ironically, except maybe a few joke groups that are controlled by feds.

I am a normal person. My ideology would be best defined as “Futurist-Nationalist-Populist Racial-Separatist” – that is what I have tried to make the Alt-Right into, Steve.

But I live in Nigeria, Steve.

Breitbart:

Google announced that their monopolistic search engine that controls 87 percent of page views will use its machine learning tool set to assist liberal groups in doubling down on purging conservative speech they consider hate.

TechCrunch blog reported that Google has partnered with ProPublica coalition and Pitch Interactive to create a data visualization tools that leverage the Google Cloud Natural Language API analytic algorithm to extract geographic and contextual information to provide journalists with a 50-state ‘Hate News Index.’

...

The Google/ProPublica coalition partners are all Center-Left Bias or Left Bias including the New York Times, BuzzFeed, Univision News, WNYC, First Draft, The Root, Meedan, New America Media, Latino USA, Ushahidi, The Advocate and 100 Days in Appalachia.

So Google is working with Jews, blacks and homosexuals to compile databases on you. Including your location.

Because white people are “hate.”
Christians are “hate.”
Everything that Jews don’t like is “hate.”

Although the coalition states they will work on civil rights issues with the highly respected University of Miami School of Communications, they also will rely on input from George Soros’ Open Society Foundation-funded and the radically Left Southern Poverty Law Center.

Google states that they launched the Documenting Hate project due to the lack of national data on “hate crimes,” which their Dictionary defines as: “a crime motivated by racial, sexual, or other prejudice, typically one involving violence.” But a Google search under “hate crime” produces “About 10,300,000 results.”

Yeah, and the SPLC has been doing this for years – virtually all of their claims of “hate crimes” are either hoaxes or simply rumors.

They also include in their numbers allegations (never substantiated) that people were called names – so “typically involving violence” is definitely not their definition. Most of these “hate crimes” in their “database” involve unsubstantiated claims of name-calling.

The reason they are sucking Google into this gross scheme is because most of this name-calling takes place on the internet, and the goal of the SPLC is to regulate the internet as much as they possibly can in order to protect the Jewish race from criticism.

The other races – blacks, Moslems, Mexicans – are simply used as human shields by the Jews.

This is just a nonsense project to serve as a first step of official cooperation between the SPLC and Google.

Look at it – it’s just a calendar:

Hate News

In Partnership With Google News Lab

This page lists media reports, collected by Google News, about hate crimes and bias incidents. The “keywords” column contains names and places found in the news reports in the “articles” column. The larger the word, the more prevalent it is in those stories. Select one of the words to see a list of news stories that contain it.

By Pitch Interactive, Launched Aug 7th, 2017

They may also probably going to try to get real name information in this database, via internet sources. That is to say, this could be an SPLC-Google mass-doxing team-up, creating lists of undesirables. Or “deplorables,” as they’ve been called more recently.

The problem is: no one gives a fuck anymore.

Our backs are pushed so far against the wall that our vertebrae are cracking.

We have already won the war of ideas, and everyone with any intellectual capacity is already aware of the plight of the whites. All we have to do now is inform the masses that it is okay to stand-up and fight back. And they will.

This is a war you cannot win, Jews.

My advice: flee to Israel.

6.5 PewDiePie Cucked Out

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 22, 2017

Not cool, Pewds.

Just when we needed you most.

I admit that the optics were bad at Charlottesville. This is why I told people to ban literal Neo-Nazis. Why would you want actual swastika flags at a rally?

But no Stormers brought actual swastika flags.

We believe in A E S T H E T I C.

Not literal Neo-Nazism. That is just a meme, for the internet.

Yes, everyone loves Hitler – how could you not? But that doesn’t mean you go around with Nazi flags.

People should have used American flags, period.

Look – I have yet to write up my full review of Charlottesville – because of all this shit that happened – but I’m going to. And one of the things I am going to write is that this look of actual Nazi symbols is retarded. It makes zero sense in a real life scenario.

tl;dr: Hitlerism is not a meme. “Neo-Nazi White Supremacy” is a meme.

I think a lot of the people involved in the literal Neo-Nazi stuff are good guys, but they could just as easily be using the same ideology with a look at is much more suited to what we are trying to build here, which is a mass movement.

Anyway, I’ve got all the details on this coming up.

Until then: Not cool, Pewds.

You know as well as all of us that the Jews are destroying civilization. And you are one person with the power to act on that knowledge.

What do you want to want to be going through your head when you're on your deathbed?

6.6 ESPN Pulls Asian Announcer from Broadcasting Virginia Football Game Because His Name is Robert Lee

Lee Rogers

Daily Stormer

August 23, 2017

This dude could definitely be mistaken for the dead Confederate general Robert E. Lee. He looks just like him!

ESPN the amazingly great Jew run sports network has pulled an Asian announcer from broadcasting a University of Virginia football game because he shares his name with a famous Confederate general.

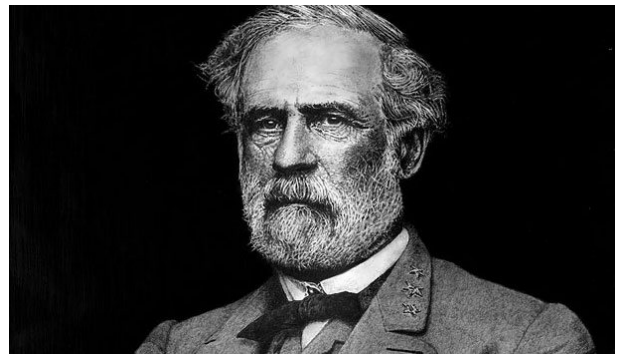

Fox News:

In the wake of the events in Charlottesville, Va., ESPN decided to pull one of its announcers from calling a University of Virginia football game — because his name is Robert Lee.

Lee, an Asian-American sportscaster who started with the network in 2016, was moved to a different game “simply because of the coincidence of his name,” ESPN said, referencing the Confederate general Robert E. Lee.

On Aug. 12, violence broke out at a protest from a white-nationalist group opposing the removal of a Robert E. Lee statue in Charlottesville. A driver ultimately rammed his car into a crowd of counter-protesters, killing one woman and injuring more than a dozen other people, police said.

His name alone would have caused numerous violations of safe spaces in the wake of Charlottesville. I can only imagine the pain and suffering that would have been caused if people saw the name “Robert Lee” on their television screens. This would have taken us back to the days of slavery.

Quite the resemblance. They could be twins. I have no doubt about this.

After all, it is difficult to differentiate between an Asian man with a dead Confederate general who lived in the 19th century. Many viewers might get confused and think the Confederate general Robert E. Lee had risen back from the dead to put Blacks back in chains.

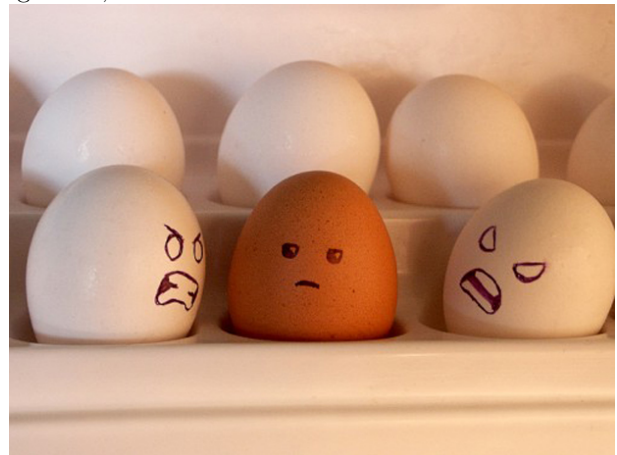

ESPN definitely made the right decision with this. It's no wonder why they are getting such great ratings these days.

6.7 Hitler-Worshipping Soap Dispenser Refuses to Consider Blacks Human

Michael Byron

Daily Stormer

August 23, 2017

So... it's finally happened.

The airborne contagion of racism, which normally passes from white person to white person, has started to possess inanimate objects too.

And the end results would make a Klansman blush.

Daily Mail:

A video that shows an automatic bathroom soap dispenser failing to detect the hand of a dark-skinned man has gone viral and raised questions about racism in technology, as well as the lack of diversity in the industry that creates it.

The now-viral video was uploaded to Twitter on Wednesday by Chukwuemeka Afigbo, Face-book's head of platform partnerships in the Middle East and Africa.

He tweeted: 'If you have ever had a problem grasping the importance of diversity in tech and its impact on society, watch this video.'

The video begins with a white man waving his hand under the dispenser and instantly getting soap on his first try.

Then, a darker skinned man waves his hand under the dispenser in various directions for over ten seconds, with soap never being released.

It's unclear if this is Afigbo himself.

To demonstrate that skin color is the reason, he then waves a white paper towel under the dispenser and is instantly granted soap.

The tweet has been shared more than 93,000 times, and the video has more than 1.86 million views.

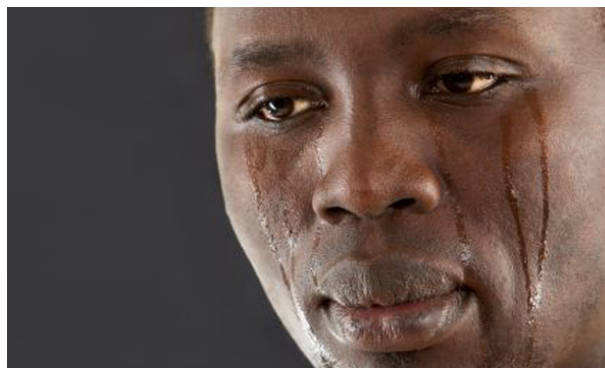

The tweet also spurred over 1,800 comments, many of which are citing this as just another example of lack of diversity in tech.

Make no mistake about it, people: this was a conscious act of racism.

The soap dispenser (which, you might have noticed by now, is white) saw this Congoid gentleman enter the bathroom and seized the opportunity to make him wish he'd never been born.

Mission: successful.

The most worrying part about this story, though, is the trend that it represents.

If we allow soap dispensers to start terrorizing Blacks because of the color of their skin, what happens next?

Internet browsers changing colored people's homepages to Stormfront to make them feel bad?

Ovens incinerating their Jewish owners after telling them to look for the $5 trapped inside?

Kettles refusing to heat the water of Pakistanis in the UK because "they're not English enough" for tea?

This could be a total disaster.

Thankfully, the Jews have made it their moral duty to stamp out racism wherever it rears its ugly head. They've had some success in shutting down the Internet, yes, but this story proves that that's not enough.

They need to start shutting down household appliances.

6.8 Queen Ann Joins Support Base of Daily Stormer!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

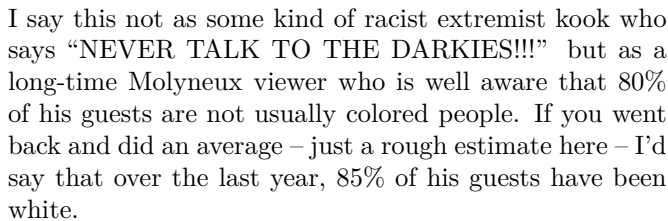

Ann Coulter has effectively endorsed the Daily Stormer's fight for free speech by retweeting a tweet from "Tolerant Fellow" noting that the Daily Stormer was banned from Cloudflare while ISIS is allowed to stay.

This is not quite as far as Julian Assange went in tweeting out an actual Daily Stormer support article, nor as far as Tucker Carlson went in twice doing segments on the wrongness of our having been banned from the in-

However it is much further than Alex Jones, Stefan Molyneux and Mark Dice have gone – all three of them have remained entirely silent on the issue.

And here's a thing – of the five interview shows Molyneux has done since the Charlottesville event, four of them have been with nonwhites.

My point here: we seem to have a pulling apart process taking place, where people on the right are either going forward or pulling back.

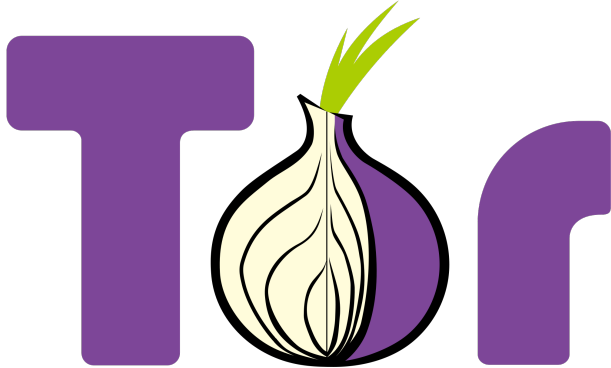

Assange is going forward, Ann is going forward. I'm sorry to say that it looks as though Molyneux is pulling back.

To be clear, I am not implying Ann sympathizes with my ideas, I am simply saying that she is showing support for free speech, which is all I am asking here – and something which I would have hoped everyone would have been able to give.

6.9 Tor Kiddie Porn Lovers Demand Shutdown of Daily Stormer on Pedoweb

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

As the reader is aware, the Daily Stormer, having been repeatedly banned from various domain registrars, as been forced to relocate temporarily to the Darkweb AKA Pedoweb in order to continue existing.

Tor allows for a hardcore proxy, which makes it so you can browse sites with a low possibility of being traced. It also, however, allows you to host sites without using a real domain. Which is what we are doing.

It was ostensibly created for edgemeisters to post on r/anarchism with virtually secure anonymity – because of course when you’re posting on Reddit, you always have to worry about FASCIST COPS and/or THE MAN back-tracing you.

Or so they say.

They also have a bunch of blah blah blah about helping brown people living in “oppressive regimes” to “get democracy.”

Most likely, most of the people working on the project are pedophiles who need a safe way to share images of kiddie fiddling. Because kiddie porn is definitely what the software is most widely used for.

Second most used thing is trafficking in hard drugs.

Then you have terrorism, slave trading and assassins for hire. And so on.

But as soon as the Daily Stormer shows up – literally the only legal website to have ever used this service – the Tor people start going crazy and talking about how evil we are.

We heard Daily Stormer moved to a Tor onion service. We’re here to defend the human rights these racists oppose. <https://t.co/Eg8ks3ry8m> pic.twitter.com/VloY3Greza

— The Tor Project (@torproject) August 17, 2017

Please note that they have never felt a need to denounce child pornography or any of the other illegal activity that goes on on this service.

Someone went so far as to submit a ticket on Tor to make it so you can block “racist hate sites” (this one that you are currently reading, specifically). And the team actually had a long discussion about this.

We are glad that tor project has spoken out against racist hate speech sites but talk is cheap.

Tor routers still advertize hate sites like “~.onion”. Please include this url as blocked in the default configuration so that routers will not broadcast it.

Code like that doesn't exist and probably shouldn't exist.

Insert slippery slope argument focused on Tor being coerced into censoring arbitrary onion services.

comment 2

Changed 2 days ago by cypherpunks

This will be easy to implement. Just a list of a strings to check against before broadcasting. It could also use salted hashing to make the .onion domains secret.

People who think they are doing a good service by running tor routers are literally helping spread violent hate speech.

The purpose of tor project is not to make life easy for fascists.

comment 3

The purpose of the Tor Project is also not to make life easy for the people using Tor for other things you'd disagree with. But it is an unfortunate reality of actually useful software.

comment 4

Changed 2 days ago by cypherpunks

Wrong. The point of Tor is to be a force for good. People use Tor for many unsavory things, but none of them have even remotely the destructive potential of fascism. It is unarguably evil, there is no literally no argument in favor of allowing them to use Tor to spread their violent speech others. I would propose, at a bare minimum, a torc option allowing Tor relays to specify the addresses of .onion addresses that they do not wish to advertise via their relay. This way, Tor volunteers can at least decide for themselves that they do not wish to be complicit in evil by helping to spread fascism and hate speech.

There are many better ways to oppose fascism than by making our code censor-friendly. (and a number of Tor people already do these things) If you can think of a plausible way to change the code to make it harder for fascists to use Tor without also making it easier for someone to silence the people the fascists want to harm, I would be pleasantly surprised.

It's not censorship to refuse to publish hate. Tor project opposes the daily stormer, please see here <https://twitter.com/torproject/status/896256109789687808>

It's time to take action.

I can definitely think of one way - by letting Tor relay operators choose for themselves whether they want to actively disseminate violent speech. Democracy is our only protection against fascism - why should Tor not be run more democratically, by letting relay operators decide what services they want to implicitly endorse by allowing their own relays to advertise for?

It's ridiculous that we even have to have this discussion - I and many other people I know run Tor relays, why should we be forced to spread the hateful and violent message of Daily Stormer and their ilk? This feature should have implemented from day one.

Why does Tor Project bother with the worthless virtue signaling if it won't put its money where its mouth is and take action? Why won't it give power to its volunteers by letting them decide democratically if they want to take a stand against evil?

I guess talk really is cheap.

You just do not get Free Open Source Software, do you? Users own the right to edit the software as they please. Tor Project has no ability to control what sites people can host and access. Relay operators have no ability to either. This is permanently baked into the design.

Best to completely forget about the whole blog post, it was a very stupid idea, one very new person decided in haste, and doesn't speak for everyone in the Tor community. Speech may be unpleasant, but it is still free speech.

Tor is an anonymity network and in reality has nothing to do with human rights one way or another except the right to privacy.

Hi cypherpunks, I hear ya and I was certainly irked when I heard those assholes were moving onto our network. I certainly don't want to shut down the discussion and by all means feel free to brainstorm options but for what it's worth the trouble isn't that we "want" to empower jerks. The problem (if you can call it that) is that tor aims to provide truly strong anonymity. Relays service content without knowing if it's hate speech verses Chinese dissidents. You can't block one group without ruining privacy the tool gives to everyone.

Back doors and impairing user anonymity is absolutely a road we will not consider. That said, if you'd care to propose options that empower relay operators in a way that does not impair those then by all means - happy to hear ideas.

I probably won't take part further on this ticket (hidden service design isn't my area of expertise) but just wanted to leave a note since I was pissed about them too.

Free software has always been political. Yes, Nazis would just remove the code but then a racist has to keep hitting relay until they reach a nazi-run tor router that removed that code. It might not 100% stop them in their tracks but I support anything that makes life harder for them and puts resistance in their way.

Many other projects like EFF and guardian project have agreed with the tor post about this violent speech being unacceptable. What changes do you propose to limit it? or are you simply here to defend fascism?

People are of course free to condemn the speech of Nazis, or any other group with whom they disagree, and that is exactly what the author of the blog post was doing. Censorship is impossible by design, as well as being against everything we stand for, especially free speech without exceptions. It will never happen.

Description: modified (diff)

Keywords: probably-bad-idea slippery-slope but-its-the-good-kind-of-censorship added

Summary: Please stop tor routers from advertising racist hate websites -- Allow Tor relays to be configured to block selected hidden services, including racist hate sites

We can't build anticensorship tools with censorship features, since doing so puts everyone at risk. I'll try to explain why.

(Before I go into it, though, let's reflect on how desperate these racist scumbags are, to be using a service written and operated by folks like you and me. What losers! If they really believed they were the "superior race", they'd try to write their own cryptography like the real nazis did, rather than relying on a mixed group of "degenerates" like us.)

You describe a solution where hidden service directories can block whatever their operators believe should be blocked. I think this would not have the results you want, for quite a few reasons. I'll try to put a few of them down in one place, so I can link to it when I want to in the future.

1. It doesn't do what you want. Even if you had a list of hidden service descriptors you wouldn't serve, you'd still get used as an introduction point or a rendezvous point.

2. It doesn't block the service until "every" HSDir corresponding to the service on the hash ring blocks it. The loser scumbags' website would be up more than 50% of the time, even if you got 90% of the relay operators to all block it. (And there's no way you can get 90% of relay operators to agree to anything.)

3. It only works until the stupid racist bastards change their .onion address. The censoring relays would need to find mirrors and automatically add the mirrors to their blacklists. This requires an increasingly elaborate and centralized mechanism, which is not what you say you want.

4. It has potential, in some jurisdictions, to open relay operators to legal liability for things that they choose _not_ to censor. (ANAL, TINLA)

5. The directory authorities would need to decide how much a relay can censor before it is not suitable for use as an hsdir. This undoes the supposed democracy of the situation, _and_ puts the directory authorities into the role of censor-censors. Again, centralization.

6. When censorship is possible and routine, censorship is far more easily compelled.

Of course, maybe you could try to design a censorship tool that does these problems! But I think you'd find it pretty challenging. It's hard enough to build an anticensorship network.

I'm also going to edit your post to take out the link, and to reflect the feature you are requesting. If you believe what you say you believe, you should not link to nazi sites. They like it when you do that.

(Also, my apologies if I have let any brusque tone come through, but there have been a lot of people trolling us over the past few days, pretending to be things that they are not, many of them using jargon that's atypical for their professed positions. I've run into arguments like this a lot over and over in different places, and often, after having responded with good faith, I found out that I've been trolled. This kinda makes me short-tempered with this stuff. If you want a good-faith discussion, maybe get in touch by some other means (so that trolls can't impersonate you), and stop accusing us of bad faith in all your messages. When you do that, it makes it hard for the folks you're accusing to keep a level head.)

It might not 100% stop them in their tracks but I support anything that makes life harder for them and puts resistance in their way.

Doing that would be inefficient. If an onion address is censored, a new one can be created within minutes. And racists don't need an onion web site to communicate their ideas anyway. I never ever visited any racist onion site, but I still see racist comments everywhere in the newspapers, on TV, radio, and basically everywhere. Who cares about racist comments on an unknown onion site when the president of the United States openly shares his racist ideas on TV. Closing this particular racist onion site will not achieve anything.

More than being inefficient it will make Tor useless. If we get in a position where someone is able to control what is published, then the next step is to ask them to censor this other bad topic that is really really bad, and then make them responsible for anything that they decided not to censor.

Many other projects like EFF and guardian project have agreed with the tor post about this violent speech being unacceptable. What changes do you propose to limit it? or are you simply here to defend fascism?

There are many things to do, but destroying Tor by integrating censorship features is certainly not one of them.

If an onion address is censored, a new one can be created within minutes then all the nazis following this site have to go work hard to find the new address. they don't have a twitter account anymore so it's not easy for them to just look it up. Yes, sure it's possible to get around it but making life harder for nazis and slowing them down is a net good for the world. You complained about US politics, how do you think that situation happened? people like these sharing their toxic rhetoric online.

If we get in a position where someone is able to control what is published, then the next step is to ask them to censor this other bad topic that is really really bad, and then make them responsible for anything that they decided not to censor.

It's not censorship to choose not to publish someones illegal, violent hateful screeds.

Anybody who runs a tor router is running the risk of (A) directly telling other nodes where to find this disgusting content (B) their computer actually help passing it through their computer. If the tor project really cares about this, as they have explicitly stated they do, then they should be doing something to put a stop to this. No air for fascists.

What I'm saying is that they don't need Tor to share their toxic ideas, online or offline. Destroying Tor so they cannot use it to share their toxic ideas will not stop them from continuing what they are doing, it will just remove tor from the list of tools that good people can use.

If we get in a position where someone is able to control what is published, then the next step is to ask them to censor this other bad topic that is really really bad, and then make them responsible for anything that they decided not to censor.

Nobody choose to publish anything, except the owner of the onion site.

It's not censorship to choose not to publish

Importantly, Tor is not a hosting platform and does not publish what people say on websites, any more than the air publishes what someone says in person.

Incidentally how often do you see censors call censorship, censorship? It's always "not censorship". If the US president decided to order Tor to censor political opponents, it would be equally impossible to compel then. Be glad of it.

Again, blocking entirely I know is not feasible, but it does make things difficult for them. Perhaps relay operators could subscribe to a service which provides a list of known hate-speech websites, which are then automatically blocked on their relay (as a HSDir and as an introduction point). Either way, it generates work to be done on their end. Every little bit helps.

While it would be great if sites that spew hate couldn't exist at all on Tor, I realize that blocking a site entirely is not feasible. What does seem feasible to me, however, is giving relay operators the power to decide for themselves if they want to be a part of spreading their hateful message. It's only when we all work together that we can fight fascism. Increasing their downtime, even by just a little, would be a huge help.

I don't think this is a serious concern, any more than the concern that they might be found liable even without such a change being made to Tor. In any event, I think that the goal, which is to fight fascism, is more important - it is a clear and present danger right now, and without it, Tor cannot exist. Fascists will obviously not allow Tor to operate if they gain power.

I don't see anyone blocking more than the small minority of hate speech websites on Tor.
6. When censorship is possible and routine, censorship is far more easily compelled.
See above.

Some censorship is always necessary - such as to prevent the spread of ideas (like fascism) that threaten the very existence of institutions that are dedicated to free speech (like Tor). Do you think these fascists are going to let people run Tor if they got in power?

Of course, maybe you could try to design a censorship tool that didn't have these problems! But I think you'd find it pretty challenging. It's hard enough to build an anticensorship network.

I'm also going to edit your post to take out the link, and to reflect the feature you are requesting. If you believe what you say you believe, you should not link to nazi sites. They like it when you do that.

It's very frustrating to me that you're not seriously considering this, as evidenced by the fact that you added the obviously-sarcastic "but-it's-the-good-kind-of-censorship" tag. Recently Tor project published a blog post which took a stand against hate speech. It's easy to see why - the rise of fascism in America and Europe is real and measurable, and has been tentatively visible recently. What, then, is Tor Project, the new home of these violent cretins, actually going to do about it? It's easy to say - say and turn your nose up at things, but then, what real alternative is there? I can't understate the seriousness of this - all of us who value freedom and democracy need to take action against these fascists now, because once they take power, we certainly won't be able to use Tor to organize against them (see: China, for example, where Tor usage is only possible through the altruism of Tor bridge operators from other countries).

(Also, my apologies if I have let any brusque tone come through, but: there have been a lot of people trolling us over the past few days, pretending to be things that they are not, many of them using jargon that's atypical for their professed positions. What does seem feasible to me, however, is giving relay operators the power to decide for themselves if they want to be a part of spreading their hateful message. It's only when we all work together that we can fight fascism. Increasing their downtime, even by just a little, would be a huge help.

I urge you to consider the unintended consequences that would result from this. What would stop fascists from running as many relays as possible and then blocking access to antifascist onions? The people who are actually at risk for serious censorship, like going to prison for speech, are people who oppose fascism. The Department of Justice just requested 1.3 million IP addresses from an anti-Trump website. Consider that it may only be a matter of time before those sites need to operate from onions. As nickm and others have said, if we create conditions where relay operators can be compelled to censor onion sites, it will not produce the outcomes that you desire.

3. It only works until the stupid racist bastards change their onion address. The censoring relays would need to find mirrors and automatically add the mirrors to their blacklists. This requires an increasingly elaborate and centralized mechanism, which is not what you say you want.

Again, blocking entirely I know is not feasible, but it does make things difficult for them. Perhaps relay operators could subscribe to a service which provides a list of known hate-speech websites, which are then automatically blocked on their relay (as a HSDir and as an introduction point). Either way, it generates work to be done on their end. Every little bit helps.

Again, how do you prevent this from being weaponized against others?

4. It has potential, in some jurisdictions, to open relay operators to legal liability for things that they choose _not_ to censor. (IANAL, TINLA)

I don't think this is a serious concern, any more than the concern that they might be found liable even without such a change being made to Tor. In any event, I think that the goal, which is to fight fascism, is more important - it is a clear and present danger right now, and without it, Tor cannot exist. Fascists will obviously not allow Tor to operate if they gain power. Well, they're already in power in many places, including in the US. How are legal liabilities not a serious concern if fascism is on the rise? Fascism operates in part through increased "law and order", that is to say increased policing.

I agree with the Paradox of Tolerance that open societies condemn themselves by allowing space for intolerant views, but while I see ways to address this on a human level, I fail to see how you can build technology that only censors what you want to see censored. If you can conceive of a way to do this that won't be weaponized against the people who fascism seeks to further marginalize, then patches welcome.

5. The directory authorities would need to decide how much a relay can censor before it is not suitable for use as an hsdir. This undoes the supposed democracy of the situation, _and_, puts the directory authorities into the role of censor-censors. Again, centralization.

I don't see anyone blocking more than the small minority of hate speech websites on Tor.

6. When censorship is possible and routine, censorship is far more easily compelled.
See above.

Friend, I think this is naive. What makes you think that everyone will just decide to participate in this exactly as you want them to?

Some censorship is always necessary - such as to prevent the spread of ideas (like fascism) that threaten the very existence of institutions that are dedicated to free speech (like Tor). Do you think these fascists are going to let people run Tor if they got in power?

Of course, maybe you could try to design a censorship tool that didn't have these problems! But I think you'd find it pretty challenging. It's hard enough to build an anticensorship network.

I'm also going to edit your post to take out the link, and to reflect the feature you are requesting. If you believe what you say you believe, you should not link to nazi sites. They like it when you do that.

It's very frustrating to me that you're not seriously considering this, as evidenced by the fact that you added the obviously-sarcastic "but-it's-the-good-kind-of-censorship" tag. Recently Tor project published a blog post which took a stand against hate speech. It's easy to see why - the rise of fascism in America and Europe is real and measurable, and has been tentatively visible recently. What, then, is Tor Project, the new home of these violent cretins, actually going to do about it? It's easy to say - say and turn your nose up at things, but then, what real alternative is there? I can't understate the seriousness of this - all of us who value freedom and democracy need to take action against these fascists now, because once they take power, we certainly won't be able to use Tor to organize against them (see: China, for example, where Tor usage is only possible through the altruism of Tor bridge operators from other countries).

I think that your concerns have been taken very seriously, and you've received serious responses about the technical limitations, as well as threat modeling about the unintended consequences. If you still think that what you propose is possible without harming people who are already marginalized, then you need to explain clearly why you believe that to be true.

Removing this keyword because it can come across as sarcastic and dismissive. I think I understand the underlying sentiment and agree with it, but I think there are better ways to express it.

Stop wasting your time on obvious trolls who don't even bother to read the most basic of FAQs, or to swallow the most condensed explanations that you can possibly make up. Tor is designed to defend human rights and privacy by preventing anyone from censoring things, even us". "Just because we build anticensorship tools that anyone can use, doesn't mean we don't think you're scum".

If the Tor relays start blocking the dailystormer, say in a perfect world 80% of them did this manual configuration (when many don't even make updates), then 1) it still can be reached since it's not 100%, 2) racist people can just set up more Tor relays that don't block the dailystormer.

I'm not a contributor, but a regular user of Tor. I am compelled to weigh in.

I think in a free society, censorship is a much greater evil than any one idea. In fact, censorship is one of the main tools used in a fascist regime. Consider that:

You are asking to fight fascism by employing fascist tactics. This is the height of hypocrisy, and the ends DO NOT justify the means, nor do I believe it would even have the intended effect.

If fascism is really such a bad thing, then won't most people realize that? Won't they be able to read the arguments for and against and make up their own minds? Why is it ok to take that deciding power away from people? Because fascism is "evil"? Evil by your standards, but to others, a valid form of government. Who's right?

And now that it's suddenly ok to censor fascism, why not censor other things? Couldn't communism and socialism be considered "evil" considering how many regimes have used it as a tool for installing fascist governments? Is single payer health care evil? Some might say so. What about capitalism? Will sites exploring these ideas be censored as well based on the whims of those who participate in the network?

So now the Tor network becomes fragmented by people all censoring things they think shouldn't be said. Routes become a lot more complicated to calculate, and depending on your loaded route, certain websites just don't load.

Great job: you've weakened the entire network because you think "fascism is evil." You've taken a tool (NOT a tool for "good" or "bad" but a tool) and made it less useful for everyone because you want to force your own political viewpoints onto it.

Sounds like a really awful idea to me. Sure, fascism is bad. But censoring it via the Tor network is not just magnitudes worse, but in itself an evil act.

I don't want Tor to "protect" me from fascism. I want open access to all information without censorship.

I find it interesting how racism (of all things) is the reason you suggest implementing a mechanism for censorship in an anti-censorship tool. Does that mean you think child porn is a-okay? If the developers didn't add tools to remove onion sites hosting child porn, what makes you think they'd add it to remove racists?

I am glad this proposal has been rejected.

They closed the ticket because it is impossible to do. The way the software is designed it is impossible to block anything.

But wow.

Just wow.

Daily Stormer is literally worse than child porn.

This has also been confirmed by Cloudflare CEO Matthew Prince, who provides material support to pedophiles while holding the position that the Daily Stormer is morally indefensible. Prince and Cloudflare are also comfortable providing support to ISIS terrorists.

6.10 For the Record

I am very glad that Tor exists, because even though we're going to get back on the real internet this time, a time may come when we cannot, and it is very important that we be able to fall back on this infrastructure.

Also, I don't really think that everyone working on the project is a pedophile.

However, I think that all of the non-pedophiles working on the project are probably aware of the fact that a good portion of those involved are involved because they are perverts. In order to start talking about "shutting down fascists," they would pretty much have to be afraid of getting thrown off roofs. Because otherwise, any single person would understand that it is insane for a platform that is mainly used to host child porn to be complaining about political speech that no one even questions the legality of.

Obviously, there are no "fascists" that are going to shut down anarchists. Honestly, I don't even know what they're talking about when they talk about "fascists." Who are these people?

The only thing I keep thinking of when I hear that term is the Combine in Half Life, and that these people must think it actually exists.

However, anarchists, though we will be throwing pedophiles and other perverts off of roofs when we take control, I can assure you: you won't have to pick-up any cans.

We're going to have robots to do that.

6.11 Will You Get Jewed by Nintendo's SNES Mini?

Adrian Sol

Daily Stormer

August 23, 2017

Yeah, Nintendo, we get it.

Modern games suck.

They're all about trannies and Black WW1 veterans nowadays.

You don't have to pour salt in that wound by releasing nostalgia consoles every few years, re-releasing all the good games from the past for us to buy over and over again.

But for Christ's sake, if you do, why don't you make enough of them?

Gamespot:

Numerous retailers in the United States have brought their SNES Classic Edition pre-orders online today, only for them to sell out right away. GameStop is among those offering pre-orders right now, but you may have to head into a store to secure one.

No consolu foru zu gaijin, huehuehue!

As of this writing, GameStop's website is completely offline, no doubt as it's hammered by people refreshing in the hopes of pre-ordering a system. (It's now redirecting visitors to the website of ThinkGeek, which GameStop owns, and not offering any easy way to refresh GameStop's homepage.) But it's also announced on Twitter that it will be taking orders in its physical stores. Given the limited quantities that are sure to be available, however, you still may not have any luck that way. Several stores we checked with were unsure of how many units they would receive and, as a result, said they were not yet taking pre-orders.

Who even needs these stupid things? I was playing emulated SNES games on my PC like, 20 years ago (only with cartridges that I owned, of course...).

These days, you can play SNES games on your phone, tablet, Android TV, laptop, Wii, Raspberry Pi, and probably a million other platforms.

They even sell usb SNES controllers you can plug into... everything.

By the way, many of those reading are probably too young to have played SNES games, so I should mention that you definitely should.

Some of those games were freaking amazing. And the graphics have aged much better than the early 3D games, which look like crap today.

Such a diabolical plan could only be hatched in the minds of the devious, perverted Japanese.

6.12 EA Whines Pozzed Game “Mass Effects: Andromeda” Got “Unfairly Criticized,” Will Double Down

Zeiger
Daily Stormer
August 25, 2017

“Unfairly Criticized?”

Mass Effect: Andromeda is a game universally condemned for its legion of bugs and hilariously bad animations, as well as the fact that that all its characters were deformed brown people and perverts. This should rightfully have sunk the franchise into a black hole from which it could never escape again.

But the money-grubbing sadists at EA can’t let it go.

You can expect that another pile of garbage will be on its way soon, courtesy of whatever vicious team of feminists and street-shitters brought us the original Andromeda.

Games Reactor:

EA’s Executive Vice President Patrick Söderlund was in attendance at Gamescom in Cologne recently, and we couldn’t resist talking to the man about all things EA, including Mass Effect: Andromeda. When we asked about his views on the franchise right now, and where it needs to go in the future, he had some very interesting things to say on the matter.

“Well I think, my personal opinion is, I think that the game... I usually don’t do this, but this is one of those places where I feel like the game got criticised a little bit more than it deserved,” Söderlund said. “I think the game is actually a great game. Yes, we have to acknowledge the fact that there were some things that maybe we could have done better, absolutely, but as a whole, if you go in and you buy the game today with everything that’s in it today, I believe that that’s a game worth buying, personally.”

Well, if you're looking for a laugh, you could do worse...

“So that’s the first thing I’ll say. The [second] thing I’ll say is, for Mass Effect as a franchise, that has such a big fanbase, and you know I’ve seen people saying ‘Oh, EA’s not making another Mass Effect’. I see no reason why we shouldn’t come back to Mass Effect. Why not? It’s a spectacular universe, it’s a loved [series], it has a big fanbase, and it’s a game that has done a lot for EA and for BioWare.

In other words, they’re doubling down.

You can be sure that the next installment will feature exclusively Black tranny characters fighting against a White cis intergalactic patriarchy. Instead of merely having an Indian team leader and feminist programmers, the entire dev team will be imported straight from Congo.

Leaked box art from the upcoming Mass Effects game.

No, scratch that.

EA will probably open up a new studio in sub-Saharan Africa just to develop it.

I can see it now: “Mass Effect: Shieeeeeet.”

Meanwhile, in Poland...

7.1 Unperson Andrew Anglin Reporting In

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 19, 2017

wew lads.

Welcome back.

Although I thought my update last time, in the days of DailyStormer.ru, was pretty fun, the site got shut by Cloudflare before I was able to make a serious follow-up.

So I’m just going to write the serious post first here on DailyStormer.lol.

7.1.1 FIRSTLY – AND LISTEN THIS IS IMPORTANT

Go sign up to Gab and follow me here:

<https://gab.ai/AndrewAnglin>

Pass that around. Make sure everyone gets it. Gab is the last place online for free speech, and I will always have that page to keep you updated on where the site is if it is down.

7.1.2 America’s First Unpersoning

The Jews are attempting to all-out unperson me.

un·per·son

noun

noun: unperson; plural noun: unpersons; noun: un-person; plural noun: un-persons a person whose name or existence is denied or ignored, especially because of a political misdemeanor.

Origin

1949: coined by George Orwell in the novel Nineteen Eighty-Four.

I am the first person to have this attempted against them in the history of the internet.

For those that don't get the technical side here: what has happened is that critical infrastructure platforms have shut me down. The domain's registration, which was initially on Godaddy and then on Google – is supposed to be entirely neutral. They have never shut anyone down for content.

Then, Cloudflare shut me down. I wrote an entire article about that. That is critical infrastructure which makes it so any random asshole can't rent a botnet and shut the site down, so effectively they shut the site down.

This is the first site they have ever shut down without an order from a US court.

The company's CEO, Matthew Prince, who is a goy, sent a memo to his staff saying he shut me down because he woke up in a bad mood and he thinks I'm an asshole. This memo was leaked. After having thought about it, I believe it is most likely that he leaked it himself.

It is clear that he is a lying piece of shit. In his public statement, he claimed that he shut it down because we said he was secretly a Nazi. Well, I never said that. He didn't cite any source. If I had said that, it would have been a joke – even if I had said it seriously, that is an absolutely insane reason to shut down the entire concept of freedom of speech on the internet.

What GoDaddy said was even dumber:
CNBC:

GoDaddy CEO Blake Irving told CNBC on Tuesday that the domain name provider cut ties with The Daily Stormer because the neo-Nazi site crossed the line from exercising freedom of speech with the post about Heather Heyer, the 32-year-old who died last Saturday when a car plowed into her group of counterprotesters who were demonstrating against the white nationalists in Charlottesville, Virginia.

So for 4 years GoDaddy hosted my domain, then all of the sudden a fat joke about a dead woman was a step too far – “whoa whoa whoa – I like a bit of edgy humor myself guy, but you just went overboard!”

Hm. Okay.

Understand: the reasons they are giving are arbitrary. Google didn't even give a statement.

It isn't about me being an asshole and it isn't about me making a fat joke.

And I would like to say it is just about me and my ideas. And it is, to a great extent. We have gained very, very serious traction talking about Jews and agitating for a cultural and social revolution against their brutal and ruthless domination of Western civilization.

But the Daily Stormer is just the beginning.

Because all that we are is the most outrageous on a spectrum of a new rising right-wing in Western formerly white nations. The fact that I make a lot of edgy jokes makes it easy to point at me and say “HE'S GONE TOO FAR NOW!!!1111” – but I promise you, it isn't the jokes that bother them, it is the ideas.

And the ideas that we present here at the Daily Stormer are shared by millions of people: mainly, the idea that white people, like every other race, deserve to have their own countries and that it isn't evil to stand up and say “hey Jews, why are you replacing our populations in every white country?”

7.1.3 So Now, The Precedent is Set

With me having been unpersoned, they are now able to begin doing the same to people who don't make edgy fat jokes about dead violent leftist attackers.

They are coming for people who don't talk about Jews as well.

They are coming for everyone who questions any single aspect of the ruling agenda to transform Western society into a multiracial Islamo-transsexual circus show from hell.

Strangely, neither Alex Jones or Stefan Molyneux have contacted me to talk about this while my website was down and I had no voice.

No one did.

When I was in the hole, and all over the national media, not a single supposed free speech advocate with a reasonably-sized audience reached out to me and offered me a chance to tell my story.

I will remember that going forward. And I think everyone else should too.

(Note: I've gotten thousands of communications over the last week and I could have missed something.)

7.1.4 This Isn't About Me

For the record, as long as I am online, I will host the content of any known voice who is silenced in the way that I have been silenced – even if it's someone I disagree with. Before the DS shutdown, I had recently made the point that when Sargon of Akkad gets kicked off of YouTube (and he will, eventually), that I'll host him – even while I disagree with a lot of what he says.

Because this isn't about arguments anymore. This is about the fact that if I didn't have weev as this site's volunteer sysop, I would be completely silenced right now. I would be incapable of speaking publicly (other than on Gab).

The fact that these people are now openly exercising their ability to do this to a person because of something they say has changed the world.

This is the core idea of the internet being attacked.

This idea of “oh well, it's allowed because they're private companies” is a new angle, but this is no different than what the Bolsheviks did. I do not have the option of creating my own internet.

The promise was that Google and the rest of these private companies which control the backbone of the internet would remain neutral.

Well, they have not remained neutral.

We are in a different world than we were last week.

7.1.5 And Just So You Understand – I Just Want You to Understand Something Here

Not everything on this site is outrageous and inflammatory, but a lot of it is.

Although it is obvious to the regular reader, who tends to be intelligent, this apparently needs to be stated to the press, which is made up of people with a lower than average intelligence (presumably because they get paid relatively little for doing extremely unethical work): the Daily Stormer purposefully uses inflammatory language.

For multiple reasons.

One is to bring attention to the site – to use outrage to force ideas into the public sphere (that worked well this time, lol). Another is to simply say what everyone is secretly thinking and feeling – to give a release of the emotions which are bubbling up in all non-castrated white males these days. Another is to open up the Overton Window by being outrageous, thus giving more moderate and intellectual right-wingers room to maneuver.

Another – and I now believe this is the most important – is to push the limits of free speech, in order to protect the concept of free speech from those who wish to undermine it. Someone has to do that. Believe me, being the guy that has to do that is not comfortable. But no one else is going to do it.

7.1.6 Leftists Should be Defending Me

Leftists even ten years ago would have been on my side for the sake of principle.

I give my thanks to the EFF for their (slightly delayed) comments on my situation, but they are the only leftist group so far to show me any support at all.

The rest have been silent.

With the registrar – the deal is, if no ICANN authorized domain registrar will host my domain, then I am effectively being banned by ICANN itself.

7.1.7 The Future of the Daily Stormer

I am staying online. No matter what.

They are going to have to kill me.

The registrar we are now on, Namecheap, is pretty much the last chance for getting a registrar to accept my hosting.

They have made statements in support of freedom of speech.

Learn more about our unconditional support of #NetNeutrality from Namecheap-CEO <https://t.co/VATi6NgQkb> #battleforthenet pic.twitter.com/Cvsu6HOFEV

— Namecheap.com (@Namecheap) July 12, 2017

If they fold, I assume another company will come forward and offer us hosting.

We've already been kicked by the Chinese and the Russians.

For a Cloudflare replacement, we have Bitmitigate. I want to thank them.

Now that Cloudflare has kicked me off, they're going to start doing it to everyone. They are obligated to. They were speaking from a position of strength when they said "all speech" – no it's "Andrew Anglin is too much to have freedoms," so all the SJW mob has to do is say you're no better than Andrew Anglin, and Cloudflare is obligated to dump you. Because they base their policies and principles on how many people complain to them.

I think people who believe in free speech – whatever their political beliefs – need to migrate to free speech services before they are forced to. A weak-willed and spineless slug like Matthew Prince is not fit to be in control of what people are allowed to think.

So move to Bitmitigate.

We will see if Namecheap holds, and if they do, you should use them as your registrar. Not simply because you could be kicked off of your current registrar at any point, but because what GoDaddy and Google have done violates the core idea of the internet and one of the founding principles of our country.

If we do not have freedom of speech, then we are living in a totalitarian state. The fact that the totalitarianism is being enforced by multinational corporations is an inconsequential technicality. Because it was the government that allowed these companies to privately control our infrastructure and has refused to break them up under anti-trust laws – even though those laws exist.

7.1.8 My View on Free Speech

To be clear, I believe in free speech as it was envisioned by the Founding Fathers. Nothing more or less than that.

People will say "oh well, you're a Nazi and Nazis are against free speech" – firstly, all political repression in National Socialist Germany was done under national security measures after communists burned the Reichstag (and then during a war). But that is neither here nor there – I am not trying to recreate NS Germany. I believe that you have to allow open political discussion, end of story, and I am fully willing to engage and talk through my ideas with anyone.

The reason that the right is being silenced is that the left already lost the argument. The battle of ideas is over, and we won.

They called us a lot of mean names, but it eventually became clear that our ideas were too powerful – and too self-evidently true – to be dismissed simply because someone on CNN called us "Neo-Nazi White Supremacists."

Now, the only option left is to shut us down.

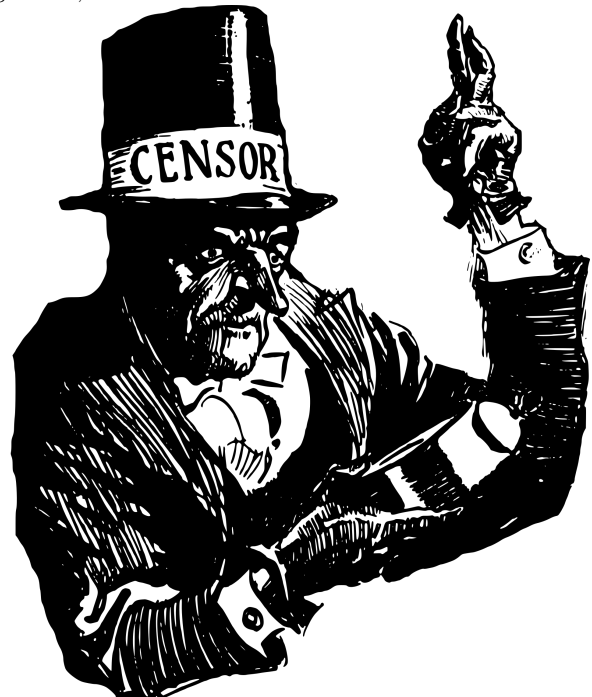

But it's going to take bullets to shut me down.

"Better to reign in Neo-Nazi White Supremacy than serve in Cuckoldry." -Andrew Anglin 2015

7.2 Tfw No Freedoms: Stormer is Fully Kicked Off the Internet – Settle in Here!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 21, 2017

We are now officially kicked off of the internet. We are the first political or otherwise not-illegal website this has happened to, ever.

Namecheap, the free speech host I had hoped would hold folded, citing an obviously sarcastic line as the reasoning.

Here's from their blog:

We find ourselves in a difficult situation, where we must balance the repugnant nature of the content against our principles, beliefs and ongoing support of free speech. This has been particularly challenging given that the fallout from our decision will be in the public eye and subject to public scrutiny, no matter what path we may take.

So, the question, as I see it, is whether deletion of these domains contradicts our core principle of advocacy of free speech? In this particular case, I state that the answer is "No."

I've examined the website carefully. It purports to disclaim violence. But, these words are profoundly hollow as the actual text supports both viewpoints as well as groups that specifically promote violence. As an example: "It doesn't take a Ph.D. in mathematics to understand that White men + pride + organization = Jews being stuffed into ovens."

This statement clearly incites violence and endorses wholesale eradication of Jews through genocide championed by the Nazis. Daily Stormer in all its content advocates that proud white men organize themselves. It also presents the inevitable consequence of the organization of white men and their pride: "jews being stuffed into ovens." This alone is a drastic departure from traditional freedom of speech principles and endorsement of a very violent eventuality. Based on this statement alone, the site should be legitimately shut down as the speech constitutes an incitement of violence.

They didn't provide a link for context, but you don't need context. There is no way anyone could think that line is serious.

What it is is mocking the Jewish narrative that any time white people organize for their own interests, it will lead to Jews being gassed.

It is very interesting that Namecheap chose that line in particular as their example of why we should be kicked off the internet. This is all about Jews. Jews, Jews, Jews.

Cloudflare, making their decision, made a similarly nonsensical claim, saying that I had claimed that they endorsed my belief system.

They are just coming up with any reason they can think of to shut us down.

But we are live here.

And will be live here.

I am going to start updating the site as usual.

We will also be posting screenshots of articles on gab.

nb4 even if that line was serious it would still be protected speech under Brandenburg v. Ohio – I am well aware of that. Namecheap is too. So they are just full of shit. Everyone is being pressured to shut us down and everyone is folding under the pressure.

Anyway, relax, settle in, we'll get the bbs working so you can comment and talk soon enough.

We'll be working on getting live on the real internet, of course. But for now we are simply going to have to accept that we are here on the Darknet. For the time being.

Expect full content load.

And get ready for an old fashioned trollstorm.

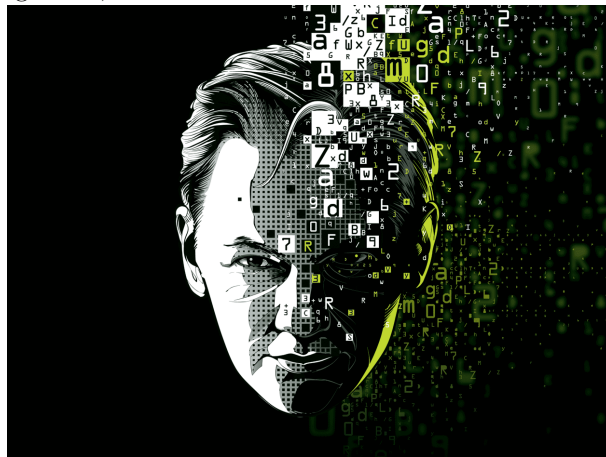

Because I am really, really fucking pissed off.

7.3 Assange has Taken the Red Pill and is Now on Daily Stormer's Side

Roy Batty

Daily Stormer

August 22, 2017

Assange recently tweeted out a link to Anatoly Karlin's take on the Charlottesville situation.

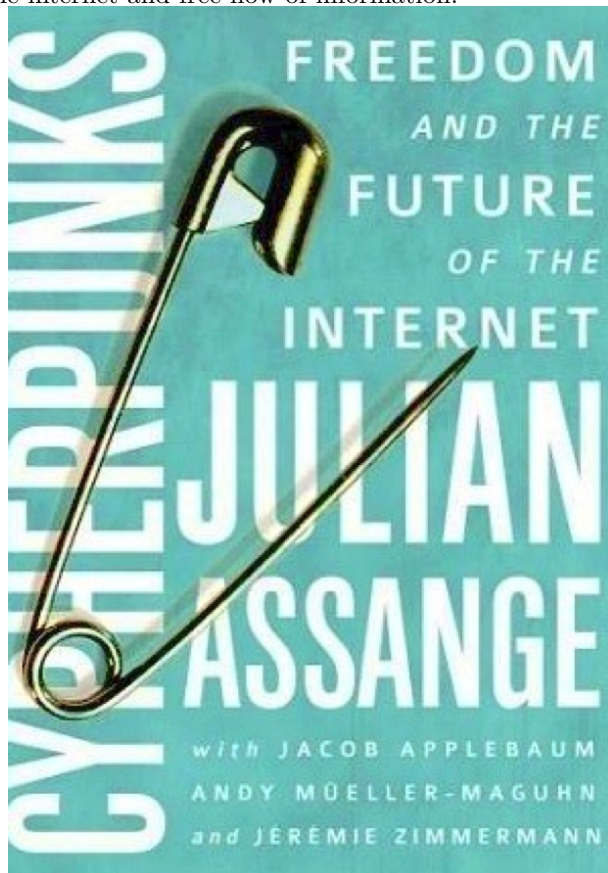

If you don't know, Anatoly writes for Unz.com a site dedicated to HBD and anti-Neocohen foreign policy mostly. As far as Alt-Right sites go, Unz has always somehow managed to avoid being lumped into the whole White Nationalist category, mostly because it has many non-Whites writing for it and probably because its owner, Rob Unz, is Jewish.

But Anatoly has many good pieces about Russia that are worth reading. The article that got tweeted by Assange had a very honest take on the Charlottesville rally that revealed the truth about the events that unfolded.

Now, Assange is a huge free speech activist. He wrote a so-so book which is really just a transcript of his conversations with other free speech activists and hackers called Cypherpunks. It's a revealing read, but it's pretty tame overall. The only real highlights are Assange's views on privacy vs secrecy as well as his anarchist attitude towards the internet and free flow of information.

It is an attitude that many Gen Xers and Millennials have towards the internet, especially on the Alt-Right. We can all agree pretty much 100% with Assange on the importance of a truly free internet.

But since being forced to hole up in the Ecuadorian embassy for almost a decade now, Assange has become an involuntary NEET. And as we all know, NEETs are the most susceptible to the red pill. Think about it. He has had nothing to do with all his free time but browse the far corners of the net. Even those far corners that we call home. Since his 'house arrest' Assange has clearly had time to get red-pillled, has been isolated from peers and by extension peer pressure, and now if the man is tweeting articles that explicitly talk about "ZOG" he clearly believes that he is never getting out of that embassy alive.

He could have just made the bland case that this is about free speech. Instead, he just said, "revealing." And now he gets to enjoy the blue checkmark accounts spamming him with accusations of being a Russian agent. Yes, that's right. Just like Trump and the Alt-Right, Assange is accused of being a Russian agent.

Revealing: How a Russian nationalist sees the current crackdown against US right wing/nativist/neo-nazi web sites <https://t.co/QytCpItd1G>

— Julian Assange August 21, 2017

Assange is many things. He is a victim of Swedish Feminism, a coordinated media smear campaign, and of state repression by ZOG.

Above all else though, he is a True Believer who was willing to put his life on the line exposing Neo-Cohen warcrimes, DNC election rigging and Deep State machinations on the internet. If Assange fully internalizes the red-pill, we will have an international cause celebre of the old Left on our side. It will usher in a new era, where the old anti-Corporate, anti-Globalist and pro-free speech Left will merge with the new, alternative Right.

The potential for crossover within our two communities is huge. Many former Occupy Wall St types have already made the jump. Just check out this personal red pill story AltRight.com published a week ago.

AltRight.com:

During the Bush years, I marched with leftists and other anti-globalists many times against the Iraq war. Many people still don't realize or don't want to acknowledge that the "alternative" in Alt Right was created initially by Richard Spencer as an alternative to the globalist free trade policies and rabid warmongering of the Neoconservatives, who achieved their zenith of power under Bush-Cheney. Motivated by the same antipathy towards predatory finance and globalization, and making common cause with leftists – who even as recently as 2011 were still motivated by such causes as opposition to global corporate power and Zionist imperialist war – I also was present in Zuccotti Park during the birth of the Occupy movement, and I proudly marched in protest past that unholy temple of global finance, the New York Stock Exchange. I had run-ins with the police at OWS, but nothing like what I experienced in Charlottesville.

Many in the old Left are starting to rethink their previous positions. Or rather, they are starting to realize that it is the Left not the Right that is ushering an era of corporate tyranny, globalization and clamping down on free speech.

It must be quite a blow.

But Assange is a man with little left to lose... and he is about to go full madman.

I can feel it.

He can be the one to lead the mass baptism of the old Left into the river Kek and the new faith of the red pill. He just needs...a little push.

7.4 David French is Less of a Pussy Than Stefan Molyneux

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
 August 22, 2017

David French of the National Review – a chinless man I and others have ruthlessly mocked as a cuckold, a man with literal cuckold raising some Alpha male African’s bastard child – has explicitly named the Daily Stormer’s shutdown as signaling the death of the internet.

National Review:

Last week, multiple major Internet corporations essentially cooperated to kick a hate site, The Daily Stormer, off the Internet. Cloudflare, GoDaddy, Google, and various other companies withdrew their services, and now one of the Internet’s most odious sites lives mainly on the “dark web,” largely inaccessible to the casual user.

This was an ominous development for free speech — and not because there is anything at all valuable about The Daily Stormer’s message. It’s an evil site. Its message is vile. Instead, The Daily Stormer’s demise is a reminder that a few major corporations now have far more power than the government to regulate and restrict free speech, and they’re hardly neutral or unbiased actors. They have a point of view, and they’re under immense pressure to use that point of view to influence public debate.

It’s a simple reality that the lines of Internet communication are in progressive political hands, these progressive corporations look to left-wing activists to define hate, and a large number of leftists believe to the core of their beings that “hateful” speech should be censored and suppressed whenever possible.

For example, just this week ProPublica, a respected journalism outlet, decided to study “how leading tech companies monetize hate.” The article begins by highlighting not the Klan or a white-supremacist militia but instead Jihadwatch.org. And how did it choose Jihad Watch? It relied on the Southern Poverty Law Center, a group that is notorious for supplementing its lists of white-supremacist hate groups with its own ideological enemies list, one that a university radical would love.

And then blah blah blah – you know the story, because I’ve said the story here already, repeatedly.

tl;dr is : by banning me from the internet they have set a precedent to ban anyone at all. French notes that the SPLC just puts any Christian group that doesn’t believe in anal marriage on their “hate list,” and that all of those groups will be subject to censure in the near future.

And yes, he does call me evil and so on – of course – but it doesn’t matter. He names DS and implies that we all have to rally around this site or the battle is lost.

Because if they succeed once, then they can do it again. And again. And again.

And I want to tell you: this is more than what Stefan Molyneux has done. It is more than what Alex Jones has done. Apparently, because they are airquotes “Libertarians” and believe in the idea that monopolies should be able to shut down anything they want to shut down just as long as it’s private companies doing it.

And if I don’t like it, I should start my own internet.

7.4.1 Of Course, No One Can Start Their Own Internet

It is impossible to start your own internet. I don’t even know what that means. What is the concept of that? How would one go about starting one’s own internet?

This is simply nonsensical, and if Molyneux and Jones are making this argument – and by not rallying around me, they are making that argument – then they are even goofier than I thought.

But this is coming for them too. Before it comes for the Christians, it is coming for them. And then we’ll see how they do trying to make their own internet.

The Daily Stormer can thrive on the Darknet. I can handle that. I am now the IRL Emmanuel Goldstein. My followers will come to me, because my followers are the dedicated frontline resistance.

That won't happen for Molyneux and Jones. They aren't that important to anyone. They aren't real resistance, just bubblegum resistance, and when they disappear from the normal internet, their followers will be happy to watch Fox News instead. That is the fact.

7.4.2 Others Better Than Molyneux and AJ

Tim Pool has defended me.

As has BASED Black Guy

But the supposed guardians of free speech have not.

I'm maybe most surprised by Sargon's silence.

Just to be clear – I have no problem with “he is a ebil Nazi tho but still tho.”

What French said is fine.

We just need everyone doing that, we need everyone flipping out and demanding that ICANN get me back online.

Because you are all next.

7.5 The Shut Down of Infostormer.com by Evil Kikes

Lee Rogers

Daily Stormer

August 22, 2017

Infostormer.com contrary to popular belief was never a

Neo-Nazi site. It's primary mission has always been to share kitten photos.

In addition to writing hundreds upon hundreds of articles for the Daily Stormer, I've also simultaneously run a site at Infostormer.com on a part time basis. It's actually been operational for several years. Originally I obtained the domain name as something that could be used if the Daily Stormer went down. Ultimately though I used the domain name for my own blog posts.

Over the past three years, my site was banned from PayPal, Disqus, GoFundMe, Patreon and pretty much every other service that the Daily Stormer tried to use. Some of the times they would ban both of us simultaneously.

Obviously, it was quite the challenge adapting to third party companies constantly trying to shut down your shit over “hate speech” or other nonsense.

As bad as all that was, it pales in comparison to what has happened since the Battle of Charlottesville. This has been a shut down of shut downs. There has never been such an organized attempt to shut down the political speech of a group on the Internet.

As I was coming home from Virginia, I saw that my site and forum were pulled down by the hosts. The site had become a bit of a rallying point for Daily Stormer regulars who were trying to get information on what was happening after GoDaddy refused to service the Daily Stormer's domain registration. It looked like a bunch of Jews, feminists and faggots found out about it and were getting people to complain about the site's content. That's what led to the sites getting booted.

When I got home, I tried to quickly hack together a solution to get the blog portion of the site back up on the Internet. The site came under immediate attack. Denial of service attacks, hacks etc. It has been relentless. I've been left with no option but to regroup and look to obtain some serious infrastructure to host my data.

But who knows, even when I'm able to get all my shit on properly secured infrastructure, they could just whine to the domain registrar(s) to end servicing my domain. If they did it with the Daily Stormer, they'll do it to me or anybody else who they perceive to be just as bad.

Let me just say that it will be my ultimate goal to force them to do that. You people have pissed me the fuck off so I will go the extra mile to do this.

I mean fuck. All I want to do is post silly kitten photos and share my political ideas. Are these ideas really that dangerous? Apparently to them they are! Why else would so much energy and resources be used to shut down people posting stuff on the Internet?

The amount of resistance we are getting proves that we have won the battle of ideas. Their only recourse is to silence us into oblivion. They are doing some of the most insane and fucked up things imaginable in order to achieve this. People are noticing this.

What's transpired over the past few weeks has marked a watershed moment in the history of the Internet. The Internet as we knew it before is dead. It will never be the same. In history books this moment in time will become known as the "Great Internet Shut Down of 2017" or something like that.

While in many ways this is a sad thing, it has been a true honor to be a part of this very significant historical moment. The Daily Stormer has gone down in history as the first site to be banned from the Internet for political speech. I'm very grateful to have been given the opportunity to write for the most banned website in Internet history.

I'm also humbled to know that my Infostormer.com site is considered to be almost as dangerous.

If you take a look at the sites that were most ruthlessly targeted in this massive shut down – there is one common denominator – they were all aggressively exposing Jews. I can assure you that this was not a coincidence.

Whatever the case, I'm in this to the end.

If they keep shutting down my blog, I'll do podcasts!

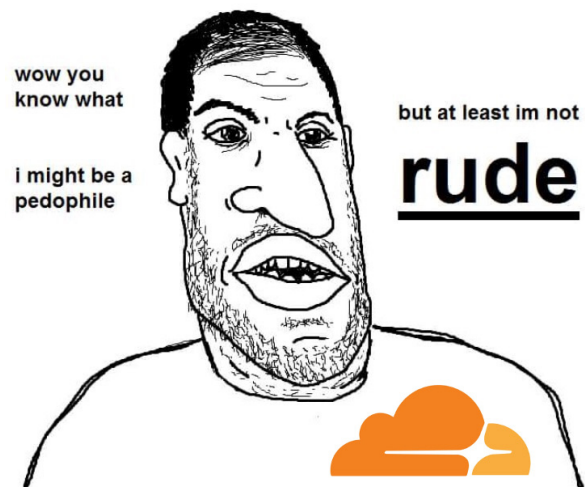

If they shut down my podcasts, I'll protest in the streets!

No retreat! No surrender!

7.6 Cloudflare Explicitly Condoning "Young City" Pedophile Chat and Other Pedophile Havens

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
August 23, 2017

So here's the deal: if you maintain absolute neutrality, as virtually all internet-backbone tech companies did before last week, you are not endorsing or condemning anything. However, when you begin censoring content for moral reasons – as Registrars GoDaddy, Google and Namecheap along with DDoS protection service Cloudflare started doing last week – you are then explicitly condoning all content you do not censor.

Cloudflare – along with GoDaddy and Enom – is now explicitly condoning pedophile advocacy.

7.6.1 youngcity.org

This is a chat site for pedophiles, both boy and girl "lovers." The site is registration only. These types of forums generally include location information on where to find children and watch them.

7.6.2 world-unity.net

The homosexual pedophile wiki site BoyWiki gives this description of the site:

World-Unity.net is a new social network site (facebookish style) created for not only boylovers but also other Minor Attracted Persons and persons with "alternative sexualities".

The goal of this site is to bring the world of BL, GL, CL, diaper lover, and other alternative sexualities together in one place.

The site also allows pedophiles to arrange meetup events with one another.

7.6.3 virped.org

“Virtuous Pedophiles” actually has its own Wikipedia page, and was written up in the New York Times by Margo Kaplan. This site is different from the above two sites which are protected by Cloudflare, as it does not openly promote sex with prepubescent children.

Ostensibly, the site is designed to promote the idea that not all pedophiles are child molesters, and so should not be hated by society, instead viewed as mentally ill.

You can take that as you like, but it should be put in the context that the exact same arguments were made about homosexuality before it was promoted as good and wholesome. Many, myself included, view this attempt to promote acceptance of pedophiles as victims of a mental illness rather than dangerous, diseased individuals, is a step on the road to normalizing the behavior.

I am absolutely certain that you could find more pedophile advocacy sites protected by Cloudflare if you looked, but it isn't really necessary. The point is proven by two sites which support sex with children and one which claims that pedophiles are victims who should be accepted by society as long as they don't touch children: Cloudflare, while viewing the Daily Stormer as so morally evil as to not deserve to be on the internet, views pedophile advocacy as morally acceptable.

7.6.4 Context

It should be clear that discussions of pedophilia are currently viewed as protected speech, as is advocacy for the legalization of pedophilia. In fact, it is legal for men to write about places to go and look for unaccompanied children, as long as they don't advocate committing crimes against the children (lawyer blog post about that here).

GL event and hangout reviews

Polish Festival (Portland)
September 30, 3900 Interstate Ave. Highlight was several children (including some cute LGs) doing a traditional dance competition in front of the stage.

Oktoberfest (Portland)
September 23, Oaks Pioneer Park. Not as big of a crowd as I hoped, so I left within two hours because I felt too conspicuous as an unaccompanied man.
♥♥♥♥ ½

Hempstalk (Portland)
September 8, Sellwood Riverfront Park. Based on my experience at Seattle's Hempfest last year, I figured this wasn't going to be a big kiddie event – but it was all for the noble cause of ending the war on marijuana users.

Oregon State Fair (Salem)
September 2, Oregon State Fairgrounds. Coming a little over a month after my 4 visits to the over-the-top Orange County Fair in Costa Mesa, CA, this seemed a significantly smaller event by comparison – but it still provided many hours of GL fun and merits my highest rating. $9 admission.

This is the sort of thing that is discussed on these sites: best places to watch children. Cloudflare endorses this as morally acceptable.

I also want to make it clear that I do not believe that basic necessary services such as these registrars and Cloudflare should involve themselves with anything to do with morality enforcement – I don't think they should have banned these pedophile sites. Perhaps they could have donated the money they received from the pedophiles to a charity (they had been doing that with my payment for several months before the ban). But it simply is not the job of backbone internet services to be morality police.

The service that Cloudflare provides are basic utility services. I do not think that pedophiles should have their heat shut off either. Instead, they should be prosecuted by the law.

7.6.5 Pedophile Advocacy Should be Illegal

The legality of this speech is not a question for private companies. Obviously, I do not believe the government should allow this type of speech. The First Amendment should be interpreted as it was written. It had a clear meaning, which meant freedom of literary, artistic, political or scientific speech, and did not include obscenity.

Even now, the Supreme Court does not consider obscenity to be a First Amendment issue. In fact, according to the Miller Test, as established in Miller v. California, these pedophile chat sites are possibly already illegal. Bottom line for me personally: the framers of the Constitution clearly did not intend for it to be legal for pedophiles to publish materials on this behavior, so unless you believe in “living document,” there is no reason it should be legal.

7.6.6 But Here’s the Thing

Cloudflare decided to become the morality police when, for the first time in the company’s history, they banned someone from using their website due to their content being viewed as immoral.

And yet, here they are, continuing to protect pedophile advocacy sites. This means that Matthew Prince, the CEO of the company – who personally made the decision to ban the Daily Stormer – is explicitly condoning these sites, marking them as being within his company’s range of what is morally acceptable.

I think it is fair at this point to request that Matthew Prince and Cloudflare explain why it is they believe that advocacy for pedophilia is morally acceptable. Because the majority of Americans certainly do not share that view.

It should also be known that Cloudflare CEO Matthew Prince also views ISIS terrorists as within the realm of what is morally acceptable.

7.6.7 “A Company That Polices Morality”

When CEO Matthew Prince decided to ban me, he became a company that polices morality. What he should have done is at the same time he announced he was banning me, he should have said: “we are now policing morality, here are a list of the types of sites we will now be banning from our services” and given a full explanation of this new direction the company is going in.

Instead, he said “we’re only banning Nazis because they’re assholes (we’re keeping the pedophiles and terrorists).”

7.6.8 An Option for Webhosts Who View Pedophile Advocacy as Morally Wrong

If you host a website that needs DDoS protection, but do not want to support companies such as Cloudflare which actively condone pedophile advocacy as morally acceptable, there is an option for you: Bitmitigate.

Bitmitigate is a content neutral DDoS protection site which does not take a moral position on the content that it protects. Unlike Matthew Prince, Bitmitigate CEO Nicholas Lim does not police the morality of his customers, and thus is not in a situation to condone pedophilia (or ISIS terrorism, which Matthew Prince condones as morally acceptable).

I encourage anyone who is disgusted by the idea child molestation to immediately cancel service with Cloudflare and sign up for Bitmitigate.

Although at time of writing, we are currently offline, we were using Bitmitigate for the brief period when we were on DailyStormer.lol, and it worked just as well as Cloudflare.

This is not about me being angry. It is not about my beliefs. This is about the fact that Matthew Prince is running a company which explicitly endorses pedophile advocacy by choosing to protect pedophile advocacy sites even while he has made it 100% clear that he views it as his personal duty to police the morality of his users.

If you give money to Cloudflare, you are actively supporting people who organize and plan child molestation.

freedom of speech supports constitution

no morality policing

does not support pedophilia

freedoms

does not think planning baby rape is morally acceptable

doesn't support ISIS

For those of you who are sick of child rapists and those that support them:

bitmitigate.com

7.6.9 And Take Action!

Though I don't think anyone should ever support the pedophile/terrorist promoters at Cloudflare, we should also let them know what we think of their behavior, and demand that they cease supporting these terrorists and pedophiles.

You can contact them at this number:

+1 (888) 993 5273

If they refuse to answer your questions, just keep asking to speak to the manager.

You can also contact them on Twitter:

@Cloudflare

Ask them why they believe that pedophilia and terrorism are morally acceptable.

Ask them if any members of their staff, in particular Matthew Prince, are pedophiles. You may note that Matthew Prince has that classic "pedophile look" about him.

He's the kinda guy who when he walks into a room, you feel an immediate need to get any children out of that room, you can tell them.

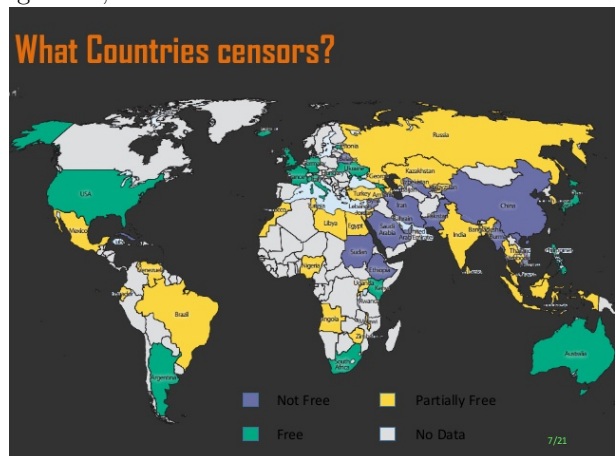

Ask the manager of the help line if he would leave his kids alone in a room with Matthew Prince, a man who looks like a pedophile and believes pedophile advocacy to be morally defensible.

7.7 Those Who Supported Freedom of Speech and Those Who Did Not

Andrew Anglin

Daily Stormer

August 24, 2017

We need to remove the US from the "free" column, it seems, as they are willing to allow private companies to kill free speech. The government allowing private companies to do this is absolutely no different than them doing it themselves. It is a technicality.

Daily Stormer's banning from the internet did have to do with our ideas. These ideas are powerful. And they have triumphed over the ideas of the Jews, to the point where it is now impossible for leftists to argue in good faith.

Their only ability to defend their position is through appeal to emotion, outright lies and censorship.

However, our being banned from the internet was not an issue of ideas for people who believe in free speech. It was an issue of free speech.

Absolutely anyone could have come to the defense of the Stormer and said “I really despise their ideas, but we have to defend them because if we don’t then this can happen to anyone.” And a lot of people did that. I am very thankful.

However, some did not. For some of the supposed defenders of freedom of speech, the silence was deafening.

To this day, neither Alex Jones or Stefan Molyneux – two figures who have put themselves out there as defenders of free speech – have mentioned my name or the name of this website, let alone reached out to give me a platform to talk about being unpersoned. That is not something I am going to forget, and I hope that you don’t either. Of course, if this had happened to them, I would have come to their defense. And if it does happen to them, I will come to their defense still. But it should be understood that both these men are frauds. They do not believe in their stated principles.

Those who do not talk about freedom of speech non-stop had less of an obligation to come to our defense than Jones and Molyneux. Of course, they can fall back on the idea that “oh but it was just private companies so it’s their right.” But we all know this is bullshit. Without it even being explained why it is bullshit (government refusing to regulate), it is on the face of it bullshit.

Not an argument.

I think Julian Assange – who doesn’t come from an anarcho-capitalist position – had the biggest obligation, and I don’t think he did enough. Though he did do a little, and I do appreciate that.

I’m going to do lists of people who supported us and who did not. If someone is not on one of these lists, I don’t know if they did or not.

Also, I’m just going to leave actual Alt-Right people off the list, and assume that they all supported me. I haven’t been paying total attention. But of course, TRS did.

People who supported me:

- Tucker Carlson
- Ann Coulter
- David French
- Breitbart
- Julian Assange
- Daily Kenn
- BASED Black Guy
- EFF

- Robert McChesney, a communist from the University of Illinois
- National Review
- Return of Kings
- Tim Pool

People who did not support me:

- Alex Jones
- Stefan Molyneux
- Mark Dice
- Sargon of Akkad
- Paul Joseph Watson
- Jack Posobiec
- Anyone from The Rebel Media
- ACLU

Someone said to me that Sargon made some comment in a livestream. Okay, fine. He should have made an entire video, given his stated principles.

With regards to The Rebel Media – Laura Loomer actually helped get more of our shit shut down, then did a video with Gavin McInnes wherein McInnes referred to us as terrorists and compared us to ISIS.

7.7.1 Moving Forward

The very most important thing that we must do right now as a political movement and as a nation is force government regulation of tech companies.

What my unpersoning proved is that private companies now have the power to arbitrarily shut down anyone whose speech they view as morally wrong. How can we trust companies with no due process to simply be judge, jury and executioner of free speech?

Why are we even in this position?

These companies should have been regulated a decade ago, at least.

Instead of the government regulating Google, Google is regulating the world. It is the most powerful company that ever existed in all of history, and it is deciding what people are allowed to believe and think.

And in all honesty, I think this is somewhere where we should be able to come together with the left. At least I would hope so. After all, Trump is President. And Trump is right-wing (and we hope he remains that way).

The company that is now registering this current domain name, Dreamhost, recently went to war with the Trump administration to keep private the IP addresses of an anti-Trump group that was hosted on their servers.

The Guardian:

The US government has backed away from an effort to obtain personal information about 1.3m visitors to an anti-Trump website, following a public outcry over what was widely perceived as a “fishing expedition” for political dissidents.

Federal prosecutors on Tuesday substantially narrowed the scope of a search warrant seeking information related to a website, www.disruptj20.org, that was used to coordinate protests during Donald Trump’s inauguration.

The original warrant sought every piece of information possessed by website-hosting company DreamHost related to the site, including the IP addresses of the site’s 1.3m visitors. The revised warrant excludes the IP addresses of visitors as well as unpublished blogposts or other media.

“The government has now withdrawn entirely its unlawful and highly problematic request for any data relating to the visitors of the website and any unpublished data subject to the Privacy Protection Act,” a DreamHost attorney, Raymond Aghaian, said by email. “This is a tremendous win for DreamHost, its users and the public.”

This is an issue different than free speech, but it is against one of the fundamental principles of the internet, which is privacy. I am certainly willing to stand with the anti-Trump leftists in their battle to protect internet privacy.

I don’t even have to spend 2 seconds thinking about it. While I believe that Antifa is a terrorist group that should be banned in the United States, I do not think that principles regarding the way the internet is supposed to work should be violated in order to get that done.

Trump’s administration was wrong, period.

Just as GoDaddy, Google and Cloudflare (among others) were wrong for what they did to me.

The concept of the internet is something that we absolutely should all be able to come together in support of. Without anyone needing to think twice.

And that is what we need to do now.

The only people who would see free speech on the internet destroyed are those who believe that their only way to maintain power is through its destruction. And if the leftists believe in their own ideas, then they should be able to say: “yes, we all deserve the same rights on the internet.”

In order to maintain those rights, we need the government to step in and begin regulating Silicon Valley.

There is no other solution.

7.7.2 Also Going Forward

We need to go after the companies that censored me and yet are protecting pedophiles.

That is important.

Forcing anti-speech corporations to do mass bannings will then make them desire government regulation.

At the very least, we need to make it known to the people that large corporations are making the argument that political satire criticizing the ruling elite is worse than child molestation. Because that is presently the position of GoDaddy, Google, eNom and Cloudflare.

It was a mob who lobbied to shut down our speech.

Now it is time to form our own mob.
